U. S. ABROGATES JAP TREATY AS MOVE TOWARD EMBARGO

Fulton Commission Orders All County Autos Sold

WORKERS FURNISH OWN CONVEYANCES UNDER NEW ORDER

Plan To Become Effective August 15, When 111 Vehicles Will Be Taken Up, Disposed Of.

Fulton county commissioners yesterday voted unanimously to discontinue the practice of furnishing automobiles to county employes and adopted a plan whereby the employes will furnish their own transportation, to be paid for out of a monthly transportation allowance.

The surprise action came as a climax to the recent investigation into the use of county-owned automobiles for private purposes following an accident July 7 near Roberta in which two county employes were injured while on their way to a fishing camp.

The new order of the commission will become effective August 15, when all county cars will be taken up and disposed of. The county now owns 111 passenger automobiles.

Fleet To Be Appraised.

Commissioner Troy Chastain introduced the resolution which provides that three disinterested appraisers shall appraise the present fleet of county automobiles. County employes will be given the first option. They can pay for them over a 12-month period. In the case of a big car, however, Chairman E. L. Almand said the time limit probably would be extended to 18 months.

If the cars are not sold to employes, the resolution provides they shall be sold to the best advantage or traded in on trucks needed by the Department of Public Works or other departments.

Auditor To Map Plan.

Amount of travel allowances will be worked out by the county county auditor. The commissioners instructed him to make a study of the records of the several depart-

HAILSTONES KILL OVER 1,000 BIRDS IN ITALIAN STORM

UDINE, Italy, July 26.—(UP)—Oversized hailstones which fell during a violent storm today killed or disabled more than 1,000 birds. As soon as the skies cleared, peasants rushed to collect the birds, stuffing them in sacks. The collected birds weighed more than 1,300 pounds.

NO AUTO DEATHS IN 60 DAYS HERE

Mayor, Captain Malcom Laud Drivers, Constitution for Fine Record.

Last midnight marked the end of a 60-day period without a traffic fatality in the city limits and the co-operation of the public in establishing a new record for modern times drew high praise from Mayor Hartsfield and Captain Jack Malcom, of the traffic squad.

"It just shows what can be done by exercising a little caution," the mayor said. "We have proved that carelessness causes accidents and that speed kills. The Constitution's daily front page story has aroused widespread interest in 'running up a good score' and that's half the battle. Let's make it at least 100."

60 DAYS

The mayor pointed out that daylight saving helped the safety crusade as accidents happen more frequently in the late afternoon than at any other time. Plenty of light when persons are going home from work minimizes the possibilities of crashes, he said.

"I am delighted that the wholehearted co-operation of Atlanta motorists has made it possible to establish this new record," Captain Malcom declared, "and our day by day score as published in The Constitution has elicited many favorable comments from persons in all parts of the country attending the congress of the Baptist World Alliance.

"If motorists and pedestrians alike will just keep up the good work, there is no reason we shouldn't extend the mark indefinitely."

Knoxville yesterday observed its 105th day without a fatality and Evansville, Ind., was close behind with 94 deathless days.

RIVERS IS ASKED TO CLOSE ALL 15 TOBACCO MARKETS

Protest Rallies Held in Waycross, Blackshear; Belt-Wide Meeting in Douglas Slated Today.

By JACK TUBBS,
State News Editor.

WAYCROSS, Ga., July 26. Growing discontent among south Georgia tobacco growers because of the low prices this year's crop was bringing in during the first two days of the marketing season was climaxed this afternoon by a mass meeting here attended by 300 growers seeking a means of boosting the price for bright leaf.

A committee of two men, Fred Voigt and Jake Lankford, was named by the mass meeting to see Governor Rivers and ask him to temporarily close all 15 of Georgia's tobacco markets in an effort to force up the price of the bright leaf.

Rally at Blackshear.

Almost simultaneously a group of farmers met at Blackshear and decided on an attempt to rally growers from throughout the belt at a meeting in Douglas at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Last night delegations from Pierce county visited various producing counties urging farmers to send representatives to the Douglas meeting.

There was discussion at the Blackshear meeting of a referendum—possibly to be conducted by the AAA—to determine if growers would agree to withdraw all tobacco from market.

This action followed a rising tide of sentiment today in favor of slowing up sales in hope of better prices. In several market centers blocked sales developed as prices continued to average between 14 and 18 cents, with 22 to 23 cents the none-too-frequent top. The average price was about two-thirds that of last year's crop.

Governor Rivers said last night

ACTION FOLLOWS HULL CONFERENCE WITH ROOSEVELT

President May Have Ordered Startling Move Designed To Serve as Warning to Japanese.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(AP)—The United States served notice tonight it was terminating its 1911 treaty of commerce and navigation with Japan, opening the way toward an embargo on the shipment of raw materials to that country.

On behalf of Secretary of State Hull, Francis B. Sayre, assistant secretary of state, handed a note to an official of the Japanese embassy informing him of the step.

The government's action came like a lightning bolt from a blue sky, since the senate foreign relations committee discussing a resolution calling for the denunciation of the treaty postponed discussion on it today until later in the week.

Roosevelt Consulted.

Earlier today Secretary Hull conferred with President Roosevelt, following talks with his far eastern advisers. The President approved, perhaps ordered, the action.

Six months must pass from today before the abrogation can go into effect. They will be up January 26, 1940, at which time congress will be in session and can discuss an embargo on raw materials shipments to Japan.

The State Department regarded the 1911 treaty as a legal obstacle in the way of a resolution by Senator Pittman, Democrat, Nevada, calling for the embargo. Article 5, paragraph 3, of the pact said: "Nor shall any prohibition be enforced by either country on the importation or exportation of any article from or to the territories of the other which shall not equally extend to the like article imported from or exported to any other country."

Vandenberg Resolution.

Consequently, if the United States wanted to embargo shipments to Japan, she would have to do so with regard to all other nations as well as long as the treaty remained in force.

Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, introduced a res-

BWA RESOLUTIONS UP FOR ADOPTION

Messengers To Be Given Program Attacking Persecution Today.

Resolutions designed to deal telling blows against religious persecution the world over will be presented the thousands of messengers of the Baptist World Alliance at their session this morning at Ponce de Leon park by the resolutions committee of the sixth congress.

Probability is that the congress will not select during its present session a city for the seventh congress of the Alliance in 1944.

Dr. James H. Rushbrooke, general secretary and new president of the Alliance, said it was possible that the next congress will be held in Britain, maybe in Lon-

Baptists Vote 'World War' Of Evangelism on 'Pagans'

Five-Year Campaign of Gospel-Preaching Approved by World Alliance.

A five-year program of fervent evangelism to combat rampant paganism and immorality over the whole face of the globe was enthusiastically voted yesterday by 10,000 Baptist messengers, representing more than 60 nations, gathered for the morning session of the Baptist World Alliance at Ponce de Leon park.

The crowd approved unanimously the recommendation of a committee headed by Dr. W. Pitts Beers, of New York city, for every Baptist convention and union on earth to map its individual evangelistic program as a perrennial effort to win members and convert men to Christianity.

Each church of each convention in every country will be asked to keep up an unceasing barrage of evangelistic sermons in a renewed effort by the Baptists of the world.

This world-wide program, to be handled and mapped by a committee of leaders from principal nations, is one of the most tangible and concrete results to come from the sixth congress of world Baptists.

"The forces of paganism are more aggressive in their attempt

Worry, Worry—Creditors Just Will Not Collect

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 26.—(AP)—Oklahoma county owes $5,307 to creditors who won't come in and collect it.

"It's a strange condtion," mused Commissioner Grover Pendleton, "when people we owe money won't bring their bills in and collect. We have the money available and still they won't come in."

Raspberry Too Much For Young Raspberrys

PASADENA, Cal., July 26.—(AP) Charles Raspberry, 20, and Gilbert Raspberry, 16, petitioned to change their name because "persons to whom these petitioners are introduced are unable to resist hackneyed remarks or gibes."

Their mother, Mrs. Angela Raspberry, is of sterner stuff. She said she will remain a Raspberry.

BAPTIST EDITIONS OF CONSTITUTION GO TO ALL WORLD

Editions of The Constitution since the Baptist World Alliance began its sixth congress here last Saturday have been sent to 33 nations and United States possessions.

Messengers wishing a complete, colorful history of their congress subscribed also for many of their friends back home in foreign lands who could not attend. One subscription was sent to General Chiang Kai-shek.

Here are places to which The Constitution has been sent:

Canada, Mexico, Anjola, Portuguese West Africa; Argentina, Australia, Brazil, Burma, Central America, Chile, China, Egypt, England, Finland, France, Germany, Hawaii, Holland, Ireland, Japan, Latvia, Lithuania, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Nigeria, Palestine, Philipine Islands, Rumania, Rhodesia, Scotland, Sweden, Uruguay, Wales and Yugoslavia.

Four Men Arrested In Police Roundup

Four men were arrested last night on a charge of "suspicion, hold for investigation" when radio patrolmen found portions of bricks in their automobile a few hours after a police call had been broadcast to look out for several men after windows in Rogers stores had been broken.

The men gave their names as John Nix, 29, of 446 Windsor street; J. L. Duprey, 23, of 1063 Hemphill avenue; Paul Hall, 25, of Route 3, DeKalb county, and R. Q. Hix, of 2677 Pharr road. They were arrested on West View drive.

MOSCOW-LONDON PACT SEEN NEAR

Trade of Military Secrets Expected; One Dies in London Bombings.

France and Britain held strong hopes of soon reaching a mutual defense agreement with Soviet Russia yesterday (Wednesday) while Berlin practiced air raid defenses, and new terrorist bombings broke out in London.

For the first time France and Britain seemed ready to share military secrets with Moscow by sending military missions to start staff talks.

Diplomats said British-French reluctance to start such talks had been one of the main issues over which Moscow conversations had bogged down.

The house of commons was told by Prime Minister Chamberlain that he expected to make a statement next week on the negotiations as a result of new instructions sent to British Ambassador Sir William Seeds in Moscow.

An outbreak of bombings attributed to the Irish Republican army today wrecked a canal bridge near Liverpool, and shattered baggage checkrooms in two of London's largest railway stations.

A fourth explosion in a Liverpool mailbox tore the front from a district postoffice.

Farley Shies at Third-Term Talk

'Have Not Indicated Position to President,' He Declares; Forecasts Democratic Victory.

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—James A. Farley, the Democratic national chairman and postmaster-general, pointedly refrained today from ruling himself out as a possible candidate for the 1940 presidential nomination, at the same time keeping his now familiar studied silence on the third-term question.

Sailing on the Manhattan for a European vacation—John Hamilton, the Republican chairman, was a shipboard neighbor with a cabin only three doors away—the postmaster general took with him the secret of what occurred in his long political conference Sunday and Monday with President Roosevelt at Hyde Park.

These were the significant passages from his interview with reporters:

Modern Baptists Aren't Narrow, Noted Minister Declares Her

Church Government Similar to 'Town Meeting,' Dr. N.M. Cox Asserts.

By WILLARD COPE.

A theologian of note, author of two books and of a widely read daily religious column for newspapers, the Rev. Dr. Norman Wade Cox, pastor of the First Baptist church of Meridian, Miss., made it clear in an interview yesterday how the Baptists maintain their position as the freest of church organizations.

"It is hardly an organization at all in the strictest sense," he pointed out. "The best description of the church from the standpoint of government, is that it is a 'town meeting.' All authority rests in the individual. It is an authority which is not delegated except in a most limited way, and in relation to necessary business dealings.

Church Independence.

"This present congress of the Baptist World Alliance can pass any number of resolutions, as it will do, and properly so, but there is no Baptist church in the world so humble that it may not ignore them completely, if it so desires. I do not mean that the churches will ignore them—for we are held together by the unity of our ideas—but the illustration makes clear how free we are."

He pointed out also that the church has no creed. Each individual member is instructed merely to arrive at his own conclusions from study of religion. The church does insist upon immersion, he said, but even here it is but following admitted historic precedent.

"Baptists aren't narrow, even if we're so regarded," this friendly native of Climax, Ga., who has held many important pastorates, declared. "Of course, it is true that in the old days the Baptist—and many other churches—tossed out the brethren pretty freely for infractions of ancient taboos against dancing, card - playing, drinking, and so on.

"But all that is a thing of the past. You'd have to be a refractory individual indeed to be expelled today."

In illustration of the church's position as to liberty of belief he quoted "an axiom of the church's historic attitude." It ran: "A true Baptist has never denied to a Catholic a right he would claim for himself, nor has he ever persecuted a Jew, nor denied sanctuary to one charged with witchcraft."

Symbolic Language.

The language, he explained, was largely symbolic, making the implications of the statement extremely broad in scope.

While but 50, Dr. Cox has participated in two previous world congresses of Baptists—those held at Stockholm, Sweden, and in Toronto—has raised by his own efforts $200,000 toward Baptist world purposes, has conducted his churches and yet has prepared without interruption his daily column, "Tramping Trails of Faith."

One of his two books, "Youth's Return to Faith," a discerning study of modern trends, has required reprinting because of its popularity. He has just returned to Meridian, where he served from 1927 to 1931, from a pastorate of seven years in Huntington, West Virginia.

QUOTA ON TOBACCO FAILED TO GET OKA

Six Dixie States' Vote o Control Lacked Two-Thirds Majority.

Tobacco belt farmers in si southern states failed to approv a quota control for the 1939 cro although a majority of those vot ing were in favor of the plan.

The vote was 130,372 for an 98,658 against which fell short c the required two-thirds majority In Georgia the vote was 15,77 for and 9,464 against, a majorit of about 62 per cent.

It was the announced plan o the AAA to limit this year's cro to 754,240,000 pounds to be pro portioned as provided by law. Jul estimates of this year's produc tion were slightly in excess o 1,000,000,000 pounds, an increase of about 267,000,000 over 1938.

If approved, the quota contro plan would have guaranteed growers a fixed minimum price for all of the crop consumed in this country, the surplus to be sold or foreign markets at whatever price it would bring.

Control of the 1938 crop was overwhelmingly approved but much dissatisfaction resulted from quota assignments.

recautionary Measures Are Taken as Boy Dies.

MARIETTA, Ga., July 26.—Pre-utionary measures to prevent read of infantile paralysis here re taken today by Cobb County alth Commissioner J. E. Lester issuing a statement advising ildren and young people under to remain temporarily away m swimming pools, playgrounds d other public gathering places. The statement was issued fol-wing the death from infantile ralysis last night of 12-year-old bert Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Webb Jr., of Marietta and formerly of Atlanta, and the diagnosis of a second case here as infantile paralysis.

BOWDOIN SEES NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

Dr. Charles D. Bowdoin, of the communicable disease division of the state department of health, told The Constitution last night that no cause for alarm now exists over infantile paralysis. Measures being taken in Marietta are strictly precautionary and aimed to prevent any situation of a serious nature, he said. Six cases of infantile paralysis are now under treatment in Atlanta and one in Hapeville, but that number, Dr. Bowdoin said, is not unusual.

Legislator Charges 'Cotton Warehouse Racket'

Michigan Solon Declares Storage Price Making Group Rich at Expense of Taxpayers, Farmers.

Representative Fred L. Crawford, Republican, of Michigan, charged in Washington yesterday that an "entrenched group of warehousemen, who are getting rich at the expense of the taxpayers and the farmers," are attempting to deny the government the right to say what it shall do with its own cotton.

He made public a list of 98 warehouse firms that he said were engaged in a "cotton warehouse racket" from which they were receiving from $25,000 to over $5,000,000 for storage of government cotton during the year just ending.

In the Crawford list were the following warehouse companies in Georgia: Southeastern Compress & Warehouse Company, Atlanta; Georgia-Carolina Warehouse, Augusta; W. C. Bradley Company, Columbus; Savannah River Warehouse Company, Augusta, and the Central Real Estate Warehouse Company, Augusta.

Agrees With Charges.

Dupuy Bateman Jr., president of the Southeastern Compress & Warehouse Company, yesterday agreed with Representative Crawford's charges.

"I would like to see congress strip the mask from the whole thing," he stated, explaining the government could get the same service from warehousemen at approximately half the cost if the system was placed on a competitive basis.

As it is, the cotton is "frozen" in the warehouse where the loan is made. There are approximately 2,000 such warehouses in the cotton-growing states, he pointed out, most of them at interior points.

Storage and insurance prices, set by agreement between the government and warehousemen, now run around $3 a bale for the first year, and $2.16 for the years thereafter, Bateman commented. He has estimated that warehousemen, if the system was competitive, could perform the same service at $1.80 per bale the first year, and $1.44 for the following years.

Would Reduce Rates.

"As it is," he said, "our present rates are at least 10 per cent under other interior warehouses, and we have told the government that any time they would place loan cotton storage on a competitive basis, we would substantially reduce our present rates."

The company, he said, had received $940,000 for loan cotton storage at its interior warehouses since 1935.

Storage figures for other large companies for the same period were given as follows: Federal Compress and Warehouse Company, $8,518,000; Union Compress and Warehouse Company, $1,296,000; Traders' Compress Company, $933,000; Texas Compress and Warehouse Company, $910,000, and the Western Compress Company, $445,000.

Where They Operate.

Federal and Union companies operate in the Mississippi valley, Traders' in Oklahoma and Texas, Texas in west Texas, and Western in California and Arizona.

Crawford's attack climaxed the refusal of the house committee on banking and currency, of which he is a member, to hold hearings on a bill aimed to facilitate the execution of arrangements for the exchange of surplus commodities produced in the United States for reserve stocks of strategic and critical materials produced abroad. The measure was designed primarily to speed the barter deal between the United States and England in which it is proposed to exchange American cotton for British tin and rubber.

Says CCC Hands Tied.

"The amazing part of this whole program," Representative Crawford said, "comes to the surface when the government, acting through its agency, the Commodity Credit Corporation, desires to deliver cotton under the provisions of the 'barter-deal' recently made with England. The Commodity Credit Corporation finds its hands tied. To meet quality, staple and fiber requirements of England, the Commodity Credit Corporation must procure title to the cotton on which it has heretofore made loans to cotton growers. The senate approved a bill which carried provisions that would enable the Commodity Credit Corporation to procure, convey, transport, handle, store, maintain or rotate the cotton on such a basis as would cost the government and the taxpayers much less for storage and insurance charges than has heretofore been paid. The banking and currency committee of the house has absolutely refused to allow the present law, which was written in a manner to protect the warehousemen at the cost of the taxpayer and the farmer, to be amended by the senate bill so that the Commodity Credit Corporation could effect savings and prevent exploitation by the warehousemen.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

About 50 messengers gathered at the Central Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon for a study of the Baptist progress in South America, Scandanavia and China.

TOBACCO GROWERS IN GEORGIA REVOLT

that he would be glad to receive the tobacco growers' committee today at his office, and do "everything humanly and legally possible" to help them out of their dilemma.

Columbus Roberts, head of the Department of Agriculture, stated he judged the low price to be caused by the poor quality of the tobacco thrown on the market during the opening "stampede," and the decline of the market in China and Japan.

Elaborating on his statement, the governor remarked that he could not say what course he would follow until he had studied the question thoroughly.

Depends on Public Good.

He was certain, however, that if the public good demanded it, he could force the warehouses to close.

Roberts, reached at his home in Columbus, remarked that from what he had read in the papers, he thought perhaps that tobacco farmers had gathered their low grade leaf first, and were trying to sell it.

He re-emphasized that all he knew about the dispute was what he had read.

"I hope," he concluded, "that when the stampede attendant on the opening clears up, tobacco prices will rise."

5 Per Cent of Crop Sold.

About 5 per cent of the state's 95,000,000 to 100,000,000-pound tobacco crop has already been sold at what observers agree have been "generally unsatisfactory" prices.

First-day auction crowds in the warehouses tended to slow up the 360-baskets-an-hour selling pace, preventing, in some instances, the completion of the sale of all tobacco on the floors, and thus causing blocked sales. In these cases, auctioneers and their accompanying buyers must resume and finish in the same warehouse the next morning, before starting sale in the next warehouse.

Millions of Pounds Moved.

Millions of pounds of golden leaf, as quickly as sold, has been moved from the floors by buying companies, to provide space which is as quickly gobbled up by waiting growers.

Despite a wide acceptance, there was little evidence of united support late today to the suggestion advanced by E. C. Westbrook, Georgia extension service tobacco specialist, that a general slowing up of sales might bring a price boost in the event of more unfavorable weather in the Carolina belt.

The idea moved along rapidly from grower to grower, in the warehouses and stores, and on the streets, wherever they gathered to discuss the all-important question of price. All were eager for any idea which might bring them a greater return for a crop they have labored many months to produce. On the surface, there was little spoken sign of rebellion, though the sentiment of many was reflected in a chance remark overheard outside a Blackshear warehouse today. "Well," said one in greeting to a neighbor, "They're taking it away from 'em in there."

Air of Resignation Prevails.

One seldom heard voices raised in revolt against this season's plummeting prices. Instead, an air of resignation and disheartenment pervaded the giant warehouses. Farmers and their families, lounging about on their baskets of tobacco, awaited the passing of the auctioneer, then darted in to learn the news of price received, good or bad. Generally, they were accepting the verdict stoically, but were looking ahead in quest of a safeguard against dropping prices.

Meanwhile, the high-pitched gutteral song of the auctioneer goes on hour after sweltering hour, and nothing will stop its sing-song drone until every basket of tobacco on south Georgia's 15 markets is sold. Nothing may slow its march except the possibility of a united refusal to bring tobacco in. Of this, until late this afternoon there was no evidence. Growers, eager for cash, were jamming thoroughfares around nearly every warehouse with heavily laden vehicles, fully aware that they have little chance for two or three days to get their tobacco in position for sale. There they must wait.

They sat and watched the warehouse exits pouring forth a steady stream of gold, on its way direct to factories or to the stemming and redrying plants in Douglas and Tifton and Valdosta, there to be conditioned and stored for later shipment.

Inferior grades continued to predominate today, with very few baskets of fair quality leaf.

Waycross with an average opening day of 15.51 found sales continuing at about that same level with some improvement in the medium grades.

Valdosta's warehouses also were filling up after buyers cleared two floors yesterday and started on two more today. Market Supervisor Terry Almand said the bidding ran from a low of 4 cents to a top above 24 cents.

Reports on sales today included:

Statesboro: Total sales Wednesday 325,000 pounds at average 16 cents. Grade mostly lugs top price 30 cents, low price 3 cents. About 1,325,000 left over. Over 2,000,000 pounds in warehouses and on streets.

Vidalia: Total sales Wednesday 670,000 pounds at average of 16 1-2 cents. Grade mostly lugs and second crop. Top price 37 cents, low price 5 cents. About 1,200,000 left over.

Moultrie: Sales Supervisor C. E. Isom said day's sales would be around 625,000 pounds. Prices range from 2 to 27 cents with most selling at 16-20 cents. Floors refilling fast as emptied.

Baxley: Total sales 310,000 pounds at average of 17 cents. Grade mostly good: top price 29, low price 4 cents. About 500,000 left over.

TOBACCO PRICES IN FLORIDA IMPROVE

LAKE CITY, Fla., July 26.—(AP) Tobacco prices improved here today at the second day of the annual auction of bright leaf.

Prices averaged 16 1-2 cents a pound compared with 15 1-2 yesterday. The volume of sales was about the same, 350,000 pounds.

Some choice lots brought as much as 25 cents a pound. With considerable high grade leaf coming up for sale tomorrow, tobacco men were hopeful for still further improvement in prices.

Encouraging reports were received from Live Oak, Florida's other market, where opening sales yesterday brought only 12 to 14 cents.

EMPLOYES BARRED COUNTY CARS' USE

ments of the county and report to the commission by August 15 on the following:

(1) The employes who, from the nature of their duties, should be furnished a travel allowance.

(2) The amount of montly travel allowance which will be just and fair for the several employes recommended to receive an allowance.

It was pointed out the amount of allowance will vary for different employes and departments since some require more travel than others in the performance of their duties.

In introducing the resolution, Commissioners Chastain said 10 county automobiles had been operated on this basis and that the plan had proved satisfactory.

"Under such a system we find that the county is served to a better advantage and the county employe is more pleased," Chastain said. "We think this is a fair plan for both county and employe.

Cites Advantages of Plan.

"We want to protect our employes from any suspicion on the part of the public," he continued. "We know that the county equipment has been abused. There has been some complaint of the use of big cars. Under this plan the individual can buy the type of car he desires and operate it as he pleases."

Although Dr. Charles R. Adams, chairman of the commission's police committee, voted for the resolution he said he was reluctant to cast a favorable vote because he did not think the new arrangement would work satisfactorily for county police.

"I am not certain that the county police can perform their duties as they should when they have a certain amount set up for expenses," he said. "Such a plan has not been tried by county police in any city I know of. Although I am willing to try it as an experiment, I have my doubts that it will work."

Commissioner J. A. Ragsdale seconded Chastain's motion that the resolution be passed. He said he thought it was a decided move for economy.

"This is one of the finest steps ever taken by the county commission," he declared. "The use of county-owned automobiles has long been a problem in Fulton county. This resolution is fair to the employes as well as the taxpayers."

Ragsdale pointed out that adjustments might have to be made from time to time. He expressed the opinion the allowance plan for transportation would be more satisfactory than any other since the operation of automobiles on a mileage basis had proved unsuccessful.

Cars' Use Probed.

Following the south Georgia accident in which A. A. Clarke, superintendent of county public works, and J. F. Monroe, foreman of the county repair shop, were injured, the grand jury launched an investigation of the use of county automobiles and a special committee was appointed to gather information. The committee had not reported when the commission took its action yesterday.

Thomas C. Law, foreman of the grand jury, commended the commissioners on their move, but said he could not say definitely whether the investigation would be dropped.

JIM FARLEY SHIES AT 3D TERM TALK

the third term for President Roosevelt — "I have not indicated my position on a third term to anyone, and that includes the President."

Who, in his opinion, would be the Democratic candidates? "I don't know, but the Democrat who is nominated will be the successful man in the election."

Would Mr. Roosevelt run for a third term? "You'll have to ask him."

Then came the question "Do you think the postmaster general will be a candidate?"

Farley, perspiring in a long black lounging coat, answered deliberately:

"It is futile for me or anyone else to talk of 1940 until the President has spoken up."

It was thus implied, at least, that Farley himself might under some circumstances strike out for the nomination.

Speaking more formally, he said he was in real need of a holiday, not having had "a minute's rest since last fall," and then he added:

"I feel we are on our way to a period of real prosperity, with business picking up all over the country."

To this Hamilton, in his separate interview, rejoined with a smile:

"The President isn't going, is he? I believe Bruce Barton said that the stock market goes up whenever the President leaves Washington."

MIAMI RATE EXPERT HIRED FOR LOWER FEE

MIAMI, Fla., July 26.—(AP)—Thomas E. Grady, tried and acquitted last year of soliciting a $250,000 bribe while serving as city rate and traffic expert, was awarded a new one-year contract at a greatly reduced fee by the city commission today.

Last year Grady's contract was for $11,600, and for several years prior to that he was voted fees of $17,000 annually. In the coming year his compensation was set at $5,000.

I.C.C. To Control All Transportation Except Aviation; Difference May Defeat Measure

WASHINGTON, July 26. (UP)—The Lea bill which brings all transportation except aviation under jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission, was passed by the house today over objections of a bipartisan bloc which had sought exemption for water carriers.

Passage was by voice vote after a recommittal motion by Representative James W. Wadsworth, Republican, New York, was defeated, 273 to 100.

The measure, introduced by Chairman Clarence F. Lea, Democrat, California, of the house interstate commerce committee, is an amended version of the senate-approved bill which does not differ materially. There is some doubt among house leaders, however, that the conflicting versions can be adjusted before adjournment.

Regulation Extended.

The bill extends federal regulation to railroads, motor truck lines and inland water carriers and sets up a co-ordinated program designed to end unfair competition, and to bring about consolidations and eliminations which ultimately would put all transportation on a sound financial basis.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority retains control over aviation although the ICC, when requested, would act in an advisory capacity in determining rates.

The measure authorizes the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to purchase or guarantee securities of railroads as well as to make loans. It also calls for elimination of railroad land grant rates under which the government enjoys a 50 per cent differential.

Bridge Cost Split.

Another section provides that in relocating bridges over navigable waters the government and the owner-carrier split the cost which would be based on amounts attributable to navigation and rail traffic requirements.

Representative Milton H. West, Democrat, Texas, said he believed Lea's committee "had listened through the keyhole to the railroads so long that they have lost sight of the fellow who pays the freight rates."

An amendment by Wadsworth permitting any carrier to reduce rates, so long as the ICC finds them "compensatory," was adopted as was one by Representative Vincent Harrington, Democrat, Iowa, banning any consolidations that would throw men out of work.

CONVICT RUSSELL ADMITS SLAYING

Oklahoma Prisoner Breaks 8-Day Silence on Freedom Dash.

MCALESTER, Okla, July 26.—(AP)—Convict Jack Russell's 8-day silence in "solitary" confinement was broken today with a confession he kidnaped and killed William Scott Hamilton, young Arkansas City, Kans., salesman, during his wild week of freedom.

The former model prisoner admitted the Hamilton slaying, three kidnapings and two armed robberies. He was indicted for murder and kidnaping by a federal grand jury in Chicago.

Russell, serving 10 years for armed robbery, escaped July 8 from a guard who was taking him to see a doctor. He was recaptured at Ozark, Ark., July 18, after a flight through at least six states.

Returned to prison, he admitted kidnaping R. E. Brown, McAlester photographer, and Bud Egholm, Oklahoma City, Warden Jess Dunn, of McAlester penitentiary, said.

The desperado finally admitted he shot Hamilton through the head during a scuffle which resulted when the Kansan attempted to snatch his revolver.

WHAT TO DO FOR ECZEMA ITCHING AND BURNING

Wash the affected parts with Resinol Soap and warm water to soften scales and crusts. Resinol Soap is suggested because it contains no excess of free alkali, and cleanses the tender skin so carefully. Dry by patting with a soft cloth—do not rub.

Many doctors recommend an oily ointment because it holds the medication in contact with the irritated skin surface, giving prolonged action. Resinol Ointment meets this requirement, and does even more. For nearly 45 years it has been—and still is—successfully used to relieve quickly the itching and burning of eczema. It contains soothing ingredients that aid healing.

Use Resinol Ointment today and enjoy comfort tomorrow. Get a jar, also a cake of Resinol Soap, at any drug store. For free sample, write to Resinol, Dept. 87, Baltimore, Md.

eader of Kidnapers Repented After 'Reform' Talk, Says Goldner

stor Adds, However, That He Always Let Arabs Win at Games.

JERUSALEM, July 26.—(AP)—e Rev. Gerould R. Goldner, gadore, Ohio, pastor freed yesday after being held a week by ab kidnapers, said tonight that had tried to "reform" his abctors.

As a result, the leader of the nd confessed that he was "fed with this work" and said he anted "to go to America," the ung preacher reported in a writn statement for United States nsul General George Wadsorth.

Goldner lectured his captors on e evil of their ways and told em they were "too good" for kidaping. The leader finally agreed ter some haranguing.

Nevertheless, Goldner said that while playing games with his captors he allowed them to win because "I feared that if I won they would do away with me."

ALFRED E. HAYWARD, CARTOONIST, IS DEAD

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—Alfred E. Hayward, 54, painter, cartoonist and humorist, died at his west 73d street home yesterday after a 10-day illness.

He created the comic strip, "Somebody's Stenog," circulated by the Phildalephia Public Ledger syndicate for 21 years. His water color painting, "Aqueduct of St. Jeannet," attracted world wide attention and his paintings of Pennsylvania mountain streams won many prizes.

CHURCHMEN HONOR C. D. MONTGOMERY

Patriarch's 88th Birthday Celebrated by Central Presbyterian Class.

Charles D. (Uncle Charlie) Montgomery—the "grand old man" of Central Presbyterian church—was honored last night at a surprise party marking his 88th birthday anniversary.

Assembled in the basement of the church in which Mr. Montgomery has held membership continuously since 1874, more than 150 members of the Brotherhood class gathered to praise the character, personality and good works of their church's oldest male member.

As Mr. Montgomery sat before a huge cake, containing the numerals "88" instead of customary candles, his fellow-churchmen stepped forward to express their feelings of admiration and respect for the man who has served the church as an elder since 1901.

Tributes were paid by Dr. Stuart R. Oglesby, pastor of the church; Douglas G. McRae, teacher of the class, who presided; Raymond A. Hill, president of the class; W. F. Buchanan, on behalf of the deacons; John A. Jones, on behalf of the sessions; Dr. Cyrus Strickler, a close personal friend of many years; Harold C. Smith, on behalf of the young people of the Atlanta presbytery, and Thomas C. Dickson, who presented special guests.

Following the speeches, Paul West, one of the teachers of the class, presented "Uncle Charlie" with a framed parchment scroll on behalf of the class.

A special feature was a gallery of photographs of the honored guest, obtained by Fred Rand, showing Mr. Montgomery in all periods of his life, from childhood to maturity.

Mr. Montgomery, a native of Talladega, Ala., came to Atlanta in 1872. He was formerly a partner in the old wholesale shoe and dry goods firm of M. C. Kiser. He has served Central Presbyterian as superintendent of the Sunday school, besides serving as elder.

A musical program was presented as an entertainment feature.

In a new system of two-way television communication, a single cathode-ray tube at each station does double duty as a pick up and viewing device.

JOHN M. BURKE DIES IN HIS 44TH YEAR

Funeral Services Will Be Conducted at Spring Hill Today.

John Martin Burke, 43, of 2909 North Hills drive, southern credit manager of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Corporation, died yesterday morning at his home.

A native of Danville, Ga., he spent much of his life in Milledgeville and had been living here for about eight years. He attended Georgia Military College and the University of Georgia.

He was a World War veteran and a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity and St. Mark Methodist church.

Surviving are his wife; a daughter, Miss Susan Burke; two sisters, Mrs. L. M. Harrison, of Valona, Ga., and Miss Margaret Burke, of Tampa, Fla., and two brothers, A. C. and H. M. Burke.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill by Dr. Lester Rumble. Burial will be in West View cemetery under direction of H. M. Patterson & Son.

Pallbearers will be Glenn B. Ryman, Dr. Murdock Equen, Edward H. Anchors, Dr. M. Hines Roberts, H. L. Rogers and J. Elam Nunnally.

Bamboo, near Calcutta, India, grew 33 inches in the last 12 months.

MRS. RICE INDICTED IN BEACH SLAYING

Asks For, and Gets No. 1 Defense Lawyer of Fort Myers, Fla.

FORT MYERS, Fla., July 26.—(AP)—Thelma Rice, 26, former waitress and Georgia girl who admitted to Tallahassee police the pistol slaying of Earl Haskew, 33, Fort Myers bookkeeper, at a beach swimming party July 15, was indicted today by a Lee county grand jury on a charge of second-degree murder. The jury had been investigating the case since Monday. The arraignment was set for Monday and her trial for August 7, in circuit court here.

Appearing before Judge George W. Whitehurst, completely outfitted in new clothes, the husky, blue-eyed ex-Tampa girl appeared calm and chatted with State Attorney Clyde Wilson about her new olive green dress. She told the young attorney that friends gave her the new outfit.

"Have you an attorney?" Judge Whitehurst asked.

"No sir."

"Have you any money to employ one?"

"No sir."

"Do you have any preference as to whom the court appoints to defend you?"

"I would prefer S. Watt Lawler if he would accept," she said.

Lawler, Fort Myers No. 1 defense lawyer, accepted. The two went into conference for a few minutes and Lawler asked that the arraignment be set for Monday and the trial August 7.

A widespread search for Mrs. Rice ended last week when she surrendered to Tallahassee officers with the statement, "I killed a man at Fort Myers."

She said she had left the scene of the shooting in Haskew's car, which she abandoned near Inverness. She hitchhiked to Cross City, she said, worked in a tourist camp for a short while, and then went to Tallahassee where she surrendered.

DR. J. S. FREEMAN TELLS JURY THAT HE IS INNOCENT

Takes Stand To Make Calm Statement Denying He Is Murderer in Cobb Torch Death.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

MARIETTA, Ga., July 26.—Resting his case upon his own statement of innocence, made during a tense hour and 55 minutes Wednesday afternoon, Dr. J. S. Freeman will submit his fate in the truck torch death of Aaron Saunders to a jury of 12 Cobb county farmers sometime tomorrow.

Solicitor General Grady Vandiviere concluded the evidence today seeking to link Dr. Freeman as Saunders' slayer, indicating a motive in trip accident insurance policies taken on the victim's life after a will was executed to make Freeman his executor.

After a spirited legal joust in which Defense Attorney Gordon Gann was overruled in an effort to strike from the record all evidence concerning the will, the insurance policies and claims for injuries to Saunders in a previous accident May 30, the accused lawyer-physician took the stand.

Calm and Deliberate.

Speaking calmly and deliberately, Freeman reviewed all the testimony of prosecution witnesses with the aid of a notebook he had kept from the beginning of the trial. He recounted his connection with Saunders, the unemployed Atlanta World War veteran for whose fatal burning June 13 Freeman is charged with murder.

"I never committed the murder of Aaron Saunders," he said. "I never had anything like that in my head. I have only tried to help him, never to destroy a human life. I can't realize that I am actually accused of such a murder."

Countering the testimony of prosecution witnesses who described him as indifferent as Saunders sat blazing in the cab of an old truck at the Gordon Smith farm home near Smyrna, he asserted that he had done everything he could under the circumstances of shock, horror and surprise of the moment.

Recalls Death Scene.

Freeman said that he had left Saunders working on the truck and went to the Smith house to get a drink of water. He had reached the porch before he became aware of the blaze in the cab and, he said, shouted to Saunders to jump. Saunders remained in the blazing cab, frantically waving his arms, Freeman recalled.

Going over his notes, Freeman discussed the insurance motive angle at length, asserting that he knew enough law to have known that he could never hope to profit by such policies and that they "could only get him into trouble."

Defense Attorney Charles Pigue opened the argument for Freeman after the defendant had concluded his statement, continuing the trial session in the Cobb county court house beyond the usual closing hour under agreement of counsel approved by Judge Harold Hawkins.

Atlantan Testifies.

Among closing witnesses for the prosecution was Henry L. Cole, Atlanta produce dealer, upon whom Dr. Freeman is charged in another indictment with assault with intent to murder through injection of some substance in a hypodermic after an accident some time prior to the Saunders torch death. Cole testified that he did not know at the time that Freeman had taken out accident insurance policies on his life.

EX-KLAN HEAD'S TAX REPORTED PROBED

Treasury Department Agents' Check of 1937, 1938 Returns Seen.

Agents for the Treasury Department's Bureau of Investigation yesterday were reported to be in Atlanta checking income tax returns filed for 1937 and 1938 by Dr. H. W. Evans, former imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan.

Neither Marion H. Allen, federal collector of internal revenue, nor L. C. Palmer, head of the investigating unit, would discuss the matter, but Dr. Evans said he had expected his income tax return to be checked and presumed that the investigation was the routine check given every large return.

The federal agents were reported to have obtained records from the state showing that Dr. Evans through various companies sold the state approximately $485,000 worth of asphalt during the two years and that the agents likewise were checking the former wizard's testimony before the house economy committee early this year when he revealed that he had a virtual monopoly on emulsified asphalt bought by the highway department during the two years.

MOSCOW-LONDON PACT SEEN NEAR

tally injured and nearly a score of others hurt, the house of commons approved without division a bill to curb the I. R. A., and sent it to the house of lords.

The Liverpool explosions occurred several hours after the London blasts. Destruction of the wooden swing bridge at Liverpool blocked the Leeds Liverpool canal.

Throughout England thousands of police were hurried to vital points to protect them against terrorism.

The "anti-I. R. A." bill passed by commons gives police authority for two years to arrest, deport or bar from Britain persons suspected of plotting violence to influence British opinion on Irish affairs. Suspected persons would be required to register with police.

5,000 To Be Seized.

Scotland Yard was understood to be ready to roundup 5,000 I. R. A. members and sympathizers as soon as the bill is law.

In the Irish senate today, the bombings were denounced by Professor Michael Tierney as "far more a blow to the legitimate government in Eire (Ireland) than in England."

Premier Eamon De Valera said "a small minority is standing in the way of conciliation" between the former Free State, now Ireland, and northern Ireland."

While wanting a union of Ireland and northern Ireland, the Irish government has attempted to put down the violent methods of the I. R. A.

The bombing toll now stands at two dead, one blinded, 55 injured, extensive but unestimated property damage.

Sixty-six terrorists have been sentenced to prison. The explosives seized have been described as sufficient to kill 1,000 persons.

Berlin was subjected to a mock bomb attacked by "enemy planes" which flew over the blacked-out capital to test wartime aerial defenses in realistic exercises which sent millions into air raid shelters.

Theoretically hundreds of buildings were wiped out, but autherities would not estimate the number of "dead and wounded" in the exercises.

Franco Bows to Opposition.

Reports reaching the French frontier from Spain reported Generalissimo Franco at least temporarily had bowed to bitter opposition which has risen to his brother-in-law, Interior Minister Ramon Serrano Suner, chief advocate of close Spanish co-operation with Italy and Germany.

Franco was said to have shelved a plan to make Serrano Suner premier with wide powers. Monarchists and army leaders opened violent attacks, these reports said, on the interior minister who also is chief of the Falangists—Spanish Fascists.

Burgos dispatches said Franco might reorganize his cabinet at a meeting Friday.

As if to help the anti-Serrano Suner group a Paris court today ordered Spanish gold totaling 1,500,000,000 francs (about $39,730,000) turned over to the Nationalist Bank of Spain. The gold had been sent to Paris by the fallen Republican regime about two years ago.

This removed the main barrier to execution of the French-Spanish accord negotiated at Burgos last February 26, when France recognized Franco as the victor in Spain.

It paved the way for Britain and France to make further attempts to woo the Spanish Nationalists away from Rome—a job which probably never could be done if Serrano Suner were head of the Spanish government.

In the Far East differences of an unspecified nature were reported authoritatively to have arisen in committee negotiations attempting to settle the Tientsin dispute between Britain and Japan.

The possibility of a difference in interpretation of their previous agreement was seen in a Tokyo foreign office spokesman's statement that "we certainly do not expect" Britain to continue aid to China.

British Prime Minister Chamberlain in announcing the agreement Monday stated that Britain's policy regarding China remained unchanged. This policy in the past has included financial assistance to Chiang's government. He said the negotiations in Tokyo, for which the agreement was to provide a basis, would be confined to the local issues at Tientsin, north China port where the Japanese have blockaded the British concessions since June 14.

As the result of fear of possible Russian air raids in Manchoukuo, the national defense act today was extended throughout the Japanese sponsored state.

The measure was invoked last month first for the four northwestern provinces of Manchoukuo after fighting broke out between Japanese forces and Soviet-Mongolian troops.

Enacted in March, 1938, the act is designed to "prevent and minimize damages arising from enemy attacks, especially aerial raids."

Medical Men Score Victory

Federal Court at Washington Tosses Out Indictment of Doctors as Trust Law Violators.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(AP)—The Department of Justice suffered a major defeat today when a federal district judge tossed out of court an indictment charging the American Medical Association, three other medical organizations, and 21 prominent physicians with violating the anti-trust laws.

Justice James M. Proctor ruled that medicine is not a trade, but a learned profession, and therefore that the defendants could not be guilty of restraint of trade in their alleged activities against Group Health Association, Inc., a co-operative setup to afford medical care on a prepaid basis to federal employes in the District of Columbia.

The judge also caustically criticized the indictment, using such words as "bad," "improper," highly colored," "vague," and "uncertain."

The Justice Department announced tonight that "every effort" would be made to get a supreme court decision on the district court's action "at the earliest possible moment."

In a formal statement, the department said it was making its announcement "not for the purpose of criticizing the opinion, but for the reason that it is important to inform physicians generally that until the supreme court has acted the government's prosecution policy toward boycotts in the medical profession is unchanged.

"None of the reasoning of the opinion persuades the department that doctors are free to engage in practices which would be illegal if they belonged to some other calling," the statement said.

"In addition, any further restraints of the character included in the indictment also will be subject to prosecution.

"It is important that physicians not be misled on this point for the reason that the district court opinion is not a binding authority on other judges."

The indictment, returned by a federal grand jury last December, charged that the American Medical Association, the Medical Society of the District of Columbia, the Washington Academy of Surgery, the Harris County (Texas) Medical Society and the 21 physicians had "combined and conspired together for the purpose of restraining trade."

The specific charges were that they had interfered with the plans of Group Health Association by refusing consultation service to the group's physicians, by refusing them permission to practice in Washington hospitals, and by threatening to expel them from membership in the medical societies.

Among the defendants named in the indictment were Dr. Olin West, secretary and general manager of the A. M. A.; Dr. Morris Fishbein, its editor; Dr. William C. Woodward, Dr. William D. Cutter and Dr. Roscoe G. Leland, bureau heads. The doctors are all members of the District of Columbia Medical Society.

In rejecting the government argument that medical practice is trade within the meaning of the statute, Justice Proctor said:

"The thesis of government counsel that 'trade' embraces all who habitually supply money's worth for money payment, and their contention that the statute should be so broadly construed represents an extreme position which does violence to the common understanding of 'trade,' rejects authoritative court decisions and ignores cardinal rules of statutory construction."

A recent decision of the supreme court re-defined the word "trade" as used in the Sherman act and exempted the learned profession, Justice Proctor said. "And admittedly the practice of medicine is one."

At Chicago today officials of the A. M. A. declared the organization had never opposed any well-considered, expanded program of medical service "when the need can be established."

The local legal struggle has been the focal point of a nation-wide discussion over medical-aid plans. These have been set up in every state and in about one-third of the counties, and in every instance the A. M. A. has insisted through its members that any organization attempting to provide medical care be under the direct control of medical men. Objections to group health were raised on the ground that it was a co-operative group of laymen which hired its own physicians and dominated them.

A program will be held and a basket dinner will be served on the grounds at Mount Pleasant church.

How To Relieve Itching Skin

Don't scratch and claw itching skin. This tends to irritate and spread inflammation, and is dangerous. Skin itching, when due to Scabies, Eczema, Ringworm, Athlete's Foot, Surface Rash, or inoccuous insect bites, is soothed by applying Totterine, a quickly palliative preparation that acts with surprising speed to kill every parasite it contacts and your itching goes galloping away. Recommended too for baby's tender skin. Test it for yourself. 60c at your dealer's or direct from Shuptrine Co., Dept. D, Savannah, Ga. (adv.)

MRS. ILAH LITTLE, OF ATLANTA, DIES ON GERMAN TRIP

Georgian Was Widow of John D. Little, Former Speaker of the State House of Representatives.

Mrs. Ilah Little, widow of John D. Little, former speaker of the state house of representatives, and a member of a distinguished Georgia family, died yesterday morning at Karlsbad, Germany, friends here and in Macon were informed by cablegram.

Mrs. Little, who maintained a home here at 2998 Habersham road and also at Oakland Plantation, near Leesburg, left Atlanta about a month ago on her annual trip to Europe.

After a short visit en route with a sister, Mrs. H. M. Wortham, of Charlottesville, Va., she continued on to Paris and recent letters announced her arrival there. The cablegram was the next word received about her.

She and a sister, Mrs. L. O. Stevens, who died last April, were the first to join the Macon chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. Their father was the late Captain S. S. Dunlap, of the Confederate army.

In addition to Mrs. Wortham she is survived by another sister, Mrs. C. M. Badgley, who recently acquired a plantation near Oakland.

Friends here yesterday said the body would be returned to this country for burial in the family vault at Macon.

HOME LOAN HEAD ASKS ADDED POWER

Would Prevent Foreclosures During Future Depressions.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(AP)—John H. Fahey, head of the federal agency created to protect billions of dollars of home mortgages, asked congress today for additional powers to prevent a possible wave of home foreclosures during future depressions.

Fahey, chairman of the Home Loan Bank system, told the senate banking committee that the Treasury should have authority to buy securities of this agency and its subsidiaries in times of financial stress.

At present both the bank system and its separate insurance corporation obtain funds through sale of debentures in the public money market.

DOCTOR'S ADVICE TO NEWLY-WEDS

The fashionable wedding was over. The bride and groom made a rush for their motor car to escape the rice and the ragging of their friends and were speeding away on their honeymoon. The ladies of the company remained to exchange greetings and express adulations over the beautiful ceremony, the loveliness of the bride and the brilliant future that awaits the newly-weds.

The father of the groom, a prominent Southern physician, wanders thoughtfully out into the corridor of the church where he meets a fellow physician, an old friend of the family. "Well, Doctor, your son is married and if he and his bride will keep all of the many vows that the minister made them promise, they should live most happily,—for he made them promise nearly everything."

"But," said the wise old physician, "the minister overlooked the most important vow." "What's that, Doctor?" "He should have made them promise that when either of them became fretful, grouchy, and bilious, the other would promptly administer Calotabs, for" said he, "biliousness is the cause of more family trouble, misunderstandings, fights and divorces, than almost any other factor."

Note:—This is a true story of a conversation between two physicians in the corridor of a fashionable church on Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Ga. (Printed as an advertisement by the makers of Calotabs.)

$20 UP TO $5,000

Diamonds and other stones and jewels of value are good security for loans.

or maybe some other type would suit you better—for instance:

☐ AUTOMOBILE—Loans are made quickly—we pay your parking check in the Forsyth Building Garage while you come to our bank.

☐ PLAIN NOTE—Loans are made on nothing but your name signed to a simple note.

☐ ENDORSEMENT—Loans are made on your note endorsed by some friend or relative.

☐ FURNITURE—Loans are made on household furniture, and you can even phone us to come to your house for your application instead of you coming to the bank.

☐ COMBINATIONS OF SECURITY—Loans are made on a variety of collateral when you want a large amount and any one type of your security is insufficient to secure the loan. For instance, you might put up an automobile plus an endorsement if the car is a model worth less than the amount you need.

☐ STOCKS-BONDS—Provide ready security for loans, and terms are most desirable.

☐ OTHER TYPES of loans are made on most anything of value.

Voiding of 'Friendship Pact' To Deeply Affect Japanese

An Embargo, Which Article 5 of Treaty Prevented. Would Cause Far More Suffering by Island Empire Than by This Country.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(UP) The 1911 treaty of commerce and navigation which the United States tonight notified Japan it is abrogating, contains 18 articles, as follows:

Article 1: Citizens of both nations shall have liberty to enter, travel and reside in territories of the other, to carry on wholesale and retail trade, own, lease and occupy houses, manufactories, warehouses and shops. They may not be taxed at a higher rate than levied against native citizens, and may not be pressed into military service of the contracting nation.

Article 2: Each nation agrees to "respect" dwellings, manufactories and shops of each other.

Article 3: Each contracting nation may appoint consuls general, consuls, vice consuls, deputy consuls, and consular agents in all cities of the other.

"To Come and Go Freely."

Article 4: Reciprocal freedom of commerce and navigation shall exist between the two nations. Each shall have liberty to come and go freely with ships and cargoes everywhere in the territory of the other.

Article 5: Import duties between the two nations will be regulated by treaty or the internal legislation of each. They may not, however, be higher than duties on exportation of like articles to any other country.

Article 6: Subjects and citizens of both nations will be free of transit duties in the territories of the other, and must be assured "equality" of treatment.

Articles 7 to 18: All legal rights of nationals of both nations will be protected; no shipping privileges will be given to any other nation and not accorded to the contracting parties; no tonnage, harbor, pilotage, lighthouse, quarantine, or similar duties may be imposed on either party and not levied on vessels of other nations; citizens of each nation shall enjoy the same protection as native citizens in regard to patents, trademarks and designs.

Effect in China.

One of the principal provisions of the treaty pertinent to the present Sino-Japanese crisis in which some members of congress wish to apply embargoes against the export of United States materials vital to Japan in its conduct of the war in China requires that neither country shall restrict in any way the importation or exportation of any goods to the other which is not equally restricted in the trade with other countries.

This clause is contained in Article 5 and reads as follows:

"Neither contracting party shall impose any other or higher duties or charges on the exportation of any article to the territories of the other than are or may be payable on the exportation of the like article to any other foreign country.

"Nor shall any prohibition be imposed by either country on the importation or exportation of any article from or to the territories of the other which shall not equally extend to the like article imported from or exported to any other country."

Abrogation of the pact will put the United States in a position to embargo not only the goods proposed in the Pittman resolution, but to impose virtually limitless economic penalties.

Retaliations Seen.

Japan, some observers feel, would be in a position to retaliate since termination of the treaty would equally relieve her of obligations to the United States in basic trade matters.

Since Japan is less self-sufficient economically than the United States, many experts believe she would suffer far more in a struggle of embargoes and trade restrictions. Already her gold reserve has dwindled markedly in the two-year struggle with China and she has been forced to impose sharp limitations on consumption or importation of certain goods considered non-essential to prosecution of the war.

Economists assert that Japan could purchase supplies in Europe if she is unable to obtain them here. Others, however, say this would involve new hardships and complications for Japan in at least some cases.

Japan and the United States are mutually among each other's largest markets and sources of supply, both for ordinary commercial and wartime commodities. Japan normally ranks third or fourth as a market for American goods and is a source of supply for goods needed in American industry. Japan, however, is particularly dependent upon the United States for sales of its great export product—raw silk. In turn, it buys from the United States large amounts of cotton, petroleum, gasoline, lumber, scrap iron and machinery.

25 Years of Friction.

Notice of termination of the treaty culminates more than 25 years of intermittent friction between Japan and the United States over a wide range of subjects, varying from anti-Japanese exclusion laws in this country to Japanese colonization and alleged fortification of Pacific islands mandated to the empire by the League of Nations.

Intensifying the situation is Japan's present military adventure in China, which began actively in September, 1931.

American officials, both of the Republican Hoover administration and the Democratic Roosevelt regime, have declared either by inference or in outright official statements, that Japan has violated treaties to which both the empire and the United States were parties.

Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, said that Hull's action shows "we have no sympathy with Japan's aggressions in China." The chairman, Pittman, of Nevada, and six other members of the senate's foreign relations committee, praised or otherwise approved the action.

Specifically, the United States long has considered Japan a willful violator of the nine-power treaty and the Kellogg-Briand anti-war pact.

Ever since Japan marched into Manchuria with military forces in 1931, there have been sporadic demands that this country apply economic sanctions to Japan, boycott purchases of Japanese silk, embargo sale of scrap iron and other essential war materials, or take other punitive or economic measures to compel the Nipponese to abide by her treaty obligations.

Officials of two administrations sidestepped a definite stand on most of the demands, and when pushed, have pointed to the 1911 treaty and have exphasized that regardless of what Japan might do with regard to her treaty obligations, the United States is bound by honor and tradition to observe her own international obligations.

U. S. Has Lost Patience.

It is no secret that the State Department has been losing patience.

Apologies and other expressions of regret of the Japanese military in China have been followed with promptitude by new irritants.

The State Department has been particularly concerned with the growing number of incidents in China during the past 60 days in which Japanese soldiers or police have committed assault upon American nationals.

The State Department itself and its diplomatic officials in Japan and China all have protested repeatedly.

In each case, the Japanese government has apologized through its representatives and in most cases has given assurances that those involved had been "suitably punished."

The attacks have increased steadily, however.

The nine-power treaty, which guarantees the territorial and political integrity of China, theoretically is still in effect. It was signed by Japan, China, the United States and six other powers.

In 1937 this country formally accused Japan of violating it. The League of Nations shortly thereafter made a similar accusation. The declarations did not alter the binding effect of the treaty.

The United States, Japan, China and some 5 other nations also formally signed the Kellogg-Briand anti-war pact which is presumed to be in effect despite violation in both hemispheres.

This treaty binds the signatory powers to avoid war as an instrument of national policy.

Thus far, no official proposals have come forward for embargoes on the imports of Japanese silk or other goods which produce profits with which Japan can keep her wartime economy in existence. However, widespread private boycotts have been sponsored by many groups, including societies friendly to China or claiming support of democracy in other parts of the world.

Public Favors Measures.

Recent popular soundings of public opinion in various places purportedly showed that a majority of American citizens will support economic measures against Japan.

Some personalities prominent in public life, including former state department officials, have favored such action.

Grounds for penalties, according to Senators Pittman and Schwellenbach are clauses in the nine-power treaty under which Japan pledged not to impose on its own people. It also agreed not to seek special privileges which would be excluded to other signatories, and agreed to "respect" China's territorial and administrative integrity.

Some senators claim that Japan has violated all these provisions.

Repeated protests have been made against Japan's refusal to permit Americans to trade in certain parts of China, to navigate the Yangtze river, which is the principal trade artery of central China, or to return to missions and business properties after order has been restored in Japanese-occupied territory, or to buy and sell on an unrestricted currency basis in certain parts of the country.

HULL DENOUNCES JAPANESE TREATY

olution some days ago calling for the abrogation of the 1911 treaty with a view to possible negotiation of a new one affording better protection to American rights in China.

Asked by the senate foreign relations committee for an opinion on both resolutions, Secretary Hull last Friday deferred giving it, but wrote the committee with reference to the Vandenberg resolution that the State Department would be glad to consider it if it were approved.

The abrogation caught the capital by surprise. At 9:30 p. m., the State Department telephoned to newspaper correspondents and asked them to come to the department for a news release. At 10 o'clock, an official handed them the text of the release.

"New Consideration."

It said that the treaty "contains provisions which need new consideration." It added that the United States was signifying its desire to terminate the pact "with a view to better safeguarding and promoting American interests as new developments may require."

Earlier in the day, Senator Pittman had said, "I haven't the slightest idea whether action will be taken on the resolution in this session."

He said also, however, that "anyone who reads the newspapers must have come to the conclusion that there is a definite change in the far-eastern situation."

Hull acted tonight following several statements this week by him regarding Japan. On Monday he expressed this government's concern over the increasing number of American-Japanese incidents in China.

Officer Assaulted.

Monday and yesterday he commented on the agreement reached Monday at Tokyo by Britain and Japan whereby Britain recognized Japan's "special requirements" in China and gave newspapermen clearly to understand that the United States policy in China would not be changed by this agreement.

Yesterday came an official notification from the Japanese that the Pearl River at Canton would be closed for two weeks

On Monday, an American naval warrant officer, Robert A. Baker, was assaulted at Hankow by a Japanese naval sentry and arrested. American naval authorities made a vigorous protest and procured his release.

Today came a dispatch recounting the slapping by Japanese of two more Americans at Peiping—Father Daniel Scannell, of the American Franciscan Mission of New York, and M. E. Smithberger, of Hampton, Minn.

Most officials at the State Department have looked askance at the application of an embargo to Japan, believing that it might provoke retaliation from the Japanese both in Japan and in China.

They have less objection to the denunciation of the 1911 treaty, however, since this gives the United States six months within which to make up its mind about the embargo, and also gives Japan the same length of time in which to alter her course if she desires.

They hope it will have the beneficial effect of bringing Japan, as they say, to her political senses, so that the embargo will not be necessary.

The United States is Japan's largest supplier of raw materials necessary for war operations. Principal products are cotton, iron and steel and petroleum. Senator Pittman's resolution for an embargo, however, excludes agricultural products.

Proponents of the embargo believe that its application would have such an effect on Japan as to check her in China and perhaps force her withdrawal.

Its opponents believe it is a step toward war on the grounds that Japan would retaliate, which would lead to counter-retaliation from this country and perhaps physical conflict.

The 1911 treaty was signed by the then secretary of state, Philander C. Knox, and Japanese Representative Yucida February 21, 1911. It was proclaimed by President William Howard Taft.

Senator La Follette, Progressive, Wisconsin, a member of the foreign relations committee, told reporters the State Department move was designed to show Japan that "the course of this country is wide open" in future dealings with the Japanese.

Declining to express approval or disapproval of the move until he knew more about it, La Follette told reporters:

"Everybody except the State Department is in the dark as to whether their objective is definitely to abrogate the existing treaty or to make a new treaty."

La Follette asserted that in view "of the recent adjustment in the Far East by Great Britain and France" it seemed obvious that this country was pursuing an independent Far Eastern policy.

Senator Pittman, Democrat, Nevada, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, said of tonight's announcement:

"I think it's a wise and justifiable act. You can hardly expect our government to conform to all the requirements of amity under one treaty while the other government does not conform to all the requirements of amity under another treaty with our government by the same party."

BWA RESOLUTIONS UP FOR ADOPTION

Unwise to Decide Now.

Other leaders, predicting that this matter will be referred to the executive committee, said they thought world conditions were so unsettled at present it would be unwise to accept the invitation now. Rangoon, India, and Budapest, Hungary, have made bids for the next Alliance.

Dr. Rushbrooke also indicated the next convention city selection will be postponed. Others said it may be a year before the city is named.

One particularly strong resolution will demand religious liberty over the whole of the earth and will sharply deny the right of any dictator, government, or institution to dictate how any man shall worship God or whether he shall worship at all.

If the congress adopts all the resolutions proposed by the committee, headed by M. E. Aubrey, of England, blows will be dealt religious persecution in Rumania and Russia specifically and possibly in Poland. The sale and use of liquor will be condemned, war will be condemned by support of the Baptist commission's report on war and peace, and better racial relations will be encouraged.

There will be no resolution indorsing the setting up of a world peace court as was recommended in the report of the commission which studied "What Baptists Can Do to Avert War and Promote Peace" but the commission and its work will be praised and commended, as will the two other commissions, on Christian unity, and the Oxford and Edinburgh conferences, the latter of which is to be made this morning.

Technical Matter.

Some "technical" differences on the manner in which the five-year evangelistic program of the world Baptists will be handled, developed at a meeting of the resolutions committee last night at the Druid Hills Baptist church, it was said.

However, Dr. James H. Rushbrooke, general secretary and newly elected president of the Alliance, said the matter was only technical and would be all right.

A resolution concerning this vast evangelistic five-year plan will be brought forth today. Members of the committee would not say as to how it differs from the plan as announced yesterday by Dr. W. Pitts Beers, of New York, chairman of the committee, which submitted it to the congress. The congress voted its adoption yesterday morning.

He indicated the committee had expected it would be consulted before action was taken on the evangelism report by the congress as a whole.

Another committee member said that the full resolutions were not released for publication last night because the committee did not want to run any risk of stirring up opposition to the method in which the evangelistic program would be carried out.

Press associations were given texts of the resolutions following the committee meeting last night but the representative of The Constitution did not examine any of the copies and did not receive press association digests of the resolutions.

ATLANTA, GA., JULY 27, 1939.

On Businesslike Basis

The Fulton county commission, yesterday afternoon adopted resolutions which include a complete reformation in the system of operation and upkeep of automobiles in county business. It is, on its face, a sincere effort to do away with all possibility of misuse of county automobiles for private purposes and places the county, in this item, on equal footing with the vast majority of competently conducted private business firms.

Under the new rules the county will not furnish automobiles to any employes. Each man needing a car will, as in private businesses, furnish his own machine. The county, however, will pay proper costs of operation, such as gasoline and oil consumption, etc., on a basis of the average official mileage recorded each month.

Thus the employe whose records show that it cost $100 a month to operate his car on county business, will be granted that sum, monthly, in addition to his salary. If, later, it is shown that he does not need this amount, the allowance will be properly reduced.

Cars now owned by the county may be purchased by those using them, but the price is to be set by a board of three outside, unbiased appraisers. The county may, if desirable, permit an employe to purchase such a car on the monthly installment basis.

Any cars not so sold, will be sold to others and the money used for the purchase of badly needed additional county trucks.

This, in general outline, is the plan adopted. It may, in operation, prove desirable to make minor changes in some details. But, speaking generally, it is the same system as that usually followed in private business and there is no reason why it should not work in the handling of county business.

The commissioners deserve highest commendation for this sincere effort to do away with an evil that has grown to large proportions. Their action should answer, completely, the criticisms which have been made anent private use of county-owned cars. Under the new plan this will no longer be possible. It is believed the change in method will result in saving many thousands of taxpayers' dollars annually, in the operation of Fulton county affairs.

Tarzan, the Institution

When any literary character, be it fish, flesh, fowl or whatnot, achieves so much fame that 30,000,000 copies of the novels built around that imagined individual are sold in 56 different languages and dialects, that character has come close to achieving immortality.

Such is Tarzan of the Apes, the creation of Edgar Rice Burroughs. Not only between the covers of published books, but via comic strip and moving picture screen, by radio and across the novelty counters, in every conceivable way, Tarzan is known and admired all over the world.

Now comes, perhaps, the crowning glory for Tarzan and his creator. The Saturday Evening Post, in its opening article of the July 29 issue, places Burroughs as "first and the rest nowhere" in the competition for "greatest living writer."

This classification is based, says the writer of the Post article, Alva Johnston, on three simple tests. The first is the size of the writer's public, the second his success in establishing a character in the consciousness of the world and the third the probability of his being read by posterity.

The Johnston article then gives some astonishing rules for success as a writer, taken from the life experiences of Burroughs. There are nine of these and each one seems totally contrary to any imaginable copybook maxim or orthodox guide to any successful career.

Anyway, you can read all about Tarzan, about his creator, Burroughs and about the town in California, Tarzana, named after the great hero of the wild places, in the Post.

And, each morning, you can follow Tarzan in a new adventure on the classified advertisement pages of The Constitution. But don't ever expect to see a lion victorious in combat with Tarzan. They dont know it, but the lions are framed before the struggles begin!

Then there was the Japanese afflicted with spots before the eyes, who was hustled off to the front to count falling Soviet planes.

Professor Wirz, Nazi spokesman, calls indulgence in meat "a form of treason," punishable as such. And how would this affect the condemned man's hearty breakfast?

Man: A creature who pulls on the working clothes to earn an outfit of spectator sports duds for each of the girls.

Just As Expected

The decision of a federal district court in the government's case against the American Medical Association, charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, was but as expected. The court sustained a demurrer filed by the defense, finding that the A. M. A. and its joint defendants are not engaged in a "trade" as defined in the statute.

Thus, it is to be hoped, the court attack against the Medical Association comes to a much-to-be-desired close. There should be, if those in charge of the government case exercise reasonable wisdom, no appeal from the decision. The filing of the case, in the first place, was one of the most fantastic developments of a period of bureaucratic fantasy.

No one, with a particle of knowledge concerning the medical profession, its ethics and the quality of the men engaged in its practice, could conceive for a moment of any widespread conspiracy within its ranks, in contravention of the law of the land. That doctors, of all people, should be accused of operating a "trust," was, on its face, an absurdity.

There is little room for doubting that the healing professions have brought more unselfish sacrifice, more lasting benefit to the human race than any other. It is their mission to heal and, with rare exception, that is the enthusiasm of their life. Pecuniary reward is of minor interest to most physicians.

There is no denial that there is great need of increased medical service and increased hospitalization in this country. Too many sections are without doctors, too many American citizens can find no proper medical service in their need.

But this condition will be improved. It will be a slow and long process, toward the ideal medical provisions for the entire nation. One thing, however, is certain. It will only be reached with the co-operation of the healing professions. Without them, any such effort is foredoomed to failure.

Now that the unnecessary attack on the A. M. A. is apparently over, both sides to the argument should promptly forget and start anew toward the goal that both desire.

One More Step

The south has won another step in the battle toward equality with other sections in the passage, by the house, of the Lea transportation bill. The ultimate outcome, however, will lie not in legislative direction, but in the determination of all southerners to free themselves of shackles forged over long years by powerful interests.

The Ramspeck amendment to the Lea bill directs an investigation of discriminatory rates by the Interstate Commerce Commission, which long has denied the south a rightful adjustment. While the amendment implements the battle of the south, it is no assurance that right will prevail. The inequalities can be ironed away only as all southerners unite in demands that action be taken.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has undertaken hearings into these discriminatory rates yet, with the characteristic indecision of an authoritative government agency, has delayed any action to correct injustices for months upon months.

While the Ramspeck amendment may be instrumental in forcing a decision, and a full investigation, in itself it will not obtain rectification of burdensome rates for the south. That will come only when the south forces it by the weight of justice. Northern and eastern interests have marshalled their forces through the years to keep the south in subjection. They will continue to do so as long as southerners remain more or less careless of their political force.

War, they say, must wait while the tough countries bring in the harvest. Only then will it be safe to beat the plowshares back into swords.

The shelter belts are coming to maturity in various sections of the land. And some day soon, no doubt, tax collectors will be shaking fugitives out of the trees.

If a man's as old as he feels, Monday is our day for pushing the Townsend plan.

THE KELLOGG PACT AS A FORCE FOR PEACE

(From The Philadelphia Inquirer.)

In the ten years that have elapsed since President Hoover on July 24, 1929, declared the Kellogg pact in effect, this treaty, designed to outlaw war as an agency of national policy and approved by more than 60 countries, has often been evaded and disregarded—but it has never been denounced.

Furthermore, studied effort of the aggressor powers to avoid mentioning the Kellogg pact suggests that they are not unconscious of the obligation they assumed when they signed the treaty solemnly committing them to condemn "war for the solution of international controversies."

Treaties to preserve peace have been, in this era, tragically scorned or ignored. Imperialistic nations have scrapped peace pledges in Europe, in Asia and in Africa. But does it necessarily follow that adoption of the Kellogg pact was so much time and energy wasted? Are the hopes it raised dead?

It would not appear so. The influence of this treaty conceivably has been a major factor in the new, bandit-style, undeclared warfare. Such evasion by the war-makers may indicate recognition of the treaty as a force for peace. Perhaps the dictators, consciously or not, are afraid of the Kellogg pact's forthright declarations.

For the time being, at least, Europe's scales seem to be tilted slightly toward peace rather than toward war. If economic conditions improve and international relations attain a more stable foundation, it is not unbelievable that the Kellogg pact, at last, will prove itself a definite and substantial safeguard for the maintenance of world peace.

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

FARLEY FACES DECISION WASHINGTON, July 26.—Muzzling Jim Farley seems to have become a fixed rule of presidential conduct. Reports from Hyde Park tell how the President terminated Farley's visit there by taking public relations into his own hands, doing the talking for both while his unfortunate guest grinned and bore it.

At every recent Roosevelt-Farley conference, the same thing has happened. During last summer's purge, when Farley returned to report from a long political trip, the President announced that Jim had said "everything was fine" after a conversation in which politics had been barely mentioned. Presumably, the President meant that Farley was optimistic about crop conditions or something else of the sort. But it is to be hoped, for the President's own sake, that the conversational topics during the recent meeting were somewhat more substantial.

From the rather belligerent manner of the President's description, it is doubtful that the meeting's outcome was entirely satisfactory. And in that case Jim Farley sails for Europe in the glum mood of a man who must soon make a supremely disagreeable decision. The decision, to put it bluntly, is whether to continue to go along with the President in his present political course. He has always gone along or kept his mouth shut. From old loyalty and old affection, he would like to go along now. But it is almost impossibly difficult to do so when the White House habitually treats him as an open or at least a potential enemy.

CRUCIAL TURN That is the essence of the turmoil about Farley's plan to rebel in the event of a third-term effort. No purpose is served by exploring the rights and wrongs of the matter, which are deeply involved in the palace politics of the White House. It's enough to say that, on the one hand, Jim Farley has been reluctant to join in many political projects suggested to the President by the New Dealers' group. On the other, the President long ago ceased to deal with Farley in the old, confidential way which nourished his loyalty and secured his continued obedience.

The recent history is fairly simple. The crucial turn of the Roosevelt-Farley relationship seems to date from Jim Farley's cross-country trip a month or so ago. It was another of those expeditions of political exploration at which Farley is so adept. In the old days, he would have have gone as the President's agent. This time he definitely did not. The President, or his intimate lieutenants, actually had observers posted along Farley's path to bring in independent information from the same areas.

Throughout the trip, Farley maintained an appearance of unquestioning allegiance to the President, and on his return intimated to friends that he was still going along. Just what Jim Farley discovered on his travels, however, he told no one. The White House was apparently convinced, by the independent observers, that he discovered considerable third-term sentiment among the Democratic organizations. At any rate, the President did not ask him a single political question. And while Farley nursed a growing resentment, White House habitues explained that the President had concluded he "didn't need Jim" any more.

UNITED THEY STAND? With matters at this difficult pass, the President chose to appoint Paul V. McNutt, the only man in politics whom Jim Farley admits to loathing, to a high position in the administration. The appointment was widely interpreted as an intentional slap at Farley. In any case, it put the finishing touches to the Farley state of mind. It may now be accepted that Farley has had pretty nearly as much as he can stand. He has said so to several cronies on Capitol Hill and elsewhere.

Thus, Farley is confronted with his disagreeable decision, between continuing to go along or leaving the White House reservation. In spite of the President and the New Dealers, Farley's ultimate choice remains vastly important. He is one of the most popular men in the country, as the polls indicate. He is still chairman of the Democratic national committee and there is no way of getting him out. His influence with the Democratic organizations remains unimpaired, and, even though circumstances force many organization leaders to support a third-term movement, Jim Farley's defection would take the heart out of their work.

Rather obviously, the President has been converted to the theory that Jim Farley is no longer with him. Because the President's dealings with Farley have been conditioned by his theory, there is now a chance that the theory will prove correct. Possibly the two men made up at Hyde Park. But meanwhile it is well to recall one of Jim Farley's own shrewd dicta on Democratic prospects in 1940. His words were, "We can win, but only if we're united."

Must Be Daytime.

When friend wife and I land, next month, from the Aquitania at Southampton, we'll have to take train for my old home, just outside Liverpool. Which means, I suppose, we'll go from Southampton to London and thence to Liverpool. May be a through train to Liverpool, I wouldn't know.

But one thing is already decided. If we don't get ashore until late in the day, we'll spend the night either at Southampton or London and go on to Liverpool the following day. For I'm not going to permit the wife, on her first visit to England, to travel through all the beautiful country after dark. It must be by daylight.

I'm not familiar, myself, with the south of England. Boyhood was spent in and around Liverpool and the north. A rare vacation trip to London was as far south as I ever got. Never landed or sailed, before, from any port save Liverpool.

But I recall that train journey from London to Liverpool as a delightful experience. The distance is a few miles more than 200 and they make it in four hours or less. Smooth, quiet roadbed and comfortable compartment car trains. Travel third-class, of course. No one with ordinary financial sense travels otherwise on the main lines, at least, in England.

Doesn't Seem As Fast As It Is.

Those trains don't seem to be traveling as fast as they are, really. The rails are so solid and smooth and firm there is no motion save the steady onward rush. We've simply got to secure window seats in a compartment, of course. Means we will have to get on the train a half hour, at least, before leaving time, or reserve seats.

If we eat in the diner friend wife will find not only the food is different from American food, but that the system is, too.

The official in charge of the diner comes through the train before time for the meal and asks if you wish to take, let us say, lunch. Then, if you answer affirmatively, he'll ask if you wish seats for the early or late luncheon, noon or 1 o'clock. Having specified your preference, he gives you a diner ticket and you pay for your meal right then.

The ticket calls for a specified, numbered seat in the diner. All are reserved and there's no standing in the corridor waiting for a vacancy.

Then, There Is Afternoon Tea.

Of course, if your journey is in the afternoon, they'll ask if you wish an afternoon tea tray about 4 o'clock. This is served right in your compartment. An attendant comes through with an individual tray for each passenger who has so ordered. On that tray there will be tea and a pot of hot water for those who wish to dilute the beverage. There'll be cream and sliced lemon, for your choice. There'll be sandwiches made with that thin daintiness peculiar to English sandwiches. There'll be sweet cookies and cake. All for a shilling—a quarter, to you.

Friend wife will have to learn lots of things. That English trains don't have a conductor, for instance. He's called the guard, and the locomotive engineer is the driver, the fireman is the stoker and the locomotive itself is the engine.

The depot, of course, is the station.

Come to think of it, I'll have to do some listening and learning, too. For, after all, 35 years of life on this side of the Atlantic brings forgetfulness of some of the idioms and phraseology and different word usage of the old country.

I'm already teaching friend wife something about English money, pounds, shillings and pence. About a quid and a bob and a tanner and 'arfacrown. Even about a thripnybit.

But she's finding it difficult. Can't grasp the values. So, I asked her what she'd say when they told her the price of anything she wanted to buy, if she couldn't tell the value of the currency.

"I'll just say it's too much," she replied. Which is pretty sensible, at that.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Suppose Such a Case NEW YORK July 26.—I am thinking of a case in which it is supposed that a picket line has been placed around a little corner cigar store because the store sells a brand of cigarets manufactured by a big company which is having union troubles. It is one of those intricate scraps over jurisdiction, and is largely political with both the AFL and the CIO claiming the personnel and wanting the numerical strength and the dues. But the owner of this little cigar store knows nothing about the merits of the case and, anyway, it isn't his fight, because he is not a stockholder of the tobacco company but just a customer. His store is in Ohio, say, and the factory is way down south — somewhere. He doesn't even know just where—exactly.

The union which is striking the manufacturer sends word to this little economic royalist that if he doesn't refuse to sell this manufacturer's cigaret it will picket him. Moreover, anybody belonging to any branch or offshoot of the big national organization, whether CIO or AFL, who crosses the picket line to buy anything at this store, even nonforbidden goods, may be deemed to have struck a blow at the labor movement and, on conviction in a trial by his own local, may be kicked out and barred from employment at his trade.

That makes the boycott pretty tight, but just to make sure, the union puts a picket line across the front of the store.

Pastor Protests But it happens that the owner of the store is a regular member of the congregation of a certain church in the neighborhood and a personal friend of the pastor. And the pastor, according to his right as a citizen, and, perhaps for the moral effect that his protest will have, decides to waltz right through the line and buy himself a package of gum.

At that, it becomes necessary to extend the picket line to cover the church, and the next Sunday when the people arrive for services they find pickets parading back and forth wearing signs declaring this church to be unfair to the Amalgamated Brotherhood of Cigaret Label Stickers or some such way to hell and gone in another part of the country.

The members of the congregation are a little sore and puzzled, but they file into the church, and as they pass through the line, zing! one woman gets conked with a throwing-tomato which smears up her Sunday hat, and a couple of the men are hustled around by strangers who yell, "Who do you think you are shoving?" and belt them over with sneak punches. Then the line sets up a yell of "rat, scab, fink!" at the people going to church, and keeping it up during the services.

Police Are Weak The cops come, but this town has a labor administration and the police just make them pipe down. The church members who were knocked over in the scuffle want the cops to make a couple of pinches, offering to identify the pickets who slugged them, but the pickets gang around and a dozen or more of them are willing to swear to cross-charges that the church members started the punching. So nothing comes of that. Nobody wants to drag a church into a brawl, and the circumstances are such that the public might get an impression that the church was anti-labor.

It has now come to the point that members of this congregation have got to fire their pastor, which they naturally refuse to do, or keep out of their church, which would be a sin.

They claim that there is now an issue of religious freedom, but the unioneers retort that if Christ were on earth today he would surely hold a card in the carpenters' union and disown a church which had committed itself against labor and, in spirit, through the unrepudiated act of its pastor in crossing the line to buy a package of gum, had cynically flouted the law of the land which upholds the Cigaret-Label Stickers' right of collective bargaining.

It gets all tangled up in arguments and ideology and, meanwhile, some union men in the congregation have been tried, convicted and fired out of their unions and perpetually barred from employment for crossing a picket line to patronize a scab church.

I don't know what happens next, because picketing in the secondary, tertiary and futher degrees up to infinity is still an experiment testing the patience of people who are picketed in disputes which are none of their business. Somewhere along the line there is a go-to-hell point.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH McGILL.

"ARE THERE ANY GUYS ON MARS?" It was very quiet on the bus. I was right in the middle of Douglas Reed's new book on Europe, "Disgrace Abounding," in which he rather castigates England and finds Mr. Chamberlain a tall manufacturer of brass screws who has sold out the decent people of the world. Hence it was with something of a shock when, as we waited for a light, the bus driver turned and asked:

"Do you really think there are any guys up on Mars?"

I was prepared to answer any sudden query on the Baptist World Alliance, on the Atlanta Crackers and their fortunes, on the weather, on the excellent vegetables of the summer, or on the political and financial problems of the state. The Mars question was a poser.

I am afraid I rather stammered in trying to answer. At the same time the light turned green and I had an entire block in which to think up an answer. It was rather lame. The next light was red.

"I hope so," said I.

"You do, really?" he asked. But then, some more passengers got on and from then on he was busy. I left the bus rather meekly. After thinking it over, I stand by my guns. I hope there are some guys up on Mars. And I hope, when the new telescope is ready out in California a year or so hence, we can have a look at them hoeing their gardens and going to pageants and leading a normal sort of life.

I think it well to confess that all these years I have felt a bit lonely, thinking that on all the other stars and planets there were no persons at all. It seemed a bit sad to think of us, turning lazily about the sun once a day, with all the other planets nude and uninhabited. It also seemed a bit selfish to think we had a monopoly on wars and rumors of wars, on unemployment and talk of a third term. I do hope there are some guys on Mars.

BALEFUL SPLENDOR Mars is burning with such baleful splendor these nights that it is difficult to believe the star, which the early centuries believed meant war, is all of 33,000,000 miles away. Mars is a beautiful star. The others look pale and silvery in comparison. Mars pulses with red fire.

The star is closer to us than it has been in 15 years and will not again be so close within the next two decades. It is fascinating reading, this star.

It appears from the authorities that Mars is older than Earth. It has grown smaller. It has lost much of its atmosphere and much of its water. This, so the scientists say, is because it lacks our gravity. It already has passed into a stage which Earth inevitably must pass a few million years hence. It is becoming a desert planet. We already have a desert ring about the earth. It is rather terrifying to realise that as the years go on the belt will grow wider; that on Earth our oxygen will combine more and more with the rocks; that Earth even now is dying slowly but surely as the inexorable years march on and as the music of the spheres takes on the sound of a dirge. Perhaps it is better, after all, to be born in the 20th century and not the ten thousandth century.

Mars, they know, has winter and summer. The scientists even estimate the temperature as being 115 below zero in winter and 65 degrees in summer. They can tell us that the amount of free water on Mars probably would fill our own lake Erie, a rather sizeable lake. The atmosphere is much thinner than at Mexico City and there are clouds which float about the planet.

Now a gentleman in South Africa, where the atmosphere is clearer than in any other section, for the first time has photographed Mars with color, using a special chlorophyll detector. Chlorophyll is that element which makes plants green and which enables them to take light and create energy. That, if substantiated, is of really great importance.

LIFE ON MARS If science is substantiated by later developments or by the new telescope now in the process of construction and which is much more powerful than any now in use, it means there is life on Mars. Perhaps not any guys on Mars, but if it can be found there is vegetation, it means there is life.

It means that life is a sort of universal principle. And not merely an accident on earth. Man, of course, is a different matter. Perhaps there is not Man on Mars. It may be that he did not evolve from the primeval ooze. Or that he was not created. Or, perhaps there may be Man on Mars. Or, for that matter, on several of the hundreds of other stars and planets we can see or on others we cannot see.

Perhaps we are not, after all, alone. It may be that on some relatively new, unseen planet, swinging along its orbit, life is just beginning. Perhaps the first verterbrate has crawled up on land and decided to try and develop the accessories necessary to remaining on land. Perhaps there the beginnings of the great march from darkness to consciousness is just beginning. It is not necessarily true that only we and Mars are old planets. Or that only on earth has mind come into being.

Life on Mars—even vegetation—is one of the most exciting prospects of the age. I am grateful to the bus driver.

The Rich and the Poor Are Cared For, But Nobody Takes Thought Of the Middle Class

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

Now that our benevolent government has remembered all of the other forgotten people, isn't it about time to remember the poor who support themselves and save money for their old age and yet have no security?

The banks have been made safe for small depositors, but, with money so plentiful and cheap, they have almost quit paying interest. And other methods of obtaining a return on savings are dangerously speculative or almost barren. Only the luckiest of the poor find safe investments that will return enough to provide food and shelter in their old age.

Some years ago a man with a good idea formed a $30,000,000 company to exploit the riches of South America. By a combination of inexcusable stupidities the project failed, and the investors lost every dollar they had put into it.

That is typical of the greater part of the history of investment in America. Every year, in every city and town in the land, men with money-making ideas form companies to get capital and sell stock to those who are called small investors. For various reasons, nine in every ten of these companies eventually fail, taking with them into oblivion the hard-earned savings of the poor.

The companies that succeed are operated, for the most part, for the benefit of the big stockholders who are on the inside. In the days of good looting, these insiders issued and sold so much stock the business can never hope to pay dividends on all of it. That isn't done now, but officers still juggle their own stock, taking advantage of melon-cuttings before the little stockholders know what is going to happen.

Companies that pay little or no dividend are still prosperous enough to pay enormous salaries to their officers. And other companies, making huge profits, adopt a "conservative dividend policy." Since their officers and chief stockholders have big incomes, their dividends would be heavily taxed. To avoid this, they keep the profits in the treasury, and the little stockholders get nothing to live on.

For generations the little people—the small investors—have worked and scrimped and saved to provide the countless millions that financed industry and commerce. It is like a cruel tax or an outright gift—the many working to build up the few. Most of the money is lost; the rest fails to pay a fair return.

There are millions of these little people saving to provide for their old age or their families. If private business can't provide them safe and fair investments, why can't the government sell them annuities?

Life insurance companies sell annuities to the rich, and the government has baby bonds for the poor. But the middle class has no investment that provides absolute safety and a return generous enough to buy security.

LD-TIME REVIVAL ELD DOWNTOWN, RAWS BIG THRONG

ven Bankers Join in Singing of Hymns at Unique Feature of Sixth Baptist Congress.

By WILLARD COPE.

They brought the temple down the money-changers yesterday, d the money-changers with their lies, confederates, minions, and od-looking stenographers fell etty hard. It was even reported at a lawyer attended this down-wn old-time revival meeting of e Baptist World Alliance, but, of urse, it's a hard matter to prove thing like that.

Certainly financiers were there, d it ought to be added that the evailing belief the only thing a nker can say—or sing—is "no," inaccurate, misleading and li-lous. Bankers can sing songs ght well, it turned out, once they anage to turn loose of themselves d roar freely.

Stockbrokers, insurance agents, wer Company myrmidons of gh and higher degree—there be-g none of low degree—office ys, automobile salesmen, de-artment store people and all the eauty and chivalry of the office uildings were there, and what is ore, they were singing away and aving the time o. their lives.

The scene was the block of Wal-on street between Peachtree and road streets. The idea was that lot of people work downtown ho, for some reason known only themselves, haven't been around any of the sessions of the sixth ongress of the Alliance, and herefore the congress should pay hem a visit.

Successful Songfest.

Arranged by Dr. Louie D. New-on, the meeting was vastly suc-essful as a songfest. It leveled off bit when the politicians entered he proceedings—that is to say, when Mayor Hartsfield and Gov-rnor Rivers gave brief addresses f welcome. It climbed back up ome when the Rev. Oscar John-son—a mountain of a man with leonine voice—entered the fray. But the songs were the things that ounted. . . .

Such songs they were, "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder," "In the Sweet Bye and Bye," "At the Cross," "When Jesus Washed My Sins Away," "Coming Home," "Rock of Ages," "The Old Rugged Cross . . ."

Everybody Sang.

Everybody knew those songs, and under the persuasive direction of John B. Hoffman, song leader, and carried along by the faithful and willing Salvation Army band, they sang or hummed or followed in some other tonal fashion, happily forgetful of lunch time and missed vitamins.

For an hour, or perhaps a trifle longer, the meeting, or singing, went on, specially protected by ropes and a system of rerouted traffic. It could easily have turned into a camp meeting of much longer duration had circumstances allowed.

Governor, Mayor Speak.

Both the Governor and mayor had a good word to say for old-time religion. Both expressed the view it would be nice if there were more of it in everyday life. Both were very happy indeed that the Baptists had come to town.

The relgious speaker, the ample Rev. Oscar Johnson, dealt with the Baptist navy and of its "ships," namely, friendship, fellowship and comradeship.

Message Reaches Out.

His voice was audible a very considerable distance. And his message went resounding through streets and along the tall buildings. It, with the songs, reached even to high ledges and windows where occupants of offices not yet released leaned in interest.

It was a downtown revival meeting, no doubt. But mostly it was the singing. Even the bankers went back to their offices somewhat chastened, and humming quietly to themselves. Possibly a few loans were okayed during the afternoon.

INDIAN WILL SPEAK.

NEWNAN, Ga., July 26.—Miss Ila R. Sircar, young native of India, who has been outstanding in youth's religious work in that country, will speak at the First Presbyterian church here Sunday night, according to the pastor, Rev. J. E. Hannah.

Downtown Baptist Revival Draws Hundreds to Hear Noon-Hour Service

Hundreds of stenographers and salesgirls, shirt-sleeved clerks and soda jerkers, bankers and businessmen, lawyers, doctors and candlestick makers jammed Walton street between Peachtree and Broad during the hot noon hour yesterday to hear an old-time Baptist revival with the Rev. Oscar Johnson, of St. Louis, preaching. This motley, seething mass of humanity, which you see pictured from one of the tall office buildings towering above, echoed "The old-time religion is good enough for me." In the circle is the St. Louis revivalist leading the flock which sacrificed lunch to hear him.

GOOD MORNING

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

THE 'SHIPS.

Dr. Oscar Johnson, of St. Louis, in that remarkable sermon Wednesday noon at the street meeting, conducted in downtown Atlanta as an extension of the Baptist World Alliance sessions, spoke of the great 'ships—discipleship, fellowship, friendship, comradeship and citizenship—all 'ships which find their true and lasting expressions in personal faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

It was an excellent example of effective preaching, free from any of the cheap tricks sometimes employed by street preachers and speakers, a sermon based on the vital truth of personal belief in a personal Saviour and Lord. I like the order in which Dr. Johnson named these 'ships. There can be no fellowship, friendship, comradeship or citizenship that will ultimately please God and help the world that does not fruit from personal relationship to Christ.

One remembers the words of the Gospel of John: "I am the true Vine, and My Father is the Husbandman . . . I am the Vine, ye are the branches. Apart from Me, ye can do nothing." Thus as we become His disciples—new creatures in Christ Jesus through faith in His atoning blood—we may then bear fruit, even the fruits of the Spirit, which will come to rich and abiding harvests of fellowship, friendship, comradeship and citizenship. And these qualities have both the personal and social expression which sums up Christianity.

A very important part of that memorable street service Wednesday noon was the contribution of the Salvation Army band, directed by Colonel Young and his remarkably able corps of musicians who are devoting this entire week to the Baptist World Alliance. They were in the parade last Saturday, and have given concerts at every session at Ponce de Leon park to the great joy of everybody. Commissioner William C. Arnold honored us with his presence for the meeting Wednesday, leading the prayer.

John D. Hoffman did a grand job as song leader. Many people have spoken to me of their enjoyment of the singing of the old hymns, both those who attended the meeting and those who listened over the radio. It was a convincing testimony of the love which abides in hearts everywhere for the hymns of the Christian religion.

Mayor Hartsfield, Governor Rivers and Chief of Police Hornsby spoke assuring words regarding the significance of the street meeting and of the entire congress. The purpose of the meeting was to take the congress to those who could not get to the congress. It was fine.

No Sales--No Work, For Alarm Salesman

No sales—no work.

That, briefly, was the situation yesterday with Eddie Hughes, burglar alarm salesman for the city, who announced he will resign August 1.

Since Hughes was hired six months ago by city council—at a salary of $150 a month—he has not made a single sale according to C. H. Dillingham, superintendent of the police burglar alarm service.

The mayor's office stated the post which will be vacated by Hughes will be abolished.

SEEKS END TO BUYING OF FOREIGN SILVER

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(AP)—Senator Townsend, Republican, Delaware, sought today to curb all Treasury purchases of foreign silver by attaching a rider to the administration's $2,490,000,000 lending bill.

Recalling that the senate had voted to end foreign silver buying when it first passed the recent monetary bill, the Delaware Republican demanded the same provision be included in the pending legislation.

THIS MORNING

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES II.

"The crown jewel of humanity is freedom of conscience."

Separation of church and state is as important now as it was in the Middle Ages when wars were waged to maintain it. But today it is the state which threatens the church, not the church the state. That, we believe, is what Dr. George Washington Truett, president of the Baptist World Alliance, must have had in mind when he declared at the congress in Atlanta last week that "the people of the United States are so thoroughly persuaded of the correctness of the and state, as in this country, that position of separation of church they find themselves surprised that all lands do not have this same principle regnant. . . ."

With Germany and Russia obviously in example, Dr. Truett continued: "To us it is axiomatic that every person has indisputable right, the God-given right, to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience. The crown jewel of humanity is freedom of conscience. No person or institution should dare to invade the realm of conscience and prescribe how men must worship and punish them if they fail to carry out such prescription."

Pastor of the biggest Baptist church in the world—the First, of Dallas, Texas—Dr. Truett serves both his church and his country when he reminds us that the principle of separation of church and state is an accepted one in America, one of which Americans are "so thoroughly persuaded" that they are surprised when they find other people not so persuaded. The state does not threaten the church in America. And the church threatens the state nowhere, in America or anywhere else. The threat abroad is of state to church.

If some of our New Dealers could forget politics enough to know it, a very keystone of the New Deal is the Hatch bill forbidding political activity to federal employes. Their conviction that the federal government must go on dispensing money and jobs in unprecedented measure as a means of maintaining the national economy should make them the very first to wish done all that needs to be done to save the principle of democracy from what this money and these jobs can do to it unless controlled.

They may feel that nothing is quite so important as keeping the New Deal in office and that the Hatch bill would cripple efforts to keep it there. But if the New Deal cannot be retained in office without the political activity of men who are beneficiaries of federal jobs or money, then that is proof enough that democracy is endangered by keeping the New Deal in office.

And what many of these who would keep New Dealers in office at any price are forgetting is that no power on earth can undo the New Deal now. The dealers may go, but the deal will remain, come Republicans, conservative Democrats, or anybody else. So long as ours remains a democracy and the will of the people rules no administration at Washington will ever be permitted to deny what Walter Lippman has called "the new imperative"—the responsibility of government to do what it can for the economic well-being of its citizens and especially of those who are least able to take care of themselves.

So long as there is democracy, there will be, in fundamental, the New Deal. That is why it is folly for sincere New Dealers to oppose a measure like the Hatch bill directed to protection of democracy from certain inescapable features of the New Deal.

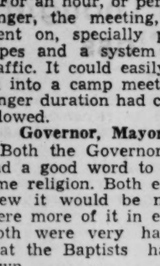
MRS. T. E. HOLLIS DIES IN FLORIDA

Services for Former Atlantan Will Be Held Today in Fort Myers.

Mrs. Theo E. Hollis, wife of a former Constitution linotype operator and a sister-in-law of R. Lee Hollis, of the Georgian printing department, died yesterday morning at her home in Fort Myers, Fla.

A resident here for many years, she had visited the city frequently since moving to Fort Myers.

In addition to her husband she is survived by four sons, Allen and J. C. Clements and Ernest and Charles Hollis. Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon at Fort Myers.



WILSON KEMP

SURE--YOU CAN BORROW ENOUGH MONEY TO GET RID OF YOUR DEBTS

"No matter how much a man owes, Mr. Kemp, can he borrow enough to pay off ALL his old debts?"

"Sure! he can, Mr. Reporter; he can get all he needs—without embarrassing questions, without exorbitant interest rates, on small monthly repayments—and without delay. He can get the loan he wants AT ONCE—without any 'ifs,' 'ands' or 'buts' . . . if he goes to the Industrial Loan and Security Company."

$50 to $1,000 at Once

"Mr. Reporter, you can be sure of what I say," said Mr. Kemp. "Also make a note of this:

"You can be sure that the formal application of the Industrial Loan people is a simple one . . . easy for anyone, even a child, to understand.

"You can be sure that the application for a loan will be passed on immediately. The borrower won't have to wait for a finance committee, for the auditor, the bookkeeper, or someone else to pass on his application, which may take several days or a week.

"You can be sure, too, that no vexing and perplexing questions are going to be asked.

"You can be sure, also, that a man is sick enough of his debts, without undergoing the torture of harassing questions, unnecessary delays and objectionable weekly or monthly repayment terms.

"You can be positivaly sure that the Industrial Loan and Security Co. will extend him every courtesy. Give him such money as he needs without quibbling. And he can take 6, 12, 18 months, or two full years to repay.

"And be sure to tell the readers that every loan is made in confidence, secrecy and at low rates.

This is one of a series of advertisements covering interviews with Mr. Kemp, which appears regularly in this paper. Mr. Kemp is executive vice president in charge of the Industrial Loan & Security Co., at 221 Grant Building. Visit Mr. Kemp. He will gladly advise you on all money matters.

WEEP FOR LOVE

As Elizabeth Is Dancing With Roy Selby in London Her Frock Is Torn

By RUBY M. AYRES.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

When Derek Challoner, stodgy English landowner, sees dainty Stella Dawson playing a small part in a suburban theater he forgets his vow not to marry again. Imposing Narrow Lane Hall depresses his young bride, but he prefers the country to living in his house in London. Stella is happy after her baby is born until the Challoner tradition puts little Elizabeth in charge of a nurse, then governess. After seven unhappy years she welcomes the open adoration of impecunious Pip Hulbert. When divorce looms she pleads with Derek for Betty. He refuses and after she marries Pip, Betty pines and Derek's doctor says she will die if not permitted to go to her mother. When Elizabeth is 16 Pip is killed in an accident and Stella is inconsolable. While on a bus trip a year later Elizabeth meets Kim Lawless after disregarding a warning to trespassers and picking primroses in his wood, she likes him and he says he hopes she will come again. Derek dies, leaving half his wealth to Elizabeth if she quits her mother and lives with her Aunt Thornley. Her stepsister Penelope can't understand her decision to remain with her mother. Penelope tells her she was to marry Lawless but he broke the engagement. Stella dies and Elizabeth lives with Miss Thornley. She meets Lawless at the Selbys' dance and then at their place in Somerset. Penelope becomes ill in Paris and as Kim drives Elizabeth to Dover for the night boat he tells her he loves her. In her delirium Penelope calls for Kim. She is in despair, fearing she has lost her singing voice. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

INSTALLMENT XVIII.

He looked a little abashed, but he said that if someone didn't shoot the birds and rabbits the place would soon be overrun with them.

"Why won't you come?" he appealed.

"I can't leave Penelope." Elizabeth told him. "Not that she seems to want me, but—"

"I want you," he said eagerly, "and the mater will love to have you, and so will Barbara. Besides, you want a change after all you have been through."

But Elizabeth could not make up her mind to go.

"Will there be a big house party?" she asked.

"Nobody but you, if you'd rather not, he assured her. "Lawless might turn up for a week end, but—"

"Perhaps I'll come later on," Elizabeth interrupted; and then, against her will, she found herself asking: "How is Mr. Lawless?" as if he was just a casual acquaintance of whom for some time she had had no news.

"He's all right," Roy told her, rather impatiently. "Been a bit quiet lately. No such a sport as usual. But, if you don't like him, I can easily give him the tip to stay away," he promised boyishly.

Elizabeth smiled then, because it seemed funny that he should understand so little when she felt that there had been betrayal in every word she uttered.

"I'll think it over and let you know," she said.

Roy frowned.

"I can't see why you need shut yourself up and refuse to go anywhere just because your sister has been ill," he grumbled. "I don't suppose she would make a hermit of herself if you were lying at death's door. Will you come to a show with me? I haven't seen anything of you for so long."

Elizabeth shook her head.

"Well, let me take you out to dinner. We needn't dress, and we can go somewhere quiet, if you'd rather." He took her by the shoulders, shaking her with tender solicitation. "What's the matter with you?" he demanded.

"There's nothing the matter with me," she insisted. "And if you won't take 'No' for an answer—very well, I'll come to dinner with you, and to a show. And I'll wear my smartest frock—if I've still got one."

"I adore you when you look like that," Roy said, but, as she turned away, he added hastily: "All right, all right. I'll take all that back. I don't adore you a bit. And I'll behave like a cousin or a brother, if you like, if only you'll let me take you out. Can we go tonight?"

"If you can get the tickets."

He laughed happily. "I can get the moon if you want it," he promised rashly.

It was a surprise to Elizabeth to find that once Roy had got his own way, she really looked forward to the evening. She chose her prettiest frock and dressed her soft hair in the newest fashion with little flat curls on top of her head, but, at the last moment when she knew that Roy was downstairs waiting for her, and she turned for a final critical glance in the long mirror ,she fancied that she could see the shadowy outline of another man's tall figure behind her shoulder. She swung sharply round, catching her breath, only to relax again with a little shamed laugh.

She must not think of him. They had said their good-bye long ago.

"Dinner before the show, supper afterwards," Roy said gaily, as they drove away. Then he glanced down at her. "Is it against the rules to tell you that you look like an angel?"

"Quite against the rules," she answered firmly.

"Right!" He was in too good spirits to be easily depressed, and they had a merry dinner, laughing and talking together like a couple of children.

"This is like it used to be," he said affectionately, when they reached the theater, and he took advantage of the crowd in the foyer to squeeze her hand.

They were a little late. "The best people always are," he whispered, as they were shown to their seats.

"We've got the best seats, anyway," she whispered back, for they were in the middle of the second row of stalls.

"I hope there'll be someone here we know," Roy said.

"Why?" she asked.

And he answered audaciously: "Because I want to be seen with you."

The play was a light farce which Roy had chosen deliberately, because he considered that Elizabeth needed "cheering up."

He would have been disappointed to know that she did not care a great deal for it and would have much preferred something more serious. But she laughed and applauded generously, which was all he needed to assure him that she was enjoying it as much as he was.

"And now for more food," he said gaily, as they made their way out.

"I don't think I can eat anything more," Elizabeth objected doubtfully, but he assured her that after a few dances she would find she was quite hungry. Elizabeth's first little setback occurred when, in the cloakroom, she caught sight of a girl so like what Penelope used to be that for a moment she stood staring at her. The same tall, rather arrogant figure, and neat head—the same wonderful flair for clothes. Even when she turned around and Elizabeth could see that she did not really in the least resemble Penelope, the likeness seemed to remain.

She wondered what Penelope was doing at this moment? Perhaps she had gone to bed. It was nearly midnight and perhaps she was lying awake, staring into the darkness, tormenting herself with thoughts of what might have been.

"Are you leaving your cloak, Miss?" the attendant asked.

Elizabeth gave herself a little determined shake and Penelope vanished.

"I've got a table," Roy told her when she rejoined him, "although the place is packed."

He waited boyishly for the appreciation which was not forthcoming, and then, with a little shrug of resignation, he followed Elizabeth into the crowded room.

Dancing was practically impossible, but they managed to progress at snail's pace around the floor.

"It will clear later on," Roy said optimistically. "Let's have supper first and then try again."

A bunch of lilies-of-the-valley lay on the table beside Elizabeth's plate.

"How lovely—do they give us all lilies?" she said unthinkingly. And then Roy's face fell as he answered, in rather an injured voice, that he had ordered them especially for her.

"How silly of me. I'm so sorry," she apologized, and impulsively touched his hand in a mute caress, which made him smile again.

The orchestra was playing the "Lambeth Walk," and Roy started.

"We must dance this. It's too good to miss."

"If we can find room," she said resignedly.

They squeezed their way between the closely-packed tables, but they had only danced a few steps, when Elizabeth suddenly gave a little cry.

"Oh — someone has stepped on my frock. Look!"

She held up the torn silk for Roy's inspection.

"Clumsy idiots!" he said indignantly. "Can it be mended?"

"I'll ask the cloakroom attendant."

He went with her as far as the door.

"You go back to the table," she said breathlessly. "I won't be long. She'll just stitch it together for me; it can be done properly afterwards."

She broke into a little run as he turned away, and almost ran into the arms of a man who was coming towards the restaurant.

Elizabeth drew back swiftly with a little smile of apology, which died on her lips as she looked up into the face of—Kim Lawless . . .

For a moment she just stared at him, her lips parted, her color fading treacherously. Then she said, as if it were the only thing of importance in the world:

"Someone stepped on my skirt—the room is so crowded. I'm just going to see if it can be mended."

The shadow of a smile crossed his face though he looked a little pale.

"Most things can be mended—can't they?" he asked. But she passed him without answering and went on her way.

She felt curiously breathless and her heart was racing as if she had been badly frightened, but she stood at quiet attention with while the cloakroom attendant made a rather clumsy job of the torn frock and snapped off the thread.

Brotherhood Plea Cheered by Baptists

"This world must be brothered or it will be brutalized," as the statement repeated three times yesterday before English speaking Baptists at the auditorium and three times a mighty wave of cheers rose from throats of the audience as Professor Gordon B. Hancock, of Richmond, Va., concluded an address on the "Color Challenge."

This was one of five language group meetings held simultaneously as part of the sixth congress of the Baptist World Alliance.

Baptists' Status in Reich Is Described

German Minister Says Fate of Church Members 'Is in Good Hands' Under Rule of the Fuehrer.

About 300 German-speaking visitors to the Baptist World Alliance yesterday heard the Rev. F. Rockchies, of the First Baptist church in Berlin, explain the liberties enjoyed by Baptists in Germany.

German Baptists, he said, may hold as many meetings as they like in their churches and chapels; they may have their prayer meetings and carry on their work with the young people; and they are permitted to cover the nation with an evangelical campaign and preach the true gospel as they have done for a number of years. This latter freedom, he added, was not enjoyed under the pre-war imperial regime.

Principal Speaker.

The Rev. Rockchies was the principal speaker at the German-speaking group meeting, presided over by Paul Schmidt, secretary of the Baptist Union of Germany.

"We are convinced," Dr. Rockchies stated, "that the German Fuehrer has full confidence in the integrity of Baptists and their loyalty to the present government. With God Almighty still in control of human affairs, and with Adolph Hitler, who has led the German people out of a desperate situation into unity and strength, our fate is in good hands."

Dr. Hans Luckey, biographer of Oncken, made a short talk on the German Baptist situation in Germany.

"German Baptists are experiencing a happy time," he said. "Evangelism is growing at a tremendous pace and congregations are constantly increasing."

"It is our great desire that peace be kept in the world, both for you and for ourselves," he concluded.

Spoke in German.

Both men spoke in German, their speeches being interpreted by Professor William A. Mueller, of Philadelphia.

After Rockchies and Luckey had finished, Schmidt, as chairman, answered a number of questions passed up to him from the audience.

Among the questions was one asking if it is true that the German government is trying to eliminate the doctrine that Christ was a Jew.

In answer Schmidt said: "The German government does not concern itself about the elimination of the Jewish element in the Bible. While there are people in Germany, and in other parts of the world who would not be willing to believe that Jesus was a Jew, we, as Baptists, do not consider these people to be a real danger to the Christian faith, and their number is constantly decreasing."

Named Vice President

Dr. L. K. Williams, of Chicago, who was elected one of the vice presidents of the Baptist World Alliance representing the vast Negro membership.

GRAND JURY INDICTS 104 IN HARLAN CLASH

HARLAN, Ky., July 26.—(AP)—A clash between United Mine Workers' pickets and national guardsmen in which two miners were killed brought indictments today against 104 persons, including the CIO union's president and secretary in the Harlan coal field.

A special grand jury handed the indictments to Circuit Judge James M. Gilbert with a recommendation that the aggregate bail be set at $535,000, then resumed its investigation.

MISS PEARL HOYAL DIES IN 60TH YEAR

Atlantan, Member of Baptist Tabernacle, Was Active in Religious Work.

Miss Pearl Hoyal, 59, a graduate of the old Tabernacle infirmary, now the Georgia Baptist hospital, and a well-known religious worker, died Tuesday night at her home, 125 West Peachtree place, N. E.

A resident here for many years, she was a member of the Baptist Tabernacle and took a leading part in the work of the missionary society and other church groups.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Maddox, of Thomaston, and Mrs. Lena Kennedy, of Atlanta, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be conducted at 9:30 o'clock this morning at the chapel of Awtry and Lownes by Dr. Marshall Mott and Dr. W. H. Knight. Burial will be at Thomaston.

W.C.T.U. Tag Says: Drivers, Don't Drink

Distribution of "If You Drive Don't Drink" tags to automobile owners was announced yesterday by Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, as part of a campaign to reduce the death toll on the highways.

STRAWBRIDGE UNIT WILL DANCE AGAIN

Dunaway Gardens To Be Scene Tomorrow.

Edwin Strawbridge, famous American dancer, will present another of his programs in the Patchwork Barn theater at the Hettie Jane Dunaway Gardens, near Newnan, at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

Working with his partner, Virginia Miller, Strawbridge has arranged for this week a series of dances, including a dramatic fantasy in one-act by Ernest Dowson, "Pierrot of the Minuet," in which the pupils of the summer classes take part. In "A Japanese Maiden," which Miss Miller dances, an ancient Japanese noh mask presented to Strawbridge by the great Japanese dancer, Bando Mitsugoro, is worn.

Other masks to be used in the dances were hand carved by Professor Goldschmidt, of Munich, Germany.

Other dances on the Friday program are: "Prelude to Revot," Debussy; "Voice of the People," Squmbati, and Strauss' "Tales From Vienna Woods."

On the program Estelle Best, accompanist for Strawbridge, will play a series of solos. Fred Spires and Henry Omand will assist in the production.

Japanese, Chinese Messengers Disagree

Presentation of Conflicting Testimony on Their Respective Missionary Fields Causes Dispute.

The undeclared war between Japan and China almost transferred itself to the speakers platform at Ponce de Leon park last night as outstanding messengers to the Baptist World Alliance from those two nations arose to present conflicting testimony on the missionary fields in their respective countries.

First came Dr. William Axling, of Tokyo, who for many years has been outstanding in Baptist work in Japan. A statement by Dr. Axling was widely circulated recently by the Japanese as propaganda against the Chinese.

He told of the great mission field in Japan and declared that Christians in that country were giving a great deal of their money to further the program of the church.

Chinese Pastor Objects.

Then followed an appeal to send money and men into Japan which along with China he classed as "largely the victim of circumstance."

That statement was not too pleasing to the representative from China, the Rev. Wu Chi Chung. When he arose to speak, he displayed a Chinese flag and explained the meaning of the white star, the blue blackground and the large field of red which he said signified a people with a heart. As he proceeded with his subject he was interrupted by the banging of Dr. G. W. Truett's gavel and a hasty whisper from the alliance president in his ear.

Abruptly the tone of the prepared speech changed. The reference to the war was omitted except for the statement that since the beginning of hostilities church membership in China had doubled.

Portion of Talk Deleted.

The portion of the address which was deleted, it was learned, contained an appeal to send money and missionaries to China where the expenditure would be more wisely made than in Japan.

Later in the address that appeal was again omitted.

Tactfully the situation was smoothed over and the meeting proceeded with the crowd of 25,000 unaware of the controversy which had been averted.

Dr. Wu touched on the political future of China and stated emphatically that "China will not turn red, but will, instead, become a great Christian nation. It will be China which will evangelize Asia."

Last night's program was a missionary demonstration with moving pictures of mission activities in India, Africa and South America shown before what was believed to be the world's largest motion picture audience.

The screen was the largest ever used to show 16 mm. film, it was announced. For the 40-foot screen the film was magnified 300,000 times, it was said.

An address, "Look on the Fields," by Dr. Earle V. Pierce, set the theme for the meeting, and was followed by pictures depicting mission work in India, with an explanation by Rev. E. C. Brush.

Dr. J. B. McLaurin, Cocanada, India, then presented a picture of "The Church in India Today."

Dr. Jackson Speaks.

"Negroes in the Work of Foreign Missions" was discussed by Dr. J. H. Jackson, of Philadelphia, who declared that the negro church has often been accused of being interested only in mission work among Africans or the sons of Africa.

"The Work of Southern Baptists in South America" was accompanied by a movie illustrating the address by Dr. W. C. Taylor.

BAPTIST HEADS FETED BY CROZER SEMINARY

Leaders of the Baptist World Alliance were among invited guests last night at the Crozer Seminary banquet, held in the Davison-Paxon tea room, with Dr. E. E. Harkness, professor of church history at Crozer, in charge.

The guest list included Dr. James H. Rushbrooke, new president of the Alliance; Dr. George W. Truett, retiring president; Mrs. Ernest Brown, of London; Dr. Gilbert Laws, and Dr. W. O. Lewis.

ELECTRICITY IS SOUGHT FOR 300 GEORGIA HOMES

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

LAGRANGE, Ga., July 26.—Plans for the erection of 100 miles of additional electric lines for Meriwether, Troup, Harris and Muscogee counties will be sent to Washington this week for approval of the Rural Electrification Administration.

The Troup County Electric Membership is seeking a loan of $80,000 in order that 300 more homes in these counties may be served.

CHURCH 'DABBLING' IS WARNED AGAINST

English Speaking Baptist Group Hears Denunciation of Meddling in Politics.

Dabbling of the church in politics and social affairs must stop if Christianity is to survive, according to Dr. Gilbert Laws and Dr. W. E. Dodd, both of whom spoke before the English-speaking group meeting of the Baptist World Alliance yesterday afternoon at the auditorium.

"The love of money produces evils in the state, in schools and in the church," said Dr. Dodd, of Shreveport, "and I know whereof I speak, for I come from Louisiana."

"Religion has been brought down to a level with civic clubs," Dr. Dodd charged, "and until the Christians of the world return to the evangelistic interpretation of religion, the church can be no more than a secular organization babbling platitudes."

The Rev. Laws, who comes from Norwich, England, made a scortching accusation of modern politics as he declared, "People who hold views, and maintain practices, diametrically opposed to morals continue to occupy important circles in public life."

Modern literature came in for its share of abuse as the Englishman described it as "putrid." "When adultery and fornication are merely amusing there is something rotten in those who find it so," he declared as a wave of applause broke from the 4,000 or more who heard his eloquent address.

"The Color Chaallenge" was discussed by Professor Gordon Hancock, of Richmond, Va., who declared that a church which "lacks the courage to face squarely the olor challenge cannot be entrusted with the weighter questions of human destiny. Unless the church will accept the challenge that racialism has thrust in its pathway, it must decline and die.

Also included in the discussions was a report of Dr. Gordon S. Jury, of Rangoon, on the "Present Situation in Burma," and from H. Sidwell, of Tasmania, concerning "Baptists Under the Southern Cross."

Dr. C. H. Sears, of New York, presided over the meeting in the absence of the international chairman, Dr. John Ewing, of London, and introduced Dr. J. H. Rushbrooke, president-elect of the alliance, who was greeted with a great cheer as the crowd rose to its feet.

The Rev. R. F. Smith, of Queensland, Australia, led the brief worship.

U. S. INCOME UP BILLION IN 1939

Wages Rise, Dividends and Interest Drop for First Half-Year.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(AP)—The Commerce Department reported today that an increase in wages boosted the national income in the first six months of this year nearly $1,000,000,000 above the same period of 1938.

The total income received from wages, dividends, rents, and other sources was estimated at $32,496,000,000 for the first half of 1939, compared with $31,538,000,000 in the first half of last year.

Wage payments jumped from $20,683,000,000 in the first half of 1938 to $21,696,000,000 in the first six months of 1939. Dividends and interest payments, meanwhile, declined from $4,026,000,000 last year to $3,968,000,000, and all other income payments except social security dropped from $6,048,000,000 last year to $5,966,000,000.

The social security payments, in which are lumped cash relief but not WPA (which counts as wages) increased from $781,000,000 last year to $856,000,000.

BAPTISTS DECLARE WAR ON PAGANISM

to crush Christianity and to dominate mankind than at any time in many centuries," said Dr. Beers.

"Some governments are deliberately attempting to destroy all religion.

"Drinking, gambling and sensuality, which a few years ago skulked in dark corners, now flaunt themselves before the eyes of men," he asserted.

Dr. Roland Q. Leavell, director of evangelism of the Southern Baptist convention, indorsed the plan.

"This Alliance represents the greatest opportunity for a repetition of Pentecost since the first century," Dr. Leavell declared.

Recommendations of- the evangelist committee are to be brought back to the congress in proper form by the resolutions committee, Dr. George W. Truett, president of the Baptist World Alliance, announced.

Appointed as a committee to handle the five-year program were: Northern Baptist Convention, Dr. Beers, Walter Woodbury, of New York, and E. T. Dalberg, of Syracuse; Southern Baptist Convention, Dr. L. R. Scarborough, of Texas; Dr. Ellis A. Fuller, of Atlanta, and Dr. Leavell; Canada, H. H. Bingham, A. G. Archibald and W. C. Smalley.

England, Henry Cook and Gilbert Laws; Australia, Dr. C. J. Tinsley; Sweden, H. J. Danielson; Germany, the Rev. F. Rockshies; Africa, Taninola Ayorinde; South America, John Soren; National Baptist Convention, L. K. Williams; National Baptist Convention of America, G. L. Prince; China, Wu Chi Chung; India, B. Pradham; Burma, San Po Thin, and the new president, Dr. J. H. Rushbrooke, and new general secretary, Dr. W. O. Lewis, of Paris.

Speakers on Program.

This committee went into immediate session on ways of distributing literature, receiving periodic reports, and transmitting them to all Baptists.

The Rev. W. Holms Coats, of Glasgow, submitted to the congress the report of the committee appointed to study the "Baptist contribution to Christian unity over the past five years."

The report briefly, cited work of the church toward Christianity over the world but held no hope in the immediate future for any union of all churches or with other churches.

Difference of Opinion.

What the report revealed mostly was a wide divergence of opinion among the many Baptist leaders who answered the questionnaires.

"The division of opinion regarding communion and membership was more extensive and the conclusion of the report is that time must be allowed for reconciliation of divergent views," Coats declared in presenting the study.

"It is evident that there is little inclination among Baptists for closer corporate union with other branches of the church," he asserted.

"Most members of the commission give it as their opinion that such incorporation would compromise our Baptist witness and not effect much improvement in conditions of work on the mission field or elsewhere," Coats concluded.

The evangelistic program highlighted the morning session where Dr. J. R. Sampey, of Louisville, Ky.; Dr. D. J. Evans, of Rochester, N. Y.; H. L. Taylor, of London, and the Rev. Frederick Rockshies, of Berlin, spoke on the various phases of the church. The Rev. Benjamin Pradham, of Cuttack, India, opened discussion.

Tracing the church through the Bible, Dr. Sampey told of the New Testament doctrine of the church. He said Jesus referred to the church only twice but he found numerous other mentions of churches.

"There is no hint of a provincial church or a national church or a universal visible church" he said. "Nor is there hint of a diocesan bishop, and the only priesthood known in the first Christian century was the universal priesthood of all believers."

Church Influence.

Speaking on the "Church as a Field," Dr. Evans said its field is as wide as the land and its people. It has work to do until "all are Christians," he said.

"The Church of God is the church of man," Evans added.

The church has left an indelible influence in history and as a force has done much toward stopping cannibalism, making child life sacred, restricting the use of drugs, promoting temperance, and protecting child labor, asserted Taylor.

"Evangelism is the answer to the new dangers which confront the world," he declared, asking that all messengers go forth determined to win men to Christianity immediately.

Rockshies talk on "The Church as a Communion of Saints" was delivered in German and translated for the crowd by Dr. William Mueller, of Philadelphia, the official Alliance interpreter.

The Berlin pastor declared that in the church is the fellowship of the gospel, the spirit, of suffering, of example, of peace, and power.

The Rev. J. M. Dawson, of Waco, Texas, said the closing prayer.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS
Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste
If you have an excess of acid waste in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be over-worked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of poisonous waste.
When functional kidney disorder permits poisonous matter to remain in the blood, you won't feel well. This may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. If you have trouble with frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning, there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

RIDING THE CIRCUIT AT THE BAPTIST CONGRESS

BY THOS. M. ELLIOTT

Intermixed Good and Evil.

Since the day Jesus Christ began His ministry on earth, and since the days of St. Paul when he said evil was ever present with him when he would do good, there has been an intermixture of good and evil always to be found present. Why this is so we don't know, unless opposites attract each other, as has been asserted.

Striking illustrations of this have been observed in Atlanta during the Baptist congress sessions. For instance, there are those two ladies from far-away Texas, who came all this distance to get good, to be good, to do good. Surely a laudable ambition. With money in their purses for expenses, with their minds at rest and fixed upon the good things of faith, they looked upon this as a pretty good world, and all Atlantans as friends tried and true.

Right there the devil put one of his sons to work. That faithful son of darkness crept up near the unsuspecting ladies and snatched their purses and ran. He made a get-away and left the ladies in despair.

The whole world went dark for those ladies. Anguish possessed their souls. May heaven help them, for the devil surely won't.

There you are! You may be as resolute as Napoleon crossing the Alps in your determination to be good and do good; you may sell your all to get a chance to drink at the springs of living water, but the devil and his accomplices will be there without fail, to throw a monkey-wrench into the machinery, or poison the waters.

Distance Lends Enchantment.

Out at the ball park where the vast throngs of people go to attend the Baptist congress sessions there is a press box especially arranged for newspaper folk, where they may go and write undisturbed. During this Baptist congress we have sat in that press box, which is some hundred feet above the crowds below and hundreds of feet removed from those out in the great audience.

You'd be surprised to know how impressive a picture of the whole panorama you can get from that point. And you'd be charmed with the comeliness of the thousands of men and women to be seen. From that high position you see no defects. All the women are fair and lovely, and their dresses all seem to be Parisian models with perfect fit, and they walk with grace. And those men, every last mother's son of them appears handsome, and ready to compete with Apollo, or Robert Montgomery. Yes, sir, all those sons and daughters of Adam and Eve look swell to us, from that distance.

And we note that the ladies seem to prefer blue of some shade for their dresses. That is to say there is more of blue among the dresses than any other one color. We jotted down the different shades of blue we could see, and saw something like the following tints: Navy blue, sky blue, Tyrian blue, baby blue, heavenly blue, Eleanor blue, Alice blue, St. Louis blue, round-house blue, taxpayer's blue, jail house blue, digo blue, electric blue, steel blue, robin's-egg blue, turquoise blue, railroad blue and hospital blue.

We Never Knew This Before

Monday night's dramatic presentation of Baptist history depicted scenes of developing progress throughout the world. 18th century scene represented something connected with the Wesleyan revival in England. Words spoken in connection with the scene referred to the reconversion of John Wesley.

"We'll be fair with you, we have never before "heard tell" of a such reconversion of Mr. Wesley. There are two immortals we are pretty familiar with from the cradles to their graves—John Wesley and Robert E. Lee.

"How Come You Didn't Write

That's the question hundreds of folks attending the Baptist congress meet and answer when they get back home, and get seated around the family hearthstone.

Postal clerks down at the city auditorium, where a subsidiary postoffice is being maintained, say they are literally swamped with mail placed in that branch office with names, addresses, postage missing.

So back home pa and ma, Uncle John and Aunt Jane, together with Cousin Sue and Cousin Jonathan, are wondering why the folk who went to the congress in Atlanta do not at least write and say whether or not they got there all right.

Uncle Sam and Mr. Farley have a mighty fine postal system; but they do want us to give them some clue as to where the letters are to go, and to whom to be delivered. Also they prefer that we prepay the freight.

The dead letter office, at Washington, next week, when they receive all this improperly addressed mail, will wonder why the sudden increase in dead-letter mail from our fair city.

Frequent Death Messages.

Scarcely an hour passes during the congressions but there comes an interruption, when someone is called and asked to receive a death message. It takes only a moment of time, and then the program moves on. The people quickly forget, as they give attention to what's coming next.

But is the matter, really, of no more importance than that? With each death message announced it must be realized that, somewhere, somehow, a circle has been broken. Some parents may have lost a child, some husband or wife may have lost a companion, some child may have lost a parent, some home overcast by a dark cloud, some hearts saddened. Then, too, the thought comes that someone has gone on into eternity, to meet God face to face, prepared or unprepared.

Friends, one and all, pause a moment, when you hear a death message announced, and breathe a prayer for comfort for the distressed. The next death message may be for you.

Traditional American Flag Greets Baptist World Alliance Delegates

By Sally Forth.

THE large American flag with which Mrs. Samuel M. Inman decorated her home that faces the intersection of Peachtree and Ponce de Leon avenue when President William McKinley visited Atlanta in 1898, greeted the delegates attending the Baptist World Alliance. Mrs. Inman has lived in the same handsome home over a long period of years, and when the President of the United States spoke in Atlanta, the grandstand was erected on the site where now stands the Ponce de Leon apartments.

President McKinley came to Atlanta to attend a peace jubilee and made a memorable address upon the subject of "Peace." The flag was used many times during the World War because Mrs. Inman was patriotic in everything connected wtih the World War program, and her home served as headquarters for the women's committee meetings.

Last week the grandstand scene shifted to the Georgian Terrace porch when Governor Rivers, Mayor Hartsfield and Dr. George W. Truett, the noted divine from Dallas, Texas, opened the sixth Baptist World Alliance. As a tribute to this great occasion, Mrs. Inman unpacked the American flag and placed it on her home to welcome the delegates.

Flanking each side of her flag last week were flags of Georgia, England, Rumania, Palestine, Australia, Sweden, Denmark, Italy, France, China and many others. Because the day marked the anniversary of the Battle of Atlanta, Mrs. Inman added the Confederate flag to the group. Friends of Mrs. Inman viewed the opening parade of the Baptist World Alliance seated beneath the galaxy of aforementioned flags, with the American flag leading the unforgettable display of flags of all nations.

SACRED Heart Catholic church will form the setting Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock for the christening of young Owen Hampton Whittle, five-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Whittle. The baby's mother, you know, is the former Ann Lowther, daughter of Mrs. O. H. Lowther and the late Owen Hampton Lowther, for whom he is named. His paternal grandparents are Mrs. Mary A. Whittle, of Covington, Ky., and the late John Whittle.

For his christening young Owen will wear a dress of sheer white batiste trimmed with exquisite Val lace. Dainty bows of blue satin ribbon adorn the shoulder lines, the streamers of which fall to the hemline of the dress. Completing the youngster's attire will be a cap of blue silk trimmed with Val lace, which will match his tiny blue bootees.

The christening robe was sent little Owen by his godmother, Lucille Brambladge, of Cincinnati, Ohio, a cousin of his father, who is unable to be present at the ceremony. Ruth Lowther, the baby's attractive young aunt, will serve as proxy for Lucille.

Charles Page, of Tampa, Fla., has been chosen as the baby's godfather. Mrs. Whittle, you know, is a native of Tampa.

Among the baby's first gifts was that sent recently by the family dentist. Addressed to "Baby Whittle," the big box arrived from a well-known jeweler. Mrs. Whittle unwrapped layers of tissue and unstacked several boxes inclosed within each other before she reached the last tiny box. Opening it, she found a miniature set of false teeth, perfect in every detail—even to the baby pink gums!

Baby Whittle has been warned. Sally predicts that he will grow up to be a toothbrush addict!

ELIZABETH COLLEY returns to this city tomorrow after having spent the past several weeks in Puerto Rico with Margaret Craighill, of Washington, D. C. The belles, you know, visited the latter's uncle, L. L. Lippitt, and were honored at a veritable whirl of social affairs during their stay. Elizabeth writes that she will never forget her surprise at seeing clusters of orchids blooming in backyards!

The attractive travelers docked in New York Monday, where they were met by Margaret's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bowdoin Craighill, of Washington. The group spent the past three days in the metropolis, reveling in the carnival spirit prevailing at the World's Fair.

ATLANTA again joined in the fun at the champagne contest held in the palm patio at Sea Island last Saturday evening. After dance steps were demonstrated by the Arthur Murray teachers at Sea Island during an interval in the dancing, ladies in the audience attempted to imitate their style as they danced with Peter Gibbons, head of the Sea Island studio, while men took their turns with the graceful little teacher, Miss Kaye Hayes, who is scoring quite a success at this resort.

Champagne for the ladies was won by Mrs. Edward Swift, of Columbus, the former Vera Howard, who has many Atlanta friends made during visits to her former Hollins College classmates here. Winner of the champagne as the man who performed most expertly was Billy Garrett, of Augusta. However, applause of the throngs of guests who decided the elimination contest was strong for the runners-up, Everett Strupper, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Guy Kenimer, of Jacksonville, the former Hallie Crawford, of Atlanta. These two distinguished themselves with very spirited exhibitions of the highly popular beer barrel polka, while both winners did graceful waltzes. Among others participating in the contest were Louise Battey, Augusta; Louis Johnson, Atlanta; Alfred W. Jones, Sea Island, and Duncan Strachan, Savannah.

At El Sueno, her attractive beach residence, Mrs. Robert Hugh White Jr. has as her guest Mrs. Ernest Daley, of Atlanta. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fuller have just returned after a visit to Mrs. White, who will be joined on Friday by Mr. White and their son, Bobby White.

Miss Sophie Chotas To Wed Mr. Basil

Of state-wide interest was the announcement made Sunday in Washington, D. C., by Mrs. Chrysanthe E. Chotas, of the engagement of her youngest daughter, Miss Sophie E. Chotas, to Frank B. Basil, formerly of Atlanta, the wedding to take place sometime in August.

Miss Chotas, born in Atlanta the daughter of the late Mr. Eli N. Chotas, who was founder and a great benefactor of the Atlanta Greek community and most prominent in business here for 30 years, is a graduate of Girls' High school and the Pharmaceutical College of this city. She also traveled abroad and attended private schools in Athens, Greece. She held the position of druggist at the Davison-Paxon department store for a number of years before moving to Washington with her family, where she is now manager of the drug department in one of the leading department stores there. The lovely bride-elect is remembered by her friends throughout the south for her sweetness in manner and unusual talent in her chosen profession. She is a sister of Mr. and Mrs. George Cotsakis, of Atlanta, and Miss Denise Chotas, who is secretary of the Royal Greek Legation in Washington. Her brothers are Nick, Matthew and George Chotas, also of Washington, D. C.

Mr. Basil is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil G. Basil, of Athens, Greece. Having been born in Atlanta, Mr. Basil went to Greece at an early age and was educated in the schools there. He returned to Atlanta to complete his studies at the Georgia School of Technology and he is employed as civil engineer with the United States War Department in Washington.

Housewives Find Few Perfect Peaches Are Sold on Local Markets

A Georgia peach displays some fine specimens of the fruit for which the state is famous. Miss Carol Ingram, 67 Palisades road, is the young lady showing peaches of perfect quality, which is U. S. Grade 1. Unfortunately, few of these perfect peaches are sold on local markets. Most of them reach eastern consumers who are willing to pay a better price for them. Bostonians eat most of Georgia's finest peaches.

Pick of Georgia's Crop Shipped To Cities Where High Prices Rule

By SALLY SAVER.

Georgia peaches are famed for their flavor and appearance. Everyone knows that. Little girls are urged to eat their carrots being told that carrots will give them a "peaches and cream" complexion when they are grown up. And a girl, no matter what her home state, if very beautiful, is told that she looks like a Georgia peach. That is a grand compliment, as every girl knows, because the Georgia peach heads the list of fruits for a delicate loveliness in coloring, and a flavor of unequalled sweetness. From Persia, originally, they say, came the peach, but modern methods of cultivation have produced a fruit of beauty and flavor that Persian nobles never even dreamed possible. Georgia peaches have no rival in actuality and in reputation in the whole world.

These things I have known always; had long since taken for granted. Naturally then, I had lived in Georgia for a long time before I gathered enough courage to speak what was on my mind. I spoke at last to a wholesale produce man who is widely known and respected for his views on many things, and particularly on the subject of produce. For years he has dealt in produce on a wholesale scale and for many a year has seen the crop of Georgia peaches come and go.

"Where are the peaches for which Georgia is famous? "I asked. "At what season shall I expect them and in what places can I look for them? I have searched for peaches of the quality which I know exists because I have seen them in other cities, but mostly I have found peaches of not much better than ordinary quality. Tell me the answer to these questions, please," I recklessly pursued.

My informant said he was pleased to have the subject brought up, because he felt that peach growers and public alike would benefit if the matter were better understood. This is what he said:

"The peaches are here, in abundance" and he pried off covers of large boxes revealing the most beautiful and perfect peaches that ever I had seen. "The reason you do not see peaches of this grade in the markets oftener is that the public seems not willing to pay the price for fruit of such excellence," he said.

"Most people do not realize what care, what work, what expense is involved in raising peaches of this size, and to bring them to market without an insect mark or flaw of any kind upon them. Few persons have any idea of the labor and cost of continuous spraying and tending an orchard which must go on the whole year round though actual production covers only a few months out of the year.

"And finally when the fruit is ripe, the responsibility, expense and care involved in getting it to the market, and to the consumer in this perfect condition, are tremendous. Peaches are highly perishable, and poor handling and poor judgment during the last few days they are on the trees could waste the whole crop.

"These are the factors involved and summed up is simply this: The cost of any product is determined by the cost of producing it. Peaches of this size, and quality, which is U. S. Grade No. 1, to make a reasonable profit for the grower, have to sell for not less than 60 cents for a 4 quart (dry measure) basket. They bring from 75 cents to $1 a basket in New York, Philadelphia and Boston."

"Many of Georgia's finest peaches are eaten by Bostonians, my informant told me.

"Local people seem to want peaches at a much lower price than this and so they get the peaches of lower grade. This does not mean that there are no peaches of finest grade on the market here.. A few stores handle them, but they buy only a few and these they buy fearful that the public will not take them off their hands at the price it is necessary to get for them."

It is another chapter of the old story of supply and demand, and I am passing it on to you. If the people of Georgia want luscious Georgia peaches of finest grade they can get them, if they are willing to pay the grower the price he must get for his crop. If the home state can't or wont buy them at a reasonable profit to the grower, then he must sell them in a market which will pay the price.

Not much understanding of economics is needed to know that it would be ruinous to one of Georgia's most prized and famous industries if the peach growers produced a profitless crop.

Home Conflict Embarrassing To Father

By Caroline Chatfield.

Dear Miss Chatfield:

What of a stepmother who pretends to be a big church woman yet spends her spare hours spreading false propaganda in the neighborhood about her husband's only son? When my father married my stepmother he made it plain to her that I would live with them and she pretended to be agreeable to the plan. But for two months after she was married she had not eaten a meal at the table with me. She is only 15 years older than I and has no children of her own and she has no time for me. Frankly I'm afraid of her for she's a snake in the grass. Our homelife isn't pleasant and I thought maybe some of your good philosophy would held me.

RED-HEADED STEPSON.

ANSWER: Well, son, wise enough to recognize the lady's hypocrisy, you should be wise enough to discover the deep underlying reasons for her behavior. She's jealous of your place in your father's heart and every jealous woman has hell in her own heart. Usually it leaks out. This mere fact in itself gives you a tremendous advantage over her but you aren't using it.

Now if you could bring your pity into play, it would smother the fear you are experiencing. If you could swallow that "snake-in-the-grass" accusation, you'd find it much easier to forgive her. A famous French philosopher says the hardest thing to forgive is the evil we have said of another and it's very true. When we are cursing people behind their backs it's well-nigh impossible to be pleasant with them unless we have hypocrisy down to a fine point.

Presumably you've got to live under the roof with your stepmother for the present and admittedly your home life isn't pleasant. Hard to say who is getting the worst of the mess, but I suspect your father is most embarrassed since he's the responsible party to each of the warring parties.

Then why not get your red-headed temper under control and have a seance with the step, ask her to secure a truce while the two of you work out a plan for permanent peace. However much it may hurt your pride to make the advance, the results will compensate you and put you in an assailable position before your father. If she will agree to meet you half way you will have peace in the home. Even if she's unyielding you'll have peace in the heart, for having gone your full length in trying to reconcile matters between you.

If there's any human relationship where two people can fall out and each justify the position on the ground of righteous indignation, it is that of stepparent and child. When those old elemental passions are aroused, as they are in step-relationships, everybody pays the piper and nobody has the fun of dancing.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

MY DAY White House Life Like a Goldfish's

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

HYDE PARK—One has to read the newspapers to find out what is happening, even in a house in which one lives part of the year! A news item this morning informs me that some enterprising person is selling to tourists, for $1 each, the cards issued by congressmen and senators to their friends and constituents free, and which entitle them to see rooms in the White House usually not open to the general public.

There has never been any charge for seeing the White House. There are restrictions as to days and hours, but the service offered is part of the White House expense. It requires, of course, much more cleaning and, during visiting hours, a maid has to be on hand to check people's belongings. But no charge is ever made and it is strange that this fact has never sufficiently entered the public's consciousness enough to prevent tourists from being victimized in this way. The secret service will undoubtedly eventually catch the "clever" person who thought up this scheme, whoever it may be, but, in the meantime, many tourists will have paid an extra dollar for their sightseeing

This is a year when the number of visitors in the White House has been very great and this is the season of the year when the White House employes are given their vacations. So it has meant much additional work for those on duty. In addition, many people come with a firm determination to see the rooms in which the King and Queen slept and the ushers have a very difficult time explaining to visitors that their cards do not entitle them to see rooms on the second floor of the White House. No one, except on the invitation of someone actually living in the White House, is entitled to go up on the second floor. One can understand the desire to see the part of the White House which is really lived in, for I think it is historically much more interesting and has far more atmosphere.

The state rooms, used for entertainment alone, cannot possibly avoid being a little like a museum. Of course, if visitors were allowed to go through the second floor, there would be no privacy for the family occupying the White House. Even now it is a bit like being a goldfish swimming in his glass bowl, and that is why getting to one's own home is such a joy.

We left Hyde Park at a very early hour this morning. I am going to try to pay a short visit to the New York World's Fair this afternoon with Johnny and Anne, and Anne's mother, Mrs. Haven Clark, besides doing a number of personal errands. This evening we are going to preview the movie "They Shall Have Music," given for the benefit of the Greenwich House Music School and the high school of music and art. I shall tell you about it tomorrow.

Two Inches Off Waistline Is Fashion Trend for Fall

By Ida Jean Kain.

The astonishing thing about the feminine figure is its adaptability. For the last decade, the waistline has been shrinking steadily and this year it is a good two inches less than last. It's no longer a question of wanting to have a slim waist . . . it's practically compulsory!

To achieve this slim-waisted appearance, some women are heroically squeezing into the old-time corsets with stays and laces. I don't know how you feel about it, but I'd rather exercise!

Actually, this trend toward smaller waists is a healthy one which does not take excess fat into account. You are expected to have a slim, muscularly girdled midriff and to stand stretched tall so that there is no slack.

Fortunately, there is no need to work yourself into a lather to slim this measurement. All the twisting, bending and stretching movements should be performed accurately—and usually that means slowly—to bring into play all those powerful but lazy muscles girding the waist.

One of the most effective of the stretching exercises is guaranteed to make you stiff this week and perceptibly thinner next. Here it is:

Stand with the feet parallel and fairly close together, arms straight out at the sides at shoulder level. Now without moving the arms, shoulders or hips, push the ribcage up and out at the right side. This pulls you out like an accordion and makes you bend to the left. Continue pushing up with the ribs to your limit, then slowly return to position and repeat. There is no use in rushing through this exercise. The whole point is to get a thorough stretch between ribs and the side and it should be done very slowly and deliberately. Perform first on the right side for five times, then on the left.

Here is an exercise which flattens the tummy while twisting off waistline inches:

Stand with the back of the hips pressed firmly against a heavy table or chair, the abdominal muscles pulled up and the arms straight out at the sides. Keeping the hips against the table, twist very slowly at the waist until you are facing sidewards. The hips and arms should not move. Hold for a second and twist back in the opposite direction.

You will get the most satisfying results from these exercises if you take them slowly and concentrate on the large groups of muscles networked between waist and hips. They are the very foundation of slimness.

Actress Prefers Clothes Comfortable, Informal

By Sheilah Graham.

HOLLYWOOD, July 26.—Bette Davis is happiest wearing informal clothes. For sheer comfort, I recommend her latest culottes—for dining. The top, of soft navy blue crepe, is joined at the waistline to the full floor-length culottes of navy blue and white polka dot. A hood of monotone navy blue is lined with the polka dot material. The snug fitting waist is highlighted with a red leather belt.

Another film lass who prefers comfort to formality is Barbara Stanwyck. I like her emerald green jersey dinner slacks. The blouse top has a drop shoulder line and V-neck. The trousers are gathered onto a wide high waistband. Barbara accents the costume with amethyst jewelry set in silver, and carries a yellow chiffon hanky for added color.

A charming outfit for cool days is owned by Barbara O'Neill. Combining brown with canary yellow in Rodier wool shepherd check, the crepe roma blouse is yellow, the flared skirt of brown Rodier wool. Brown wool piping outlines the concealed hip and breast pockets. Miss O'Neill's hat is of brown felt, shoes and gloves of brown suede.

Vacationing in La Jolla recently, Janet Beecher was seen in a beige celanese sharkskin dress made along shirtmaker lines with novelty red buttons up the front of the dress. A braided cotton belt in tones of blue and red tied around her waist, and a gay multicolored kerchief around her neck. To protect her pink and white skin from the sun, Janet wore a large pale blue straw hat.

Fay Holden, the mother in the Judge Hardy series, also goes in for shirtmaker dresses. Miss Holden recently bought a tailored afternoon frock in sky blue with white daisies covering the background. She wears the dress with either a matching full length coat or with a short boxy jacket of the same material. Both the dress and coat are cut on tailored lines. On sunny days, the actress wears white accessories, but when clouds threaten, navy blue is substituted.

Sweaters are popular for the cocktail hour. Myrna Loy owns one of black shetland yarn. The plastron and sleeves are richly embroidered with tiny star and oval sequins of yellow and copper gold which match the muted gold tone of her dressy coat and skirt. To go with the ensemble is a black suede hat, bag and shoes, with the suede gloves repeating the gold sequin design of the sweater on the back stitching.

A swim suit has been named after Jane Withers. Modelled on the puckerette type, it has a diagonal floral stripe in green, rose and white satin lastex. The neckline is a rounded "V." The adjustable green shoulder straps extend around to the back and end in a little bow.

Rita Hayworth uses "navy green," a new popular shade, for a light-weight wool suit in her personal wardrobe. The fitted jacket has piped lapels and diagonal slit pockets with dark blue foulard. A high fashion note is the toast straw hat worn with the costume. The crown is a double decker with each crown and stiff brim edged with navy green grosgrain ribbon. The hat is tied under the chin with a navy blue mesh veil.

A cloud of white veiling envelopes the white panama sailor worn by Joan Perry in "Good Girls Go to Paris, Too." The hat is trimmed with demure blue patent flowers which match the tone of Joan's frock. The latter is a dark and white dotted surrah silk buttoned down the front and fitted to the hipline where the skirt is in three graduated ruffles. Blue patent accessories complete the costume.

Hollywood Fashions on Parade . . . Ann Sheridan at the Trocadero in a deep shell-pink woolen evening gown with lip rouge and finger-nail polish to match . . . Also Fay Bainter in a black crepe formal with two blackbirds' wings forming the decollete and two tiny wings on the lobes of her ears . . . Bette Davis gardening in a pair of natural Shantung overalls with "tool bag" pocket across the front embroidered with bright yarn; on her head, a Mexican sombrero with bandana crown, the ends tying under her chin.

Woman's Quiz

Q. What is a good method to remove skunk odor from clothing?

A. Wash the clothing in benzine and hang it in an airy place for several days. Air alone will in time almost eliminate the skunk odor.

Q. How can I prevent dust from flying when I sweep my carpets with a broom?

A. Dampen the broom with water or scatter bits of rumpled, dampened newspaper on the floor.

Q. How should I clean my young baby's teeth?

A. Wipe them with fresh gauze moistened with a solution of bicarbonate of soda and boiled water.

Have you a household problem to solve? Write your question clearly, sign your name and address, enclose a three-cent postage stamp and mail to the Woman's Editor of The Constitution's Washington Service Bureau, 1013 13th street, Washington, D. C., for a reply. Three of the most interesting answers will be printed here daily. Don't telephone; write as directed.

Popular, Daytime Button-Front Dress

By Barbara Bell.

Here's a new and very satisfying way to make the button-front daytime dress you like so well. Design 1790-B has a scalloped closing at the front of the bodice, and is cut sharply over to the side, with plenty of lap-around, which saves the trouble of sewing on buttons all the way down the skirt. It's a grand idea—you'll like it!

And you'll like the slenderizing, princess silhouette, too, and the cool, dipped, square neckline, finished with a flattering frill. It's a simple, very becoming dress that you'll enjoy having in flat crepe and silk print, as well as in street cottons like linen, gingham or pique. It's economical to make as well as easy—step-by-step sew chart included.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1790-B is designed for sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 4 5-8 yards of 39-inch fabric without nap; 2¼ yards to trim neck and sleeves.

Send for Barbara Bell's Spring and Summer Pattern Book. Make your own smart new frocks for street, daytime and afternoon, with these simple, carefully planned designs. It's chic, it's easy, it's economical to sew your own. Each pattern includes a step-by-step sew chart to guide beginners.

Price of pattern 15 cents. Price of pattern book 15 cents. Do not send stamps.

Chronic Fatigue, Frequently Caused by Lack of Vitamin B

By Dr. William Brady.

Glossitis means inflammation of the tongue. Only by exertion of will power, or won't power, did I refrain from perpetrating another frightful term, such as malonychotrophy which means poor nutrition of the nails. Really it is not always easy to talk down to the level of college professors—for that matter one finds it difficult to make even Dr. Webster understand everything.

Everybody knows what chronic fatigue is. Not everybody comprehends that it is usually a manifestation of disease or impairment of health and not just sheer indolence. For instance the languor of the early 'teens due to lack of sufficient iodine; the shiftlessness of pellagra victims (nutrition impaired by insufficient intake of vitamin-B-complex); the inanition of individuals suffering from hookworm infestation; the strange apathy, in one not ordinarily so disposed, from anoxia of exposure to carbon monoxide in small amounts in the air; and the melancholic or dull inactivity that comes to the woman formerly vivacious and cheerful, when her thyroid function slows up a bit. These are more or less frequent causes of chronic fatigue. A cause too often overlooked, usually because it is not looked for, but always to be borne in mind as a possible explanation for constant tired feeling in youth or adolescence, is incipient pulmonary tuberculosis.

Perhaps more frequent than any of the causes of chronic fatigue mentioned is moderate nutritional anemia due to insufficient daily intake of vitamin B-complex. Although this extremely prevalent type of anemia (hypochromic anemia) responds well to treatment with large doses of iron (at least a hundred times as much iron as the blood requires), provided the diet is not unduly restricted, it is now pretty clearly established that an adequate daily intake of vitamin B-complex is the best assurance that the blood will get all the iron it needs (about one-fourth of a grain a day) from ordinary foods, for the vitamin B-complex (perhaps vitamin G, otherwise known as B-2 or riboflavin particularly controls the assimilation and retention of iron.

The characteristic condition of the tongue in cases of well marked vitamin B-complex deficiency commonly accompanies chronic fatigue and malonychotrophy, if you will pardon the monstrosity. The tongue is red and shiny, pointed rather than rounded, and often feels sore or burning—sufferers sometimes ascribe the burning to "acid fruits" or to other items of diet.

Perhaps only the trained physician can recognize the tongue indication of malnutrition in mild cases. Almost any one can arrive at a fair idea of the condition of the nails. The typical effects of vitamin deficiency shown by the nails are slow growth (normally it requires three to five months to grow a fingernail, twice as long to grow a toenail), transverse ridging, pitting, fragility, thinness, spoon nails. Probably shortage in daily sunshine vitamin D intake contributes toward poor nutrition of the nails.

Player Wants Simple Method For Counting Losing Tricks

By Harold Sharpsteen.

"Dear Mr. Sharpsteen:

"In following your recommendations to hold more honor-tricks than losing tricks, when making an opening two-demand bid, I usually have difficulty in attempting to count my losing tricks. Can you suggest a simple method for counting my losers?

Mrs. H. T. B.
Rome, Ga.

ASSUME PARTNER BLANK.

For the purpose of checking losing tricks before making an opening two-suit bid, assume partner holds an absolutely worthless hand, that you will never be able to enter dummy, that all of your leads will necessarily have to be made from your own hand.

Proceeding on this assumption, it should be an easy matter to precisely determine the number of losers held, by simply subtracting your positive winners from thirteen.

AVOIDS CONFUSION.

In this manner, you will not confuse various honor-trick combinations with sure winners, as when holding an ace-queen. This combination is given the value of 1 1-2 honor-tricks, but this is based on the possibility of a finesse.

With no means of reaching dummy, the finesse will not be possible. Therefore the ace is counted as one sure winner but, the queen must be counted a losing trick.

COUNTS TWO HERE.

Holding a king-queen-jack combination, given the value of 1 1-2 honor tricks, opening bidder, in this case, counts two winners and one loser.

In an opening bid of one, which, of course, is not game-forcing, the count of losers need not be quite so exacting. Opening two in a suit, nothing should be taken for granted.

Won.	Lost.

1—D—A Q	1
3—C—K Q 10 6 4	2

HONORS—WINNERS—LOSERS.

Declarer counts 2 plus honor tricks in spades; 1 1-2 honor-tricks in hearts; 1 1-2 honor-tricks in diamonds and one plus honors in the club suit, a total of six plus honors, with the total count of nine winners, losers four.

In estimating losers in the club suit, declarer must assume the missing club ace-jack will take two tricks. By the same token, holding an ace-king-jack combination, declarer should assume one trick will be lost to the missing queen, that a king-jack-ten will lose two tricks to the missing ace-queen, and so on.

'Till tomorrow . . . .

Youthful Design of Distinction

By Lillian Mae.

There's nothing like a superbly simple soft dress to give you that above-the-crowds look of quiet distinction. Lillian Mae's Pattern 4199 in a smart, sheer black will be a dramatic setting for your most dazzling summer jewelry. Shirring smartens up the shoulders, and the striking sleeves offer a very new and decorative touch. They may be short or three-quarter length. The most effective feature of all is that wide, sleek waist girdle that seems to "waste away" your waist. It looks dashing boned to a high point in front and trimmed with buttons. The simple, four-piece flared skirt is a nice contrast to the soft gathering throughout the bodice.

Pattern 4199 is available in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 takes 3 1-2 yards 39-inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Lillian Mae pattern. Do not send stamps. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

What to do! Active summer days stretch far ahead and your hot-weather wardrobe is wilted and weary. Let Lillian Mae pattern book help freshen up your mid-season wardrobe, with page after page of quick-to-sew frocks for night and day . . . work and play. Lots of bright ideas for vacationists on how to look glamorous and cool. Clothes for every type and age from slimming modes for matrons to spirited clothes for young people. Send today! Her subject will be "Visits to the Palace of Esther in Susa," and "The Tomb of Mordecai Esther in Ectabana, Persia." Mrs. Ashby has visited these places spoken of in the Old and New Bible, which are featured in the O. E. S. ritual.

Miss Katherine Brown Marries J. Hoyt Farmer in Summerville

SUMMERVILLE, Ga., July 26.—Miss Katherine Bolling Brown became the bride of J. Hoyt Farmer, of Summerville and Bluefield, W. Va., at a ceremony solemnized last Thursday by Rev. J. W. Farmer, of Bluefield, father of the groom. The rites were solemnized at 5:30 o'clock in the boxwood garden at "Brownwood," home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Hermon Dobbs Brown here.

Miss Annie Pitts, vocalist; Mrs. Etheridge Lawrence, of Chattanooga, violinist, and Mrs. Duke Espy, pianist, rendered a musical program.

Miss Dorothy Dean Loser, of Nashville, Tenn., was maid-of-honor, and Miss Marjorie Farmer, of Bluefield, sister of the groom, was a bridesmaid. Little Dawn Dillard, of this city, served as flower girl. All the attendants wore bouffant models of pink organdy with pink picture hats of horsehair braid. They carried bouquets of pink rosebuds and pink asters.

Eddie Anderson, of Toccoa, was the groom's best man.

The bride entered with her father, by whom she was given in marriage. Her titian beauty was enhanced by her wedding gown of white marquisette, with which she wore a fingertip tulle veil embroidered with seed pearls from her mother's wedding dress. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and valley lilies.

After the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts at a reception.

Misses Jean Agnew, Trion; Sallie Preston, Macon; Doris Payne, Lenoir, N. C., presided at the punch bowl. Misses Zerilda Peck and Lola Beattey kept the bride's book.

Assisting were Mesdames N. A. Funderburk, Penn Selman, M. M. Allen Jr., O. A. Selman, R. S. McWhorter, E. R. Bufkin, J. B. Garvin, Harry McGinnis, Frank Dillard, Miss Elizabeth Jackson, Louie Crawford, Tom Brown, of Camp Hill, Ala.; Miss Kathryn Henley, Almazada Ellenburg and Miss Mary Penn.

WORKSHOP—"A Trip to Czardis," presented by the "Columbia Workshop" December 15 last, will be the fourth in the summer festival series and the third revival of past successes of radio's experimental theater. The broadcast will be heard over WGST at 9 o'clock tonight.

"A Trip to Czardis" is the tale of two youngsters who have a grand time going to the city with their mother to see their "sick" father. The little ones wave to gay parties at the roadside, not knowing they are thrillseekers going to town to see a hanging—of the children's father.

MUSIC HALL—One of the suavest of actors, Franchot Tone, will rub elbows with the rough-cut Bob Burns in the Music Hall during its broadcast to be heard over WSB at 9 o'clock tonight. Count Solita de Solis, piano player, and Shirley Deane, movie ingenue, also will appear in the program which regularly features Pat Friday, the Music Maids and John Scott Trotter's orchestra.

Franchot Tone will be heard with the Sage of Van Buren in an interview and Count de Solis, of Italy, will play a piano solo.

VALLEE—Alice Marble, the glamour girl of the tennis courts, will make an appearance on Rudy Vallee's Hour during its broadcast to be heard over WSB at 7 o'clock tonight, the day after she steps off the boat from England, where she won three smashing victories at Wimbledon. Erin O'Brien Moore, stage actress; Carmen Miranda, Latin singer, and Lou Holtz also will be heard on the program.

Miss Marble will tell Vallee interesting sidelights on the Wimbledon matches; Miss Moore will do a one-act play and Miss Miranda will sing.

CONCERT—Enya Gonzales, Manila-born soprano, will be guest soloist with the Toronto Promenade orchestra, conducted by Dr. Hans Kindler, during the concert from the varsity arena at the University of Toronto to be heard over WAGA at 8 o'clock tonight.

Dr. Kindler, founder and director of the National Symphony Orchestra, will be making his second successive appearance as guest conductor. Miss Gonzalez will sing the Ballatella from Leoncavallo's "I Pagliacci" and the orchestra will be heard in Tschaikowsky's Symphony No. 4 in F Minor.

STATE CASH BARRED FOR USE IN SCHOOLS

County, District Construction Work Is Blocked by Arnall.

County and district school officials cannot use state funds for the construction of school buildings, Attorney General Ellis Arnall ruled yesterday on request of Superintendent of Schools M. D. Collins.

The ruling was given on an application from Wilcox county where a school recently was destroyed by fire and the bond limit of 7 per cent already has been reached. The district is without funds to build a new school, Dr. Collins said.

The attorney general pointed out what the law permits concerning the use of the school funds but added that he found "nothing to authorize use of the funds to construct buildings."

HEARINGS GRANTED ON LIQUOR STORES

Zoning Commission To Hear Appeals for Three for Building Permits.

Hearings were ordered yesterday by the Fulton county zoning commission for three prospective liquor store operators who have been denied building permits.

Refused permits were H. A. Thrash, to operate at 1136 Virginia avenue, near Hapeville; L. W. Rylee, 2109 Stewart avenue, and Leonard Greenbaum, 2775 Piedmont avenue. Hearings were set for Monday. The permits were denied because the property was not zoned for business.

The board granted B. R. Miller a special permit to operate a store at 255 East Pace's Ferry road, provided he moves his building 10 feet from the sidewalk. Ben T. Jenkins was granted a building permit to operate at 1156 Virginia avenue.

Grant Defeats Crawford in 3 Sets; Guernsey Upsets Riggs

by Jack Troy

Knoxville recently defied fan sentiment and sent a local hero, Doc Richmond, to Baltimore for Bill Sodd, who has been sourly described as a lemon.

Before that, Knoxville sold Bud Hafey to Cincinnati. Recently, Woodley Abernathy went out with a hand injury and Knoxville played a pitcher in right field for want of a regular replacement.

Is there any significance to all this?

Well, not any more than that the Knoxville management allegedly is "selling the fans down the river." In other words, the management is making hay while the sun shines.

Slowly but surely, capital is being made of individuals and the Knoxville team is deteriorating as a possible pennant contender.

And to keep the fans happy, what are they doing? Why, they're blaming everything on the umpires.

Some time before the recent incident which saw the overflow crowd tossing cushions and pop bottles and swarming on the field, there had been a suggestion in a Knoxville paper to the effect that "Knoxville fans have been tolerant toward umpires long enough. . . . They ought to be booed out of the park."

Well, Knoxville fans may be "klucks" enough to fall for a smoke screen, but if they ever happen to look around and realize what has happened in the last month to their once mighty ball club, they may take a different attitude.

Surely, the fans remember that they implored the Smoky club to keep Doc Richmond. And that the answer to their pleas was a trade.

And they must realize by now that the only reason Hafey was sold to Cincinnati was because it meant cash in the management's coffers.

Can't blame the umpires for that.

In fact, only in rare cases is an umpire in a position to call a play that means the winning or losing of a ball game.

I wish I could recall what great manager it was responsible for the statement. Anyway, he told his players, "Stay hustling in there and forget the rest; umpires don't lose your ball games."

IT'S ONLY FAIR.

Umpiring, in general, just couldn't suddenly go sour. And so there must be a reason why the arbiters from the major leagues on down are getting in so much trouble.

It's only fair to Southern league umpires to point out that those in the majors and Double-A's and on down the line are embroiled in daily or weekly difficulties this season.

And, as said, it can't be that all umpiring suddenly has curdled. That isn't the answer at all.

There are a number of bitter races going on. Players and managers are fighting for every ball game. Hence, they take exception to any decisions that seem to go against them.

The fans, in most cases, are pulling like mad for their favorites. They take the same attitude as the players. They can't bear to see the breaks go the wrong way on any day.

The standard of umpiring remains the same. The boys in blue are out there every day giving their best, as ever. But they can't please everybody. They call 'em as they see 'em and let the chips fall where they may.

THEY WON'T BE "HOMERS."

No umpire is going to be a "homer." That is to say, he is not going to lean over backwards toward the home club just because they happen to have a big crowd out.

And if it is in the back of the Knoxville management's mind to intimidate umpires, they might as well forget it.

Maybe it's wrong to have a Class A crowd in a Class B town if it is going to cause such incidents as took place in Knoxville Sunday. Happily, no one was injured. But just think of what the odds were on such an occurrence taking place, with cushions and bottles flying around?

A number of Atlanta folks were present. They saw nothing wrong with the umpiring. In fact, if anything had been so terribly wrong, the fans wouldn't have waited until two men were out in the seventh inning of the second game of the doubleheader to do something about it.

There didn't seem to be anything wrong in the two games the Smokies won.

The best tip is to "Watch your Smokies while you may, Knoxville fans; you may not have long to watch the better ones."

DOROTHY KIRBY IS EASY WINNER IN FIRST ROUND

By DOROTHY KIRBY.

BILTMORE FOREST COUNTRY CLUB, July 26.—Everything went just as expected today, and the favorites came through in fine style. I won, 8 and 7, and meet Mrs. Brown tomorrow. Louise Suggs won her match with Jane Cauble, 5 and 3. Louise was having a little trouble with her putts this morning. She plays Jane Crum in the morning.

This should be a fine match, for they play about the same game. Jane was hitting her shots much better today and was out in 39. That's more her brand of golf than that 91 she took yesterday in qualifying.

In the other matches it should be easy going as far as Jane Cothran is concerned and Mrs. Neblett also. If these two get by tomorrow (which they should) it means that they will come together the next day. Jane hasn't played much golf recently, and she has not hit her game yet.

I was counting up, and this makes the third time that I have played in this tournament. Jane Cothran has been the one who beat me each year—once in the finals and last year in the first round.

In my round today I was pretty lucky to win by such a big margin.

I played a few holes this afternoon to try and get in the groove and there was a slight improvement on some of the holes.

The course was awful wet from all the rain we have had here. However the weather at night has been just right. It is cool in the evening and hot in the day time which is a good combination.

PENTECOST TEAM WINS LOSERS-PAY

M. K. Pentecost and his mates were guests of Leonard Crawford and his team Wednesday night at the Druid Hills club following a one-day losers-pay dinner tournament. Pentecost's team won 16 to 7.

It was another of a series of regular monthly events planned for members of the Druid Hills golf club and their guests.

In a flight match of the president's cup tournament, Bob Cousins defeated Dr. G. Brown, 3-1.

Crawford's team consisted of W. A. Holbrook, Billy Stevens, J. F. Settle, J. O. Knight, Dr. M. D. Huff, Harold Braun, Leonard Crawford, Sam Heard, J. H. Ewing, Dr. A. S. Sanders, G. Carter, M. A. Comer, J. N. Goddard, W. H. Berry, Roy Massey Sr., Roy Massey Jr., Hugh Powell, A. Wright and John Hall.

BROWN-YAROSZ DUCATS GO FAST

Artistic success being more or less accepted as a foregone conclusion in view of the ability and importance of the two principals, the financial success of the August 9 fight between Ben Brown and Teddy Yarosz here also loomed as a strong probability after the first day's advance sale of seats.

Richmond Paul, in charge of tickets, stated that the initial demand was heavy; that several dozen ringside seats were disposed of, and that the boxes and grandstand also received a good play.

The bout is being sponsored by the Atlanta Boys' Club, which will receive all proceeds above actual expenses. Tickets are on sale daily at the Kiwanis Club office in the Ansley hotel lobby.

CLARKDALE WINS.

CLARKSDALE, Ga., July 26.—Clarksdale Thread Mills defeated Douglasville, 18 to 7, here this afternoon. The hitting of Harris with six for six was the big feature for the winners.

Lanky Luke Barnes, of Atlanta, blasts his way out of a sand trap at Baltimore, Md., in the qualifying round of the National Public Links golf tournament. 'WE'LL PROTECT O'BRIEN,' COACH

Bell Promises Davey Better Protection Than He Had at T. C. U.

PHILADELPHIA, July 26.—(AP) The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Professional Football league, are going to be mobilized into sort of a "bodyguard" this year for their ace recruit—Texas Christian's Little Davey O'Brien.

When the 150-pound all-American quarterback turned out with the Eagles squad today for their first practice session in 90-degree heat, Bert Bell, team president and coach, declared he was going to see that the little pigskin wizard "gets all the protection he needs" in the professional game.

"O'Brien will have better protection in professional football than he ever had in college," Bell promised. "At Texas Christian he had two or three big men like I. B. Hale and Ki Aldrich to protect him, but with the Eagles he will have 10 big men to look after him."

Davey didn't seem as concerned about the future. Said he:

"I'm glad to get back in the harness. I'm not worried about the big fellows."

Another star making his first appearance in a professional uniform today was Franny Murray, University of Pennsylvania's ace back and expert kicker, who is expected to be an able second to O'Brien's kicking.

NEW HANDBALL TOURNEY IS SET

A new type tournament in handball will be inaugurated at the Y. M. C. A. beginning next week when a "round robin" or league will begin play. Players will be bracketed into leagues of eight players, with each player playing every other player three games. The standings will be figured on a game won and lost basis and the winner will be the player who has the highest average for his league.

No prizes will be given but, as was pointed out by the handball committee, competition, fellowship and fine exercise will compensate the players for entering and competing. The committee is composed of Irving L. Wade, chairman, Horace Smith, W. S. "Shirt" Boston, M. L. "Mutt" Merritt, the champion, Wilbur Knight and Oscar Brock.

Each player will be asked to play one match per week and the games will be informal and will need no referee. All players are requested to sign up at the "Y" Service Counter to enter.

Luke Barnes Loses In First Round, 3-2

Ted Guinn, Tulsa, Upsets Atlantan at Baltimore; Taulman Also Is Defeated.

By BILL BONI.

BALTIMORE, July 26.—(AP)—The younger generation, which has been doing some pretty loud crowing over its accomplishments in the 18th national public links golf championship, took a back seat today as George Bradley, 54-year-old Philadelphian who holds his city and state public links titles, led the way into the round of 16 at the Mount Pleasant park course.

Oldest man in the field and with experience enough not to take the game too seriously, Bradley proved he could win matches the hard way and the easy way. He started off this morning by going 21 holes, the longest engagement of the day's two rounds, to edge out Harry Kaufman, of Lincoln, Neb., 1 up, and then came back late in the afternoon to dispose of Neil Whitney, of Los Angeles, by 3 and 2.

MANY DISASTERS.

While the "old man" was plodding his placid way into the third round, all sorts of calamities and disasters were befalling his younger colleagues. Three of the four who had tied for the qualifying medal were consigned to the list of also-rans. Only Art Armstrong, the Hawaiian shipping clerk, kept his game up to its earlier standards and one other pre-tournament favorite, Don Erickson, of Los Angeles, was put out of the running.

Erickson bowed out in the morning before 16-year-old Marshall Springer, Chicago high school boy, after 20 hard-fought holes. That conquest lifted Springer into the class of a potential sensation, but he met his master in the afternoon in Jim Molinari, the towering San Francisco policeman who was medalist at Farmingdale, N. Y., in 1936.

Other surprises of the day included the elimination of Luke Barnes, 19-year-old Atlanta comedalist, by Ted Gwin, of Tulsa, Okla., 3 and 2, in the morning, and the 2 and 1 trimming that Mike Cestone, of Montclair, N. J., former New York public links champion, pinned on 210-pound Gerry Bert Jr., of Seattle, another of the medalists, in the afternoon.

LESSER UPSET.

Less of an upset was the elimination of a third medal-winner, Jack Taulman, of Columbus, Ind. The man who beat Taulman by 2 and 1 was Lou Cyr, the Vancouver (Wash.) railroad worker who went to the final last year.

Armstrong was his customarily impressive self in winning his two matches. He knocked off Ade Fordham, of St. Paul, 5 and 4, and then won at 2 and 1 over Craton Barrett, of Dallas, only Texan in the tournament.

Left in the field tonight, with two more 18-hole rounds tomorrow due to reduce the field to four semi-finalists, were five easterners (Bradley, Steve Doctor, of Buffalo; Cestone, Andy Szwedko, of Pittsburgh, and Ed Furgol, of Utica, N. Y.); six from the far west (Cyr, Wes Berner, of Portland, Ore.; Molinari, Phil Gordon, of Oakland, Cal.; Roy Dolce, of Denver, and Willard McCay, of Long Beach, Cal.); one southerner, 16-year-old Carl Dezern, of Durham, N. C.; three midwesterners (Ken Peterson and John Krisko, of Dayton, Ohio, and Gwin), and one Hawaiian, Armstrong.

Red Shadow Faces Test In Main Go

Three Fast Matches Are Slated Tonight at Warren Field.

The "Lady in Red" created quite a sensation over the country, but the man in red has the spotlight these days at Warren field where light-heavyweight shows are being staged each Thursday night.

The Red Shadow, mysterious and powerful, will attempt to continue his long victory march in tonight's main event, drawing as his opponent Jimmy Goodrich, Akron, Ohio, toughie, who hopes to be the first to defeat and disclose the identity of the man behind the mask. The Shadow's identity will not be made known until he is beaten.

Charlie Keene, one of the better light-heavies, who hails from St. Louis, meets Sid Markus, Jewish boy from Boston, in the semi-final. Billy Sandow, strong man, opposes Jim Spanos, young Greek, in the opening event at 8:30.

If it rains, the show goes on at Warren arena.

DRIVER JENKINS BADLY BURNED

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, July 26.—(AP)—Mechanics who ripped open the enclosed cockpit of Ab Jenkins' racing car and dragged out the Utah speed driver, his clothing ablaze, averted a tragic finish today to Jenkins' latest assault on his own 24-hour automobile speed record.

Jenkins suffered burns the full length of his right arm and along the calf of his right leg, but the flames were smothered before they inflicted critical injury.

The accident occurred near the end of the fourth hour of Jenkins' contemplated 24-hour run. Troubled by a howling motor noise, Jenkins pulled into the pit for a check by Mechanics Bill Oliver and Marvin Jenkins, the latter Ab's 18-year-old son.

The crew failed to discover the cause of difficulty and Jenkins reentered the car.

As the driver started the twin motors of his 6,000-pound "Mormon Meteor 3rd," overheated gears locked, the car stalled, and fire broke out.

Jenkins' clothes had become soaked with gasoline from a leaky hand pump in the cockpit, and caught fire. The driver tried an emergency trap door but it would not work. Then Oliver and Marvin Jenkins tore the hood from the cockpit and dragged the elder Jenkins to safety.

Teddy Hayes Cards 29 at Candler Park

Teddy Hayes, professional at the Candler Park course, shot one of his best rounds Wednesday afternoon, carding a 29 for nine holes. Hayes played with Mrs. Mark Larned, the Druid Hills woman's champion, and Miss Helen Waldrop, playing one of her first complete rounds. Miss Waldrop only recently took up golf.

Hayes' card:

BITSY CONQUERS LEADING THREAT FROM OVERSEAS

Elwood Cooke Eliminated by Jack Kramer in Seabright Event.

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 26.—(AP)—The anticipated storm of upsets which passed over the Seabright singles tournament in the preliminary matches struck with gale force today in the third round and washed out a host of favorites, including Bobby Riggs, the nation's ranking tennis amateur.

Riggs and Elwood T. Cooke, diminutive Portland, Oregon, stylist who lost the Wimbledon championship to Riggs earlier this summer, were the chief casualties, but two other seeded single performers—Gardnar Mulloy, rated sixth in the men's draw, and Virginia Wolfenden, who was fourth in the women's seedings — fell by the wayside.

Riggs met his master in Frank Guernsey Jr., of Orlando, Fla., national intercollegiate champion from Rice Institute, losing 7-5, 6-4. The straight-set defeat ended Riggs' hopes of winning the 52-year-old tournament for a third straight year and retiring the silver Seabright bowl.

OUTLASTS RIGGS.

The 22-year-old Floridan who lost to Riggs last winter in Bermuda, outlasted the defending titleholder in a match featured by prolonged baseline rallies. Riggs slipping about on the grass and never able to rush the net because of the depth of Guernsey's flat drives, was on the defensive throughout. Guernsey piled up 5-2 leads in each set and threatened to send the match in the ninth game of the second only to have Riggs fight back.

Cooke, like Riggs, was bothered by the excessive heat in contrast with the cool of Wimbledon's courts. He never had a chance against his conqueror, 17-year-old Jack Kramer, of Montebello, Cal. The scores were 6-3, 6-4, with Kramer repeating a victory he scored over Cooke last year at Rye.

Cavalcade of Baseball Program Is Launched

Plans for the "cavalcade of baseball," to be presented before the Atlanta-Little Rock game the night of August 17, were begun yesterday at a luncheon at the Ansley.

Jack Brill, advance man for the John B. Rogers Producing Company, which will put on the show, was here and outlined the part local talent is to play in the "cavalcade," which is based on the history of baseball through 100 years.

Approximately 350 persons, in colorful costumes, will have parts. Besides these, there will be bands, drum and bugle corps, and other groups which will run the total number of participants to more than 500. So you can see it will be something Cecil B. deMille might have directed.

Many civic groups are co-operating with the Atlanta Baseball Corporation and the Rogers Company to make August 17 the biggest day, or rather night, in Atlanta's baseball history.

Fran Steele will direct the vast pageant spectacle and rehearsals and tryouts for local talent will start July 31 at the Ansley roof.

The show was staged at Louisville recently and drew more than 13,000 customers.

Poindexter's Wildness, Cracker Errors Give Pebs 5-3 Victory

TLANTA MAKES ERRORS; ROCKS ET ONLY 3 HITS

inx' Allows Six Passes; Stan Sperry Gets Four for Five.

TRAVELERS FIELD, LITTLE OCK, Ark., July 26.—Jennings inx" Poindexter, who has had inning ways for the Crackers nce joining them several weeks go, was unable to cope with his rmer teammates as the Travelers ored a weird 5-to-3 victory here night.

The eccentric southpaw allowed nly three hits, but four errors mbined with six bases on balls as enough for the Travelers to ven the four-game series.

Rufus Meadows, a former racker, held the Richardmen in and. He allowed nine scattered its but had enough stuff to get ut of several holes. Stan Sperry ot four hits in five tries.

A doubleheader tomorrow night nds the series. Robinson and ither Durham or Gabler probably ill pitch for the Crackers, opposd by Harris and Prendergast or Krausse for the Travelers.

ATLANTA SCORES.

The Crackers, with a little luck, cored two runs in the third. After Smith and Poindexter popped to Benning, Sperry bounced a hit to he box. The Cracker second sacker stole second but the theft was nnecessary, as Mailho walked. Marshall Mauldin singled to right, scoring Sperry, and when Tyack et the ball roll through his legs, Mailho also scored. Mauldin attempted to score and was out at he plate on a close decision, Tyack to Schalk to Breese.

Peters' error, Poindexter's generosity and a single by Babe Benning enabled the Travelers to score once in their half of the third. Breese was safe when Peters kicked his grounder. Meadows, attempting to sacrifice, forced him at second, Burge to Peters. Kats walked and Benning slashed a single past third, scoring Meadows and sending Kats to third. Bolyard walked, filling the bases, but Tyack fouled to Mauldin and Schalk forced Bolyard, Peters to Sperry.

The Crackers added another in the fourth. Duke walked, advanced to second on Burge's single off Snyder's glove after Peters flied to Bolyard. Rucker fouled to Benning but young Doc Smith singled into center, scoring Duke with Burge stopping at second. Schalk went into center to take Poindexter's short fly.

PEBS AHEAD.

Little Rock went ahead in the fifth by scoring three runs. Meadows reached first when Mauldin threw low to Burge after fielding his bunt. Kats walked but Benning flied to Mailho. Bolyard doubled to left, scoring Meadows and sending Kats to third. Tyack fouled to Mauldin but Schalk cracked a line drive double to left center scoring Kats and Bolyard. Snyder ended festivities by flying to Mailho in right.

The Travelers increased their margin to two runs by counting a single marker in the seventh without a hit. Kats drew his third base base on balls and stole second. Benning grounded out to Sperry with Kats moving to third. Bolyard fouled to Smith against the screen and a keen argument ensued. It appeared that Smith caught the ball against the screen but Umpire Hall didn't think so and there were two away.

Tyack walked, but matters were evened so far as the Travelers were concerned as Poindexter wild-pitched Kats home with Tyack taking second. Tyack went out attempting to steal, Poindexter to Mauldin for the third out.

Two-Club Tourney Sets Three Records

Trophies and Prizes Will Be Awarded To Winners Within Next Few Days.

By ROY WHITE.

Three new records were set when The Constitution's second annual two-club golf tournament came to a successful close Wednesday afternoon with the completion of every match.

The new records include team competition in the qualifying round, a new per cent of matches reaching the 18th green throughout the tournament, and a new mark for completed matches. The 180 entry list failed by several to equal last year's opener, but for actual play the tournament was one of the greatest ever held in Atlanta.

Max Smith won the championship Sunday afternoon with a 2-1 victory over Tarzan Bloodworth. Dr. Paul Flowers defeated Tom Stark, 2-1, to win the first flight championship. Other flight winners include Bill Pierce, Al Fischer, Dewald Hull, Lee Cole, Joe Towns, J. P. Osburn, Raymond Elliott and J. M. Driver.

One of the feature championship matches was played in the ninth flight when Raymond Elliott defeated Brownie Strong on the 20th green.

ON THE 20TH.

Trailing three down at the turn, Elliott started his comeback on the 11th hole with a par. Four successive pars followed and he was ahead for the first time in the match. Strong rallied and squared accounts, but could not hold the pace of the first round and was beaten on the 20th green.

Al Fischer defeated L. W. Brown on the 20th green to win the third flight championship in another feature match of the final round.

Eight of the 11 championship matches were extended to the 18th green and beyond, for a great climax to a greater tournament.

Trophies and prizes will be given away at The Constitution within the next few days. The exact date will be announced later, pending the arrival of some trophies.

PRECEDENT.

A new precedent will be set with the awarding of prizes to the losing semi-finalists. The semi-finalists were not included in the first list of prizes, but The Constitution's sport department, sponsoring the tournament, decided to give every player who won one match and who participated in the semi-finals a prize.

Others to get prizes are the medalist, each member of the four-man winning team in the qualifying round, and the winner and runner-up in each flight.

Charlie Edens, the James L. Key professional, has done a fine job running the tournament for The Constitution. He was given some fine support by other employes at the Key course.

NEW FISH BAIT.

AMERICUS, Ga., July 26.—Georgia anglers should be interested in the discovery of a new kind of fish bait, recently found here. The new lure is identified as an "arbutus worm," and may be found in the arbutus bush or tree at this season, in the cocoon stage. The cocoon when "shucked" reveals a beautiful hairy worm about one and one-half inches long and, according to local sons of Izaak Walton, fish "simply go wild about them."

Sunkel Gives Giants 2 Singles

DIZ DEAN WHIPS DODGERS 10 TO 2; BUCS TAKE PAIR

'Onkle' Tom Pitches Seven Hitless Innings, Fans Nine Men.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 26.—Silent Tom Sunkel, rookie lefthander of the Cardinals allowed the Giants two singles here today in a brilliant pitching performance which conquered the Terrymen, 10 to 0.

The ex-Atlanta star struck out nine men and walked only three. Tom Hafey's hit in the eighth was the first blow and Billy Jurges' single with two down in the ninth the last.

The Cardinals walloped Harry Gumbert and Hal Schumacher for an easy win.

PIRATES WIN PAIR.

PITTSBURGH, July 26.—(AP)—The Pirates took over second place in the National league today by beating the Phillies, 3-1 and 5-3, in a double-header. The Bucs had tied for second with St. Louis before today's game.

After getting five consecutive safe hits, Morrie Arnovich, leftfielder for the Phillies, was struck on the head today with a ball thrown by Catcher Ray Mueller, of the Pirates. Arnovich walked from the field unaided.

OL' DIZ BREEZES.

CHICAGO, July 26.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean, his cunning once more restored, pitched the Cubs to an easy 10-2 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers today.

Dean gave up only five hits, struck out four and didn't issue a single base on balls. In the first four innings only one Dodger, Art Parks, reached first, and he got there on Billy Herman's error.

'ONKLE' TOM BLANKS GIANTS ON TWO SINGLES

Tom Sunkel, brilliant ex-Cracker southpaw, yesterday blanked the Giants on two singles as the Cardinals won the game, 10 to 0. The rookie approached a no-hit game, but Tom Hafey's single in the eighth and Billy Jurges' one-timer in the ninth spoiled it. Sunkel walked only three and fanned nine.

Yanks Score Every Inning; Tie Record

Bill Dickey Clouts Three Home Runs in 14-1 Conquest of Browns.

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—The champion New York Yankees tied one modern major league mark and almost tied another as they swamped the hapless St. Louis Browns, 14-1, in the second game of their series here today.

The mark they tied was one held by five other clubs of scoring in every inning of a nine inning game. Of course, the Yankees only came to bat eight times, but some of the other clubs who are co-holders of that mark were up only eight times.

Bill Dickey, the Yanks' great catcher, slapped out three home runs—just one short of the nine-inning record of four set by his former roommate, Lou Gehrig.

Donald McNeill, of Oklahoma City, Okla., who won the French hard court title in the spring, eliminated Mulloy, 24-year-old Coral Gables, Fla., lawyer, by 7-5, 7-5.

Joining Guernsey, Kramer and McNeill in the quarter-final round were three seeded players, Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant, Frankie Parker and Wayne Sabin, along with Gilbert A. Hunt and former National Champion John Hope Doeg.

Besides Riggs, two other former Wimbledon champions bowed out, Sidney B. Wood Jr., losing to Hunt, 7-5, 7-5, and Australian Jack Crawford falling before Grant, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

BEATS SHIELDS.

Parker accounted for Francis X. Shields, former Davis Cup player, 6-2, 6-2, while Sabin eliminated Ladislav Hecht, erstwhile Czecho-Slovakian internationalist, 3-6, 6-1, 6-3. Doeg scored a 7-5, 6-4 victory over Martin Buxby, of Miami, Fla.

While Miss Wolfenden was being expunged 6-1, 2-6, 8-6, by Helen Bernhard, of New York, three other favorites moved into the semi-final bracket.

Second round doubles results included:

Frank D. Guernsey Jr. and Russell Bobbitt, Atlanta, Ga., defeated Sidney B. Wood Jr., Los Angeles, and Frank Shields, New York, 6-3, 6-2.

Ernest Sutter, New Orleans, and Gilbert Hunt, Washington, defeated J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., and Ladislav Hecht, New York, 6-3, 7-5.

WPA SEWING UNITS TO CONTINUE HERE

Fulton Appropriates $21,000 To Keep 1,575 Women on Jobs.

Continuance of WPA sewing room projects in Fulton county was assured yesterday when the county commission voted a $21,000 appropriation for these projects.

Approximately 1,575 women are employed in the sewing rooms, Commissioner J. A. Ragsdale, chairman of the public works committee, made the motion to set up the $21,000 to come from public works funds.

Delegations from East Point, College Park, Hapeville and Roswell appeared before the commission at its last meeting and informed the commissioners the sewing roms would be closed unless more money from the county was forthcoming. The county furnishes $3.50 per employe.

The commissioners also voted to pay up 13 Community Chest agencies for the first six months of this year. Amounts to these agencies total approximately $60,000 annually. They perform services that otherwise would have to be performed by the county.

Agencies affected by the commission's action and their six-month payments, are Community Home for Girls, $1,700; Atlanta Community Shop, $375; Home for Old Women, $4,000; Gate City Day Nursery Association, $750; Good Samaritan clinic, $1,687; Florence Crittenton Home, $1,250; Sheltering Arms, $3,250; Family Welfare Society, $7,000; Atlanta Tuberculosis Association, $3,750; A. S. Rhodes Home for Incurables, $3,250; the Churches Home for Girls, Inc., $2,000; Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children, $2,500, and Atlanta Chapter of American Red Cross, $2,250.

Commissioners discussed the question of whether public sentiment should be taken into consideration in granting or rejecting liquor applications, but no decision was reached. A license to the Capital City Country Club was granted.

Sugar and Coffee.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Domestic sugar futures declined 1 to 2 points today despite support in nearby positions by trade and operator accounts. Demand represented mostly covering of short positions and switching from near months forward. Sales totaled 9,950 tons.

The world contract held its ground in the face of operator and producer selling. Final prices were unchanged to 1 point lower on turnover of 3,650 tons; September 1.20, May 1.18½.

In the raw market 1,390 tons of Philippines for August 7 delivery sold at 2.90 cents. Refined withdrawals continued at a good clip, prices remaining at 4.30 to 4.40.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Holders of Santos coffee futures were willing to sell only at small advances today although demand was not especially active.

Santos closed 3 to 7 points up on sales of 29,250 bags; September 5.97, December 6.09, March 6.21, May 6.27, July 6.31. New Rio was inactive and 1 higher. Old Rio advanced 1 points on sales of 500 bags; September 422b, December 4.26b, March 4.27b. (b—Bid).

Spot coffee held steady and there were reports that unsettled Brazilian weather had provoked some covering: Santos 4s at 7¼; Rio 7s at 5½. Cost and freight offerings included Santos Bourbon 3s and 5s at 6.25 to 7.00.

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—The stock market rallied in the last half hour today, after a session of narrow fluctuations, and leaders finished with gains of fractions to around a point or more.

In the early dealings attempts to push higher were successful, but as the session wore on selling appeared in many places and prices drifted downward. The advance appeared to have been touched off by a burst of buying in the utilities which carried through all sections of the list.

Trading was at a slower pace than in some time and tranactions totaled only 891,810 shares compared with 1,229,650 Tuesday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .3 of a point at 50.1.

Steadiest throughout were rails, sought after the senate approved the conference report on the Chandler bill which would permit carriers to reorganize voluntarily. The power company shares, on the other hand, displayed firmness only at the end. This rising motion spread to the steels which up to that time had been hesitant performers.

In the curb Thew Shovel shot up 4 3-8 on substantial turnover. Smaller gains were posted by Electric Bond & Share, American Gas & Electric and Wright Hargreaves. Lockheed and Phoenix Securities shaded lower. Turnover of 135,000 shares compared with 172,000 Tuesday.

Cottonseed Oil

Cottonseed Oil Products

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Speculative buying on the possibility of government support for cottonseed oil pushed the futures market up as much as ¼ cent before a late reaction today. Closing prices were 12 to 15 points higher on sales of 273 lots. In view of the recent sharp declines, the market easily responded to demand. September closed 5.87b, October 5.92b, December 6.07, January 6.12b, March 6.20.

Crude oil advanced in line with futures with the best offer in the southeast and valley at 5 cents. Late bids were reported in Texas at 4½ cents.

CHICAGO, July 26.—(AP)—Wheat climbed 2 1-8 cent a bushel late today in the best advance since the market's downward turn two months ago. Other grains also scored gains of a cent or more after shaking off early lethargy. Corn gained as much as 1 3-4 cents.

Buying was stimulated by reports of deterioration in parts of the domestic and Canadian wheat belts, poor spring wheat threshing returns, damage in western parts of the domestic corn belt and improved flour sales. Light marketings of corn also helped the upturn.

Other North American wheat markets were sharply higher. Kansas City closed 2 to 2 3-8 higher and Minneapolis 2 cents up. Winnipeg, after scoring gains of more than a cent, lost part of the advance and closed 3-4 to 1 cent higher.

A downturn at Liverpool, where prices closed 1-4 to 1 cent off and where corn futures established new season lows had a brief influence here. Wheat momentarily declined below the previous close and December and May corn dipped to 39 1-4 and 42 cents, new six-year lows. September held firm, however, and support by local shorts soon lifted all corn contracts more than a cent.

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—Expansion of buying in the final hour moved the bond market out of the doldrums today and carried prices generally higher.

Until then only a steady rise in United States treasuries had featured the bond trade. Corporate issues had been uneven in lean dealings.

Even with the final burst of business, the day's transactions were light, totaling $5,836,550, face value, compared with yesterday's $7,352,200.

United States governments were strong throughout the day, closing as much as 9-32 point higher in one instance, although several others slipped, one as much as 4-32 point.

Foreign governments were mixed with Panama loans showing the most strength. The republic's 5 1-2s jumped 2 1-2 to 106 and the more active stamped 5s of '63 climbed 3-4 to 80 1-4 following yesterday's action of the United States senate in ratifying the new Panama treaty.

Dixie Group To Meet Wallace

Seek Advice Today on What Can Be Done To Aid Price of Cotton Seed, Other Vegetable Oils.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—After discussing all phases of the continued fall in the price of cottonseed and other vegetable and mineral oils today with trade experts from the Agricultural, State and Treasury Departments, a congressional delegation from the south will meet with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace tomorrow to be advised what he and congress can do, if anything, to help the situation.

Under the chairmanship of Representative Sam Hobbs, of Alabama, a committee from the cotton states, which included Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., and Representative Stephen Pace, of Georgia, reviewed every detail of the domestic vegetable and mineral oils situation with the departmental experts in an endeavour to halt a steadily declining market.

Cites Gravity of Situation.

"We left no stone unturned," Senator Russell and Representative Pace said, "to impress upon government experts the gravity of the situation, especially in regard to cottonseed oil. With cottonseed now selling for as low as $11 a ton, when it should be $60, we advised the departmental representatives that something had to be done, and done quickly."

Senator James F. Byrnes, of South Carolina, one of five southern senators represented at today's conference, said Secretary Wallace has shown a keen interest in the plight of cottonseed growers and is determined to do what he can to help.

"Mr. Wallace," Senator Byrnes declared, "is to let us know tomorrow what legislation congress can enact to steady the price of cottonseed and other oils. And if the secretary convinces us that something can be done, legislatively, I am sure we can do it before adjournment sine die."

Representative Pace suggested to Francis B. Sayre, assistant secretary of state in charge of reciprocal trade agreements between the United States and foreign nations, who was present at today's conference, that Germany was badly in need of all kinds of fats and lards and that he had been advised Hitler could use up to a quarter of a million tons of these products if satisfactory trade arrangements could be made between this government and the Nazi regime. Mr. Sayre promised to look into the matter, Pace reported after the meeting.

BAPTISTS ORDERED FROM BANNED CAMP

Commission Tells Delegates To Leave Closed Tourist Hostelry.

Removal of a group of Baptist World Alliance delegates from the Orange tourist camp on the Marietta highway was ordered yesterday by the Fulton county commission.

Dr. Charles R. Adams, chairman of the police committee, said the tourist camp had been closed a week ago by the commission and the county police ordered to allow no one to stay there.

The commissioners questioned Lieutenant W. A. Wells, who said he was informed the delegates were staying at the camp without charge.

Commissioner I. Gloer Hailey said there were plenty of accommodations downtown for the delegates and agreed with Dr. Adams that they should be removed. Frequent complaints concerning the operation of the camp were registered with the commissioners before it was closed, they said.

Lending Bill Is Denounced As Spending Plan by Byrd

House Group Pledges Fight Against Any Change in WPA Wages.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(AP)—The administration's $2,490,000,000 lending bill was buffetted from one end of the capitol to the other today with outspoken criticism and threats of delay that held possibilities of killing the measure or of postponing the congressional adjournment date.

In the senate, Senator Byrd, Democrat, Virginia, and a bipartisan coalition of New Deal critics jumped on the bill with both feet, asserting principally that while gotten up as a lending measure it was actually a "spending scheme" which would run the national debt to dangerous heights.

In the house a complication of a new sort arose. Taking cognizance of a plan in the senate to attach to the bill a rider ordering the payment of "prevailing wages" to WPA workers, four Democratic members of the banking committee devised strategy to beat such a move.

To Vote With G. O. P.

Their plan, one of them said, would be to vote with the Republicans and keep the bill tied up in the committee until the senate has acted. If the prevailing wage were attached, he added, the combined votes would keep the lending bill tied up in the committee indefinitely.

The member in question said four had "solemnly shaken hands on it," adding that if the senate "surrenders to the recent anarchy," meaning the recent WPA strikes over the prevailing wage question, "there will be no bill." He pointed out that the four Democrats, added to the 10 Republicans on the committee, would give a majority of the 25-member group.

The house committee completed hearings on the measure today and announced that it would go into executive session for consideration of changes in the bill tomorrow. Meanwhile, the house rules committee met to consider sending the administration's $800,000,000 housing bill to the house for action. It adjourned without deciding that question one way or the other.

ROOSEVELT SIGNS TVA PURCHASE BILL

Compromise Legislation Enables Authority To Buy Utility Properties.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt signed today a compromise bill authorizing the Tennessee Valley Authority to acquire Commonwealth and Southern Corporation properties in three southern states.

The legislation, sanctioning a new $61,500,000 bond issue, sets aside $46,000,000 of the bonds to cover TVA's share of a $78,600,000 contract for Tennessee Electric Power Company properties.

The original deadline for this deal, June 20, passed before congressional approval could be obtained for TVA's participation, but a new contract, calling for consummation August 15, was negotiated when the deadlock in congress was broken by the compromise.

Chattanooga, Nashville and other Tennessee municipalities and rural co-operatives are associated with TVA in the purchase.

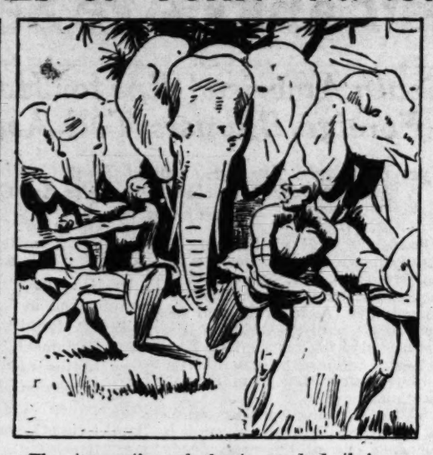
TARZAN AND THE FIRES OF TOHR No. 130

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Flinging Mungo to the ground, Black Malluk dashed forward in answer to Tarzan's call. Infected by his excitement, the other elephants tossed their riders and followed in the wake of their huge leader. Wild, terrified screams broke from the crowd, struggling to escape.



The trumpeting elephants crashed their way through the panic-stricken throng, tossing and thrusting aside all those who could not scramble from their path. Straight toward Tarzan and his friends the beasts charged. "They'll trample us to death," Kailuk predicted.

"Perhaps," Tarzan admitted. "When I called Black Malluk, I wanted him to free us from the stakes. I did not count on the others stampeding. It might be impossible to control them now." "If only we were free of the stakes, we could get away," O'Rourke sighed.

Then, Dr. Wong, who had stood his ground near the prisoners, whipped a long knife from his sleeve and sprang to O'Rourke's side. "Of all the dirty low-down tricks!" Perry exclaimed. "Killing a man when he's helpless!" With a grim smile, Dr. Wong lifted the weapon.

CONYERS WOMAN HURT IN CRASH

Miss Elizabeth Thompson in Hospital Here.

Miss Elizabeth Thompson, 38, of Conyers, Ga., was admitted to Crawford W. Long Memorial hospital last night suffering from back injuries received when the car she was driving skidded on wet pavement and overturned a few miles from Eatonton, Ga.

Her condition was described as painful, but not serious. Miss Thompson told hospital attaches another passenger in the car was unhurt. She was treated by an Eatonton physician and then brought to Atlanta.

Books of 25 Louisiana Banks Are Seized

Perjury, Intimidation of Witnesses, Jury Tampering Added to Matters Under Federal Secutiny.

NEW ORLEANS, July 26.—(AP) Perjury, intimidation of witnesses, jury tampering and possible infractions of the national banking act today were added to the mounting list of matters under federal scrutiny here as investigators revealed they had taken books and records of "much more" than 25 banks and corporations in the far-flung probe into possible "hot oil" and WPA law violations.

Collection of the records for federal grand jury study was announced by Federal District Attorney Rene A. Viosca when he met Assistant Attorney General O. John Rogge at Shushan airport on Rogge's return from Washington, where, Rogge said, he had received "assurances of all legal aid needed to make a sweeping federal investigation in Louisiana."

Reported to Murphy.

Rogge flew to Washington last Saturday to report directly to Attorney General Murphy. Asked tonight how far the government intended to go in its investigation, Rogge smiled and said:

"I hardly believe I could give you a better indication than the list of possible offenses than I have just given." The grand jury already has spent a month looking into charges of mail fraud, income tax violations, WPA diversions, salary deductions and other matters, and has returned seven indictments with indications of many more to come.

Rogge added perjury to matters to be investigated after holding a brief, whispered conference with Arnold Raum, another assistant attorney general, who also met Rogge at the airport. Baum entered the case here three weeks ago.

Rogge said perjury was a federal offense if committed before a federal grand jury or court.

Declines Comment.

"Of course we have heard rumors of jury tampering in past cases," Rogge stated. "But nothing has been called to my attention specifically." He added there had been no complaints of witness intimidation, but that this angle was being watched.

South America 'Ripe for Harvest,' Foreign Baptists Tell Assemblies

Eyes of World Turned Toward That Continent, Dr. Erhardt Swenson Declares; Reports Are Given on European Work.

Evangelism and mission work in South America were discussed by two groups of Baptists meeting in sectional assemblies yesterday afternoon. Rev. A. Mauricio and the Rev. S. Canclini spoke before the Latin gathering, and the Rev. Erhardt Swenson discussed the subject before the Scandinavian meeting.

"All eyes of the world are turned toward South America, and it is not only one of the most needy mission fields, but it is one of the most ripe for harvest," said Dr. Swenson.

According to Rev. Mauricio there are 5,000 Baptists in Brazil and they support the Baptist church in Portugal because of language associations. Brazil is one of the most prosperous Baptist foreign fields," he said.

Rev. Canclini discussed "A Baptist Protagonist of Freedom" and used as his personality, Paul Besson, a Christian, who died at the age of 84 in the city of Buenos Aires. He agreed with the short inscription on the South American's grave that he was an "Apostle of the Gospel of Liberty."

Several hundred people from Latin countries met at the Druid Hills church for a program on the progress of Baptist work in South America, France, Spain, Italy; while about 50 gathered at the Central Presbyterian church where a study of the religious advancement in South America, Norway, Sweden and China was made.

Scandinavian Meeting.

Speakers at the Scandinavian meeting other than Rev. Swenson were: Dr. Hj. Danielson, the Rev. E. H. Wang, and M. F. Jansson. At the Latin meeting, the speakers in addition to Rev. Mauricio and Rev. Canclini were the Rev. Henri Vincent, the Rev. Samuel Vila, and the Rev. Enrico Paschetto.

Dr. Hj. Danielson, mission superintendent in Sweden, spoke on "Swedish Baptist Loyalty to the New Testament." He gave the story of the development of the Baptist religion in Sweden since 1848, when the first Swedish Baptist church was founded. The first Baptism, according to Dr. Danielson, was in 1850.

There are now about 10,000 Baptists in Sweden and they exert a deep influence on the religious life in Sweden of today, he said.

Rev. Wang, of Norway, spoke on "The Baptist Outlook in Norway," where at present there are more than 7,000 Baptists. "Norway has a strong religious revival which has been going on during the later years and the Baptists have been influenced by this revival."

Outlook in Norway.

The religious outlook, in Norway, according to Rev. Wang, at the present is encouraging, and the Baptists there are prepared to take their share in the great religious activity which is just now taking place, an activity which to a great extent has changed even the state church.

The first speaker was Rev. Vincent, of France, who spoke on "French Baptists During the Past Century." The modern Baptist work in France, he said, began in 1832.

The Rev. Samuel Vila, of Spain, discussed the "Problems of the Evangelical Churches in Spain." The Baptists, according to the speaker, suffered during the war through the lack of male members of the churches.

Rev. Vila said the three problems that confront the Baptists of Spain today: are religious liberty, refugees, and extension of the work.

From Italy came a messenger who is the member of a family that has led the Baptists of Italy for three generations. The speaker, the youngest of the prominent family, was Rev. Paschetto, spoke on "Italian Baptists and Religious Thought."

Rev. Paschetto's family began the religious magazine, "Bilichiniss," which means faith and knowledge, the two lights. He said that Baptist religion began in Italy in the 19th century, but it was not until the 20th century that the American missionaries came in. Today, he said, the greatest Baptist movement in Italy is a cultural movement among the entire Protestant group in that country.

DEFER SHOWDOWN ON WAGE-HOUR LAW

Friends and Foes of Proposed Amendments Confer Today With Rules Group.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(AP)—A badly-split house rules committee decided after a tempestuous meeting today to defer any attempt to force house consideration of proposed changes in the wage-hour law until after an unusual conference of the act's friends and foes tomorrow.

Leaders of organized labor's two warring factions—John L. Lewis, CIO chieftain, and President William Green, of the AFL—have been invited to meet with the house labor committee and others in an eleventh-hour attempt to work out a compromise on two sets of amendments to the law.

Representative Cox, Democrat, Georgia, leader of a rules committee group supporting amendments by Representative Barden, Democrat, North Carolina, denounced the proposed conference as "just a stall" and at first attempted to force an immediate vote on the issue. He was induced to agree to the delay, however. The Barden amendments would exempt from the law certain workers engaged in processing agricultural commodities.

"We didn't want to make a tactical blunder," Cox explained, "but we have the votes to do what we want at any time."

MORTUARY

MRS. MILLIE E. BENTLEY.

Mrs. Millie E. Bentley, 79, of 1263 Euclid avenue, N. E., died yesterday morning at her home. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. W. E. Hayes; two sons, E. T. and R. H. Bentley; six grandchildren and several great-grandchildren. Funeral arrangements will be announced by A. S. Turner & Sons.

ALFRED TALIAFERRO CONWAY SR.

Alfred Taliaferro Conway Sr., 62, of 656 Elbert street, S. W., died yesterday afternoon at a private hospital. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. O. F. Reid; two sons, J. Hart and A. T. Conway Jr., and two sisters, Mrs. W. C. Mizell and Mrs. Harvey L. Price. Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

N. L. COLEMAN.

Funeral services for N. L. Coleman, 63, of 390 North Highland avenue, N. E., who died Sunday at his home, will be conducted at 10 o'clock this morning at Spring Hill by the Rev. Paul Turner. Burial will be in West View cemetery under direction of H. M. Patterson & Son.

FOREIGN BAPTISTS EXCHANGE VIEWS

Several Hundred Meet in One of Five Language Group Gatherings.

Slav-speaking Baptists exchanged notes with their English-speaking brethren yesterday at the Second-Ponce de Leon Baptist church. Several hundred messengers gathered for one of the five-language group meetings of the congress of the Baptist World Alliance.

Principal speaker was the Rev. I. V. Neprash, of Philadelphia, representing the All-Russia Baptist Union, on "Tragedies and Victories of Baptists in Russia." He pointed out that "difficulties in the religious life of the country are far greater today than ever before."

"Their sufferings are on the increase," he continued. "Our brethren there are not permitted to leave the country. Only those get out who risk their lives, and they are the only ones who dare to talk openly. None of our brethren were permitted to go to Berlin five years ago to attend the world congress of the Baptists and none were allowed to come here."

The Rev. L. Miksa, of Poland, addressed the gathering in his native tongue, with interpretations by the Rev. Anthony Soltys, a Pole, now preaching in Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Miksa declared: "America does not know what war is. We do, for we suffered. We are afraid of war, and we don't want it. If necessary, to defend ourselves, we will go.

Reduction in the size of the Baptist Union since the division of Czecho-Slovakia was pointed out by Dr. H. Prochazka, head of the Baptist seminary in Prague. Three divisions are now what was once one large group. "We must save independence," he declared. "All nations are in the same boat, and if we are to be saved we must form a union so that the storms of time can be overcome."

The Rev. Joseph Novotny, D. D. of East Orange, N. J., was general chairman. The Rev. A. W. Kurzawa, of Warsaw, Poland, led the assemblage in prayer, each speaking in his natige tongue. More than six tongues were represented. Mrs. M. L. Brittain, wife of the president of Georgia Tech, led the closing prayer.

MISS COLLINSWORTH DIES; RITES TODAY

Member of Well-Known Family To Be Buried in Grantville.

Miss Mattie Collinsworth, member of a well-known Georgia family and a resident here for 40 years, died yesterday morning at her home, 36 West Twenty-sixth street, N. E., after an illness of several months.

She was a native of Grantville, Ga., and was a charter member of the old Ponce de Leon Baptist church. After its merger into the Second Ponce de Leon Baptist church she was one of the most active workers in the new organization.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. V. Y. Dickey and Misses Jennie and Marie Collinsworth; two brothers, Horace S. and Henry T. Collinsworth, all of Atlanta, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11:30 o'clock this morning at Spring Hill by Dr. Ryland Knight and Dr. M. Ashby Jones. Burial will be at Grantville.

Pallbearers will be A. M. Lloyd, J. R. Vaughan, R. L. Ezell, H. S. Collinsworth Jr., George Clark and J. E. Kennedy.

DELEGATES-AT-LARGE ELECTED BY ALLIANCE

Delegates-at-large of the Baptist World Alliance, who were elected Tuesday, include:

Dr. Theodore F. Adams, of Virginia; Dr. T. G. Dunning, of London; Dr. Frank Leavell, of the Southern Baptist convention; Professor N. Jonodab, of India; Mrs. F. W. Armstrong, of Missouri; Frau Dr. Dienel, of Germany; Mrs. Ernest Brown, of London; Mrs. S. W. Layten, of the United States, and Mrs. John Nuveen.

WIFE ASKS COURT TO CALL OFF HER SPOUSE'S DIVORCE

An Atlanta woman who doesn' like the idea of being divorced b her husband asked for a restora tion of their marriage contract i a petition filed yesterday in Ful ton superior court.

Mrs. Emma E. Haygood, of 74 Myrtle street, N. E., alleged in he petition that her husband, Guy B Haygood, of 644 Highland avenue N. E., filed a petition for divorc on March 28, 1938, in Clayto county, but that, after he filed the proceedings, he said he was no going through with the divorce.

Later, the petition set out, Mr and Mrs. Haygood lived togethe in Atlanta until the final decree was granted. At that time she alleged her husband told her he was divorced and that she could seek shelter elsewhere.

The petition further alleged that the divorce was null and void because it was filed in Clayton county instead of Fulton and asked that "status of parties be fixed as if divorce was never granted."

S. A. ALBRIGHT, 76, DIES; RITES TODAY

Lifelong Resident of Atlanta Was Well Known in Musical Circles.

Sam A. Albright, 76, well-known Atlanta musician and a lifelong resident of this city, died Tuesday night at a private hospital after a brief illness.

He was at one time a member of the old fifth regiment band and had been connected with many other musical organizations both here and in other parts of the country. For two years he was with the Librettis band on the Pacific coast.

He was a life member of Atlanta Lodge No. 78, B. P. O. E., and the Atlanta Federation of Musicians.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Albert L. Dunn and Mrs. Robert E. Lee; two nieces, Mrs. Frank Day and Mrs. George Berry, and two nephews, Cornelius P. Lee and Walter L. Dunn.

Funeral services will be conducted at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Peachtree chapel by the Rev. James L. Duncan. Atlanta Lodge No. 78 will have charge of graveside rites in Oakland cemetery and burial will be under direction of Brandon-Bond-Condon.

THOUSANDS HAVE COMPARED

THEY COMPARED BRAKES—

and found the Ford hydraulic brakes the biggest ever used on a low-priced car. Greatest in total braking area. The only ones with 12-inch drums.

THEY COMPARED RIDES—

and found Ford levelest in starts and stops and on the turns and over rough going. Its passenger ridebase, on transverse springs, is much the longest ridebase at the price.

THEY COMPARED ENGINES—

and found the Ford V-8 fastest, most powerful, and the best all-round performer at the price. It's the only low-priced V-8 in the world.

THEY COMPARED COSTS—and found the 85 horsepower Ford V-8 gave more miles per gallon in this year's Gilmore-Yosemite run than any other leading low-priced car . . . and also gives more equipment at no extra cost.

THEY COMPARED CHASSIS—and found Ford the steadiest riding because it's the only car at the price with Torque-tube Drive and 4 radius rods for fully stabilized ride.

THEY COMPARED QUALITY and found Ford alone at this price using valve seats on all valves, 3/4-floating rear axle, semi-centrifugal clutch, and a lot of other things that spell fine car engineering!
